Gemini 5 Heads Toward Early Splashdown

FUELS FEUD — House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan warmed up his running battle with President Johnson with an attack on the President's warning that racial outbreaks such as in Los Angeles may be building in other cities, including Washington, D.C. Ford said it was "frantic" for the White House "to possibly tempt those who might generate rioting and plundering."

Sen. Dirksen Plans All-Out Fight On Union Shop Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., who has helped the administration pass some of its major bills, said Saturday he is going to the mat with President Johnson on the union shop issue.

Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, said in an interview that Republicans will put up "a spirited and sustained fight" to prevent passage of a measure repealing Taft-Hartley Act provisions permitting states to prohibit union shop contracts.

"This is not a labor issue, so far as I am concerned," Dirksen said.

"This is a pre-emptive issue. If the federal government pre-empt the power of the states to act in this field, the states will never regain their right to deal with union matters."

Dirksen gave the administration vital help in obtaining Senate passage of the Negro voting rights measure. He helped engineer a compromise last week under which the House passed a bill to end the quota system on immigration is likely to get Senate approval. He also has given strong support to Johnson's course in Viet Nam.

But of the House-passed union shop bill, Dirksen said: "I told him there is going to be a fight — a spirited and sustained fight — to prevent the passage of this bill."

LBJ Acts To Avert Steel Strike Sept. 1

PITTSBURGH (AP) — President Johnson ordered two high-level trouble shooters—Sen. Wayne Morse and Leroy Collins—to Pittsburgh Saturday to try to head off a nationwide steel strike set for midnight Tuesday.

Morse, the Oregon Democrat who has mediated several big labor disputes, and Collins, undersecretary of commerce, arrived in Pittsburgh shortly before 5 p.m. and hurriedly planned a meeting with both sides.

"We are here to offer our services and see if we can be of any help. You never know in mediation, you can only try," Morse told newsmen.

Morse and Collins joined William E. Simkin, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, who has been in Pittsburgh for 10 days trying in the second time in four days to avert a steel strike.

The top-level industry negotiators issued the following statement about the appointments.

"We are aware of the special mediator appointments just announced by the President and of course we will cooperate with them in their assignment."

Simkin said Friday night the situation was not promising. If no agreement is reached, 450,000 workers in basic steel can strike next Tuesday midnight, halting 80 percent of the nation's steel production.

This was the second time Johnson has taken a direct hand in the steel talks. He talked by phone with the top bargainers for the United Steelworkers Union and the industry Thursday and told them he expected their cooperation.

Johnson directed Morse and Collins to "isolate the issues between the parties and to see what steps can be taken to bring them together."

A White House statement repeated what Johnson said at a news conference Wednesday—that he considers it essential a settlement be reached and that wage and price stability be maintained in steel.

Johnson's closest advisers said in Washington that there ought to be a settlement based on a 3.2 percent increase with no accompanying price boosts.

The industry figured the package it offered Wednesday at 3 percent. The union, however, which spread it out over the 39-month period, said it amounted to only 2.3 percent, less than what the union won in an interim contract that averted a strike last May 1.

The 3.2 percent mentioned by White House advisers conforms with guidelines suggested last year, but was higher than the 3 percent intimated in a report last April by the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

THE HOME STRETCH — Newsmag above shows the homeward flight of Gemini-5 after a record eight days in orbit. Splashdown starts when four retro-rockets are fired between Hawaii and California during the 121st revolution. Re-entering earth's atmosphere at a searing 16,450 miles per hour, the astronauts aim to land at or near (X), southwest of Bermuda.

Ships, Aircraft, Men Form Big Safety Net To Catch Astronauts

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — A huge recovery force shifted its position Saturday to form a giant safety net 276 miles southwest of Bermuda to catch the returning Gemini 5 space twins.

Earlier, the group was near Grand Turk Island but tropical storm Betsy, picking up speed, forced it to steam 420 miles farther north where it will seek to recover astronauts L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr.

Flight director Christopher C. Kraft Jr. kept a wary eye on Betsy, but flight controller Eugene Krantz made the decision to shorten the mission from 121 to 120 orbits.

Weather Bureau forecasters predicted the storm would be about 400 miles southeast of Puerto Rico Sunday morning at splashdown time.

The 2,000 men aboard the Lake Champlain make up the bulk of the force. About 450 sailors are on the Weeks. Others are para-rescuers, airplane and helicopter pilots, and frogmen.

The decision of which area the landing would be made in was up to Tropical Storm Betsy. If equally weather kicked up waves over eight feet in the prime area, the landing was to be made in the secondary area after 120 orbits and during the start of the 121st revolution.

The flight controllers, acting on weather information that indicated Betsy would not act up and cause trouble, sent the No. 1 recovery vessel, the aircraft carrier Lake Champlain, and its escort destroyer Weeks, to the Grand Turk Island area.

The Dupont, a destroyer, was dispatched to the secondary recovery area.

Flight director Christopher C. Kraft kept a wary eye on Betsy. The storm was centered over the island of Martinique Saturday morning moving northwest.

Weather Bureau forecasters predicted the storm would be about 400 miles southeast of Puerto Rico Sunday morning at splashdown time.

Recovery director Bob Thompson did not expect the storm to be a factor.

The 2,000 men aboard the Lake Champlain make up the bulk of the force. About 450 sailors are on the Dupont. Others are para-rescuers, airplane and helicopter pilots, and frogmen.

Both astronauts, Lt. Col. L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Charles Conrad Jr., hoped to stay in the Gemini 5 capsule until it is lifted aboard ship.

Helicopters were poised to fly as soon as the astronauts fired the braking retro-rockets near Hawaii, and frogmen were prepared to attach a rubber collar to ensure the spacecraft would float until hoisted aboard the ship.

Thompson estimated the cost for maintaining the recovery force at about $1.5 million — the cost for actual time spent supporting the eight-day flight.

TO CONFER IN FRANCE ON MONETARY PROBLEMS — PARIS (AP) — U.S. Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler arrived Saturday night to confer with French officials on world monetary problems.

The victims were identified as: Mrs. Jacqueline Bogard, St. Louis County, Mo.; Glenn S. Taylor, Mayville, Mo.; William E. McCartney, 21, Amity, Mo.; and Rickie Brandt, 4, Wichita, Kan.

Bill Crain, Liberty, Mo., driver of the 1964 Dodge stock car, was among the injured.

Many of the spectators hospitalized were children.

The scene was one of near bedlam as spectators converged on the area seeking relatives. One trooper broke out in sobs. Some women were screaming upon recognizing their children.

EGYPTIAN SOLDIERS START WITHDRAWING — SANA YEMEN (AP) — An Egyptian military spokesman said Saturday Egyptian troops massed near the Saudi Arabian borders have started withdrawing to areas in central Yemen.

The move was made after President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic and King Faisal of Saudi Arabia signed an agreement last Tuesday to end the three-year-old civil war.

Cut Flight One Orbit Because Of Storm

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Rough weather in the Atlantic caused space officials Saturday to cut the flight of the Gemini 5 by one orbit. Splashdown was set for 7:55 a.m. (EST), 600 miles east of Jacksonville, Fla.

L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles (Pete) Conrad Jr. were expected to be in good health.

But their noses were stopped up from breathing oxygen steadily and both were weary enough that doctors assured them they were in good health for the critical, nerve-racking entry into the earth's atmosphere.

They will have traveled 3,388,200 miles, shattered all endurance records in circling the earth 120 times, and stayed in flight 7 days, 22 hours and 55 minutes.

At 5:28 p.m. (EST) they had completed 111 orbits.

Under the new schedule, the retro-rockets will be fired south of Hawaii at 7:26 a.m. (EST). Gemini 5 will pass over Puerto Penasco, Mexico; El Paso, Texas; Dallas, Texas; Jackson, Miss.; Columbia, Ga.; and out over Savannah, Ga., and into the Atlantic.

The prime recovery ship, the carrier USS Lake Champlain, was ordered late Saturday to switch directions.

Flight Director Christopher C. Kraft told a news conference that two problems in the fuel cells — first with oxygen and later with too much water — were the most bothersome problems of the flight.

Asked if this has been a really "cranky" mission, Kraft said: "It's the first time we've tried to do one of this length, so I don't know whether it's cranky or not cranky. Maybe the next time we fly one of this length we'll find out. I think we're happy with its performance."

Gordon Dunn, chief forecaster at the U.S. Hurricane Center in Miami, Fla., said of the storm Betsy: "It was just too much of a chance to take."

Cooper didn't get much sleep Friday night, and Conrad's nose in particular was plugged up. Flight surgeon Charles A. Berry told the astronauts consideration should be given to taking a drug for the nose and a decongestant for the throat.

Saturday the astronauts practiced sighting early objects at White Sands, N.M., and at Laredo, Tex. At Laredo a sort of giant eye chart has been laid out on the ground, and Conrad said he could make out some of the markings.

Possibly the biggest news aboard the Gemini 5 Saturday was that the tumbling had ended.

Because of power troubles, the ship has been floating free in space. Normally the craft would remain relatively stable in this condition, but the venting of hydrogen gas started the ship revolving, or tumbling, as space officials describe it.

This could build up to a troublesome area — at one point Cooper reported the Gemini 5 was revolving every 30 seconds. But the hydrogen stopped venting early Saturday and now the ship is stable.

CHANDLERVILLE — Voters in Panther Creek Township will go to the polls Monday to decide whether a tax to improve roads should be enacted.

Specimen ballots have been displayed in the township and several meetings of citizens interested in the proposal have been held.

New York's subway was opened to the public on Oct. 27, 1904.

ANNA MAE DAVIS, RICHARD GARNER WED AUGUST 21

CHANDLERVILLE — Anna Mae Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Davis of Timewell and Richard Garner, son of Mrs. Letha Garner of Chandlerville and the late Lloyd Garner, were married at 7 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 21.

The wedding ceremony took place at the Mt. Sterling Baptist church.

The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Ruppel of Petersburg, brother-in-law and sister of the groom.

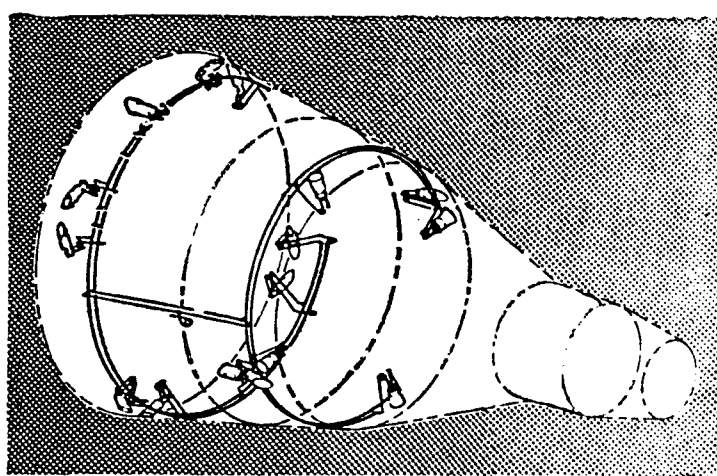

The bride wore a white street-length dress with matching accessories highlighted by a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Ruppel was attired in a beige suit with matching accessories. Her corsage was made of white carnations.

Mrs. Letha Garner, the groom's mother and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Garner of Jerseyville were among area residents present for the ceremony.

The bride attended Timewell schools. The groom attended Chandlerville High School and is employed by the Central Illinois Public Service company at Beardstown.

NICHOLS PARK LADIES DAY GOLF NEWS

The streets have been painted orange reading "School Crossing," and the signs are up on the poles warning us that school is opening, and so we well know as Nichols Park Ladies Day will lose a few of their players as they must get out of their bermudas and put on dresses. But now that I think of it a couple of them are P.E. teachers, and so they will stay in bermudas, but the golf clubs will have to be put up for a while. We will think of you while we are out there playing. That's mean, isn't it? We will miss you on Tuesday mornings, really.

The play last Tuesday was "Blind Partners." While we were out playing Bill Lynn picked partners, and took the best scores of the two and made a total score, subtracted handicaps, and here are the results: 1st—Mickey Goodrich and Rigi Fay.

1st—Lucille Eberhardt and Suzie Tucker.

2nd—Evelyn Cruzan and Ellen Gross.

2nd—Sara Warner and Betty Brown.

3rd—Marge Howard and Ruth Jean Cisne.

3rd—Fran Chumley and Gracia Coultas.

There were two chip-ins—Ellen Gross on #7 and Suzie Tucker, on #3. I had a chip in once, but not on Ladies Day. That's the way my luck runs.

We will have officially three more ladies days. The dinner is planned for Sept. 20th, and that will climax the golf year as far as ladies day is concerned, but golf will go on whenever it doesn't rain or snow. The dinner was originally planned for the Blackhawk, but it will be at the Holiday Inn. If you haven't signed up in the prospectus do so as soon as possible. We sure hope you can all attend. But in the meantime, come on out and play a round, and

I'll see you there, Fran Chumley

WHAT'S ELECTROLYSIS?

There are few things more embarrassing to a woman than a patch of unwanted hair on her face. A superfluous growth of hair on her upper lip or on her cheek usually causes extreme self-consciousness and unhappiness.

The hair can be removed several ways. It can be shaved off, erased by a depilatory, abrasive or waxing, or removed by tweezing. However, all of these methods are temporary and must be repeated frequently to keep the hair under control. There is only one permanent way of doing the job and that's by electrolysis.

In electrolysis the papilla, which is source of the hair's life, is destroyed thus killing hair's growth.

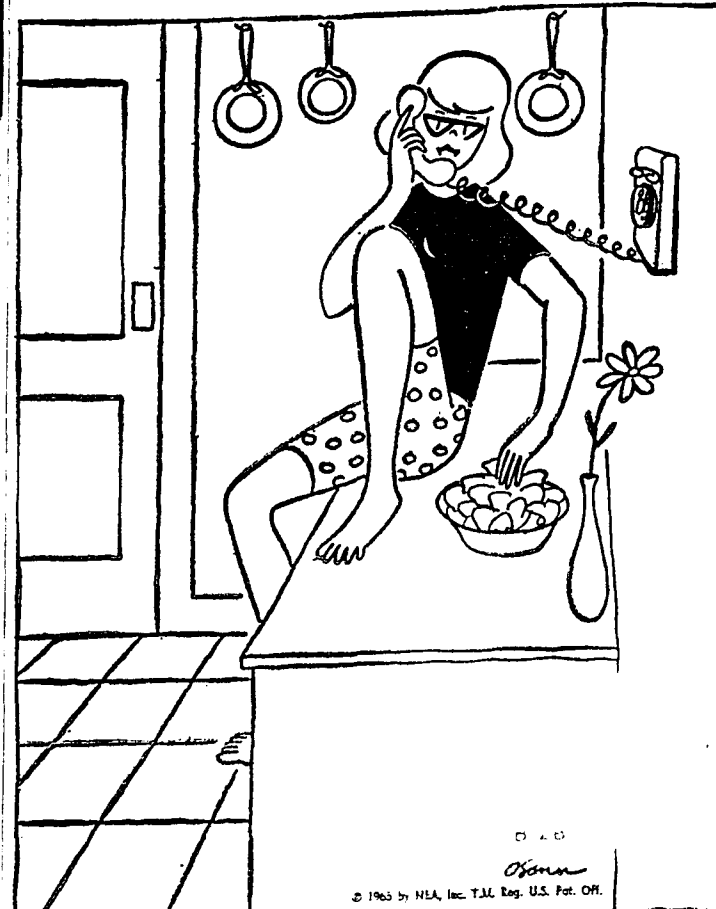

The latest method of electrolysis that has been perfected is called thermolysis, it operates via a short wave machine, the principle of which is to coagulate the hair papilla by high frequency current.

WHAT'S ELECTROLYSIS?

There are few things more embarrassing to a woman than a patch of unwanted hair on her face. A superfluous growth of hair on her upper lip or on her cheek usually causes extreme self-consciousness and unhappiness.

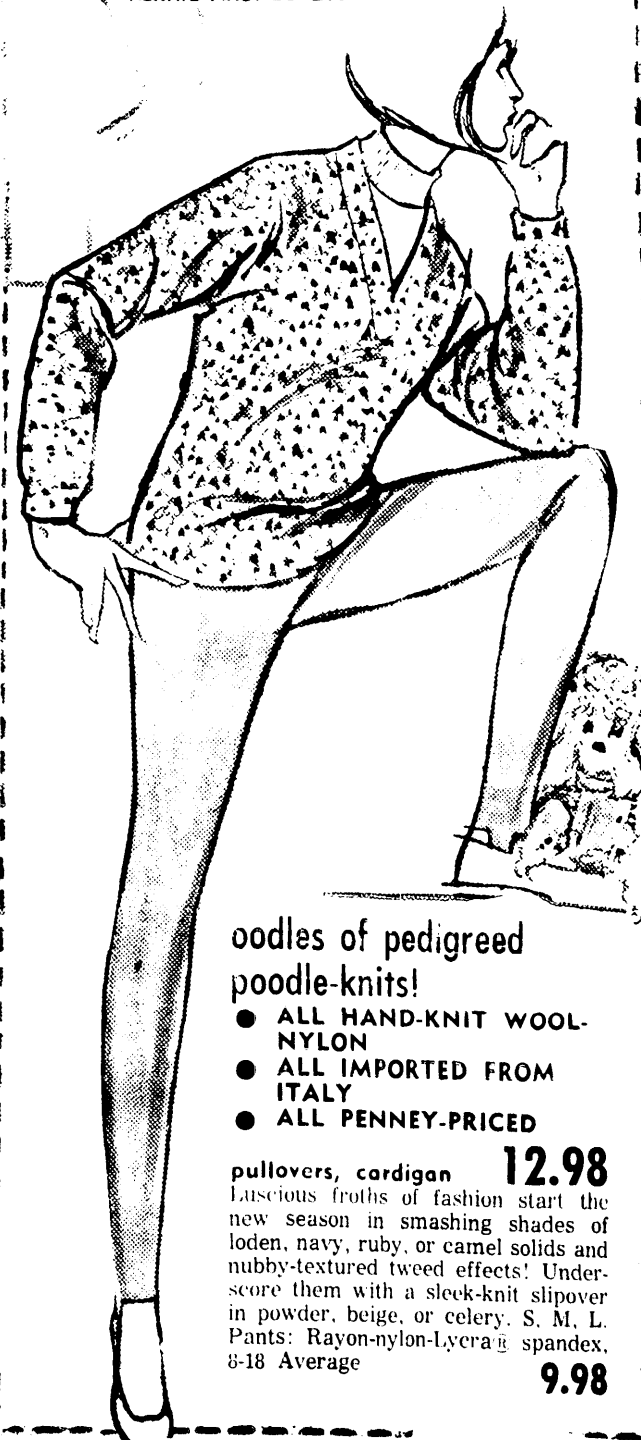

The hair can be removed several ways. It can be shaved off, erased by a depilatory, abrasive or waxing, or removed by tweezing. However, all of these methods are temporary and must be repeated frequently to keep the hair under control. There is only one permanent way of doing the job and that's by electrolysis.

In electrolysis the papilla, which is source of the hair's life, is destroyed thus killing hair's growth.

The latest method of electrolysis that has been perfected is called thermolysis. It operates via a short wave machine, the principle of which is to coagulate the hair papilla by high frequency current.

The new Ford Bronco will be in Ford dealer showrooms in September.

Unit 27 Board Prepares For New School Year

ARENZVILLE — The Board of Education of School District Unit 27 met in regular session August 18, and in adjourned session August 25, at the school board office, Concord. Two members, Robert Goodpasture and Eugene Nienhiser, were absent from the regular meeting, and Mr. Goodpasture was absent from the adjourned meeting.

Superintendent Leland Schnake was present at both meetings, and the unit secretary, Mrs. Bischoff, was present at the adjourned session.

The low bid of the Jacksonville Ice and Cold Storage Co. to supply coal to the schools in Unit 27 for the 1965-66 school year was accepted. The board also accepted the low bid of the Country Mutual Insurance Co. to provide fleet insurance on school buses.

The board voted to employ Mrs. Ruth Owens to transport a student to special education classes in Jacksonville during the 1965-66 school year, and approved a second student for the special education classes.

615 Reid Street
Jacksonville, Illinois

August 29, 1965

Dear Parents:

The spirit of play and the imaginative world of little children are happily and vividly expressed through music. Music, rhythm and imagination are blended as a potent means of promoting social relationship. Music plays an important part in their lives, music creates moods, develops mental responses, and improves physical coordination. Our aim is not projection of dramatic action but interest and participation, fun and relaxation.

Over the years of work with children in the fields of music and dancing, we have come to the firm realization that the greatest development of a child's inner feelings and impulses can be brought about by music and body rhythm experiences.

We are starting a musical kindergarten which will be held one morning each week. This will be a two hour class for pre-school children ages 3, 4 and 5 years of age.

There will be no dancing involved in this kindergarten. We shall teach songs, stories, coloring, rhythm.

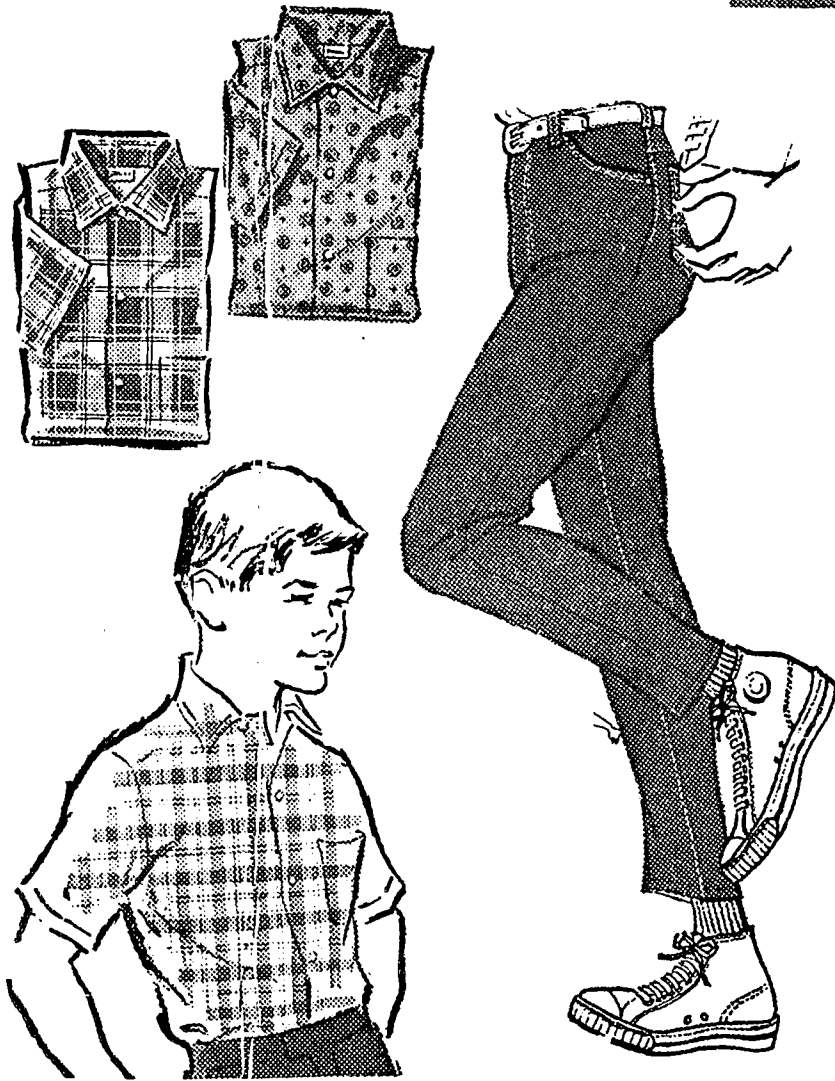

Class will commence September 7, 1965, and the charge will be $2.00 a week. Free transportation in Jacksonville.

For registration of your pre-schooler in his class, please call Mary Jane or Charles Grant at 245-5410.

Sincerely,
Mary Jane Grant

South Jacksonville Board Favors Aid To Park Pool

Resolution Adopted By Trustees

South Jacksonville's village board has gone on record expressing an interest to aid Jacksonville with their problem concerning the Nichols Park swimming pool.

At a recent meeting of the board of trustees, a motion was unanimously adopted to cooperate with the City of Jacksonville in any way legally possible to help solve problems at the pool.

"The foregoing resolution was the result of a lengthy discussion of the swimming pool problems and the obligations of the village in regard to the same," a spokesman for the group related.

It was pointed out during the discussion that the village had always tried to cooperate with the neighbor to the north in regard to park facilities.

Trustee Harry Roastall stated that residents of the village had donated many hours of skilled labor in regard to construction and maintenance of the hall park.

Man hours and labor were also utilized at the picnic ground facilities. Roastall said he hoped such cooperation would continue in the future.

Board president William Fanning called attention to the fact that the entire water system for Nichols Park connected with the village's water mains.

He also said they were constructed by the village and are now being maintained and are owned by the village. Fanning also stated that the village has never made any charge in regard to the use of its mains.

Trustee Cecil Ford, chairman of the water committee, reported that the new and larger water main being constructed on South Clay avenue, between Greenwood and Vandalia, was nearing completion.

New Water Main
This new main was built at the expense of the village and property owners along the main. It is designed to replace an old main along the same street, which was in poor condition.

It is also slated to satisfy the request of the Hertzberg-New Method Book Bindery and the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce to try and eliminate certain water problems at the bindery.

Ford and the other trustees expressed the opinion that the bindery's problems were internal and would not be helped by the installation of the main.

However, the village decided to install the main anyway, owing to the fact it would be beneficial to the adjoining properties.

Beastall proposed an ordinance to prohibit planting trees and shrubs on the village property, especially boulevards.

The ordinance, which passed unanimously, is designed to curb the expense of removing trees and bushes when the dirt or interfere with sewer, water or utilities.

BARBARA BRAZLE, 16, KILLED IN COLLISION
SHOBONIER, Ill. (AP) — Barbara Brazle, 16, Vandalia, Ill., was killed Saturday in a car-tractor collision on a rural road five miles east of this Fayette County town.

She was being driven to a funeral by a friend, Herbert Hinrichs, 20, Shobonier, whose car and a tractor driven by Walter Summann, 59, Shobonier, collided.

Hinrichs was in serious condition in the Fayette County Hospital at Vandalia. The tractor driver was not injured.

Resolution Adopted By Trustees

South Jacksonville's village board has gone on record expressing an interest to aid Jacksonville in their problem concerning the Nichols Park swimming pool. At a recent meeting of the board of trustees, a motion was unanimously adopted to cooperate with the City of Jacksonville in any way legally possible to help solve problems at the pool. "The foregoing resolution was the result of a lengthy discussion of the swimming pool problems and the obligations of the village in regard to the same," a spokesman for the group related. It was pointed out during the discussion that the village had always tried to cooperate with the neighbor to the north in regard to park facilities. Trustee Harry Beasall stated that residents of the village had donated many hours of skilled labor in regard to construction and maintenance of the ball park.

Man hours and labor were also utilized at the picnic ground facilities. Beasall said he hoped such cooperation would continue in the future. Board president William Fanning called attention to the fact that the entire water system for Nichols Park connected with the village's water mains. He also said they were constructed by the village, and are now being maintained, and are owned by the village. Fanning also stated that the village has never made any charge in regard to the use of its mains. Trustee Cecil Ford, chairman of the water committee, reported that the new and larger water main being constructed on South Clay avenue, between Greenwood and Vandalia, was nearing completion.

New Water Main
This new main was built at the expense of the village and property owners along the main. It is designed to replace an old main along the same street, which was in poor condition.

It is also slated to satisfy the request of the Hertzberg-New Method Book Bindery and the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce to try and eliminate certain water problems at the bindery. Ford and the other trustees expressed the opinion that the bindery's problems were internal and would not be helped by the installation of the main.

However, the village decided to install the main anyway, owing to the fact it would be beneficial to the adjoining properties. Beasall proposed an ordinance to prohibit planting trees and shrubs on the village property, especially boulevards. The ordinance, which passed unanimously, is designed to curb the expense of removing trees and bushes when the die or interfere with sewer, water or utilities.

BARBARA BRAZLE, 16, KILLED IN COLLISION
SHOBONIER, Ill. (AP)—Barbara Brazle, 16, Vandalia, Ill., was killed Saturday in a car-tractor collision on a rural road five miles east of this Fayette County town.

She was being driven to a funeral by a friend, Herbert Hinrichs, 20, Shobonier, whose car and a tractor driven by Walter Summann, 59, Shobonier, collided.

Hinrichs was in serious condition in the Fayette County Hospital at Vandalia. The tractor driver was not injured.

Lightning, Rain, Wind Take Toll In Jersey

JERSEYVILLE — The year's heaviest procession of thunder showers passed through the Jersey county area from 1:30 a.m. to 7:30 a.m. Thursday leaving in its wake burned buildings and damage to farm crops. Rainfall varied from two and a half inches in some localities to one and a half inches in the immediate Jerseyville area.

Lightning struck and burned a large utility building at the Homer Adams farm (formerly Homestead Farm) two miles north of Jerseyville on Route 267. The Jerseyville Fire Department was called, but the building with 1000 bales of hay and a lot of equipment was about 75 per cent consumed by the time the department arrived.

The Alton Police Department's Youth Camp in the Belletrees locality near Lock Haven Country Club was struck by lightning and burned. The building was a former school house that stood in the area and served as a school before the forming of the Community Unit Number 100 of Jersey and Greene counties.

Heavy winds accompanied the first storm to hit the locality about 1:30 a.m., and the shower sweeping over the locality at around 4 a.m. was also accompanied by strong twisting winds. Hail also fell over the area during several of the showers, and the bombardment of the thunder at times was almost without intermission.

Crops Suffer
Farmers from a number of localities reported some damage to the heavy corn which was twisted and in some cases nearly flattened by the wind. Soybean fields on many farms were blown flat and in some instances broken off.

The harvest of soybeans of the earliest varieties had just started in the county, and the heavy rain halted such activities. The first soybeans of the new crop were reported to have been delivered by Carl Steinacher to Jersey County Grain Company Friday afternoon. The variety harvested is Harosoy, and the first tests were 13.5 per cent moisture.

Mrs. Woolfolk Dies Saturday, Rites Tuesday
Mrs. Juanita Woolfolk, 74 years old, of 1506 South East street died at 4:15 p.m. Saturday, August 28, at Holy Cross hospital where she had been a patient for four months.

She was born Jan. 7, 1891, daughter of John and Nellie Shumway McCurley. She was married February 19, 1913, to Bert Woolfolk who preceded her in death in January, 1954.

Surviving are one daughter, Helen Woolfolk at home, one sister, Mrs. Guy Nifong of Modesto and one brother, Ralph McCurley of Springfield. Mr. and Mrs. Woolfolk lived in the Scottville vicinity for 42 years. The deceased was a member of the Central Christian church.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Neece Funeral home in Waverly with Rev. William Sturgess officiating. Burial will be in Panthercreek cemetery in Scottville.

Friends may call at the funeral home 7 to 9 p.m. Monday.

JUANITA DEVORE OF LOAMI BRIDE OF WAVERLY MAN

NEW BERLIN — Double ring vows were exchanged by Miss Juanita E. Devore and John E.
Watret Aug. 21 at the Christian church in Loami. Ronald Heine, minister of the Deland Christian church, and brother-in-law of the bride, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of
Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Devore of Loami. The groom is the son of
Mr. and Mrs. William Watret
Sr. of Waverly.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length princess gown of imported Chantilly-lace over taffeta.

Her finger-tipped veil was attached to a Juliet cap of lace.
She carried a crescent of white daisies, blue stephanotis and white roses.

Mrs. Ronald Heine served her sister as matron of honor. She wore a floor length gown of ice blue taffeta and carried a cascade of pink daisies.

The best man was William Watret Jr., of Franklin, brother of the groom.

Mrs. Kenneth Devore, sister-in-law of the bride, Springfield, was soloist accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Dale Yaeger, Auburn.

Ushers were the bride's brother and her uncle, Kenneth Devore of Springfield, and Charles Winkler of New Berlin.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlor with Mrs. Burgher Miller,
Mrs. Lewis Bale, Loami; Mrs.
Harold Hester, Meredosia; and Mrs. Dale Yaeger, Auburn, presiding at the serving table.

The young couple will make their home in Waverly, where Mr. Watret is employed by Jennings Motor Sales. Mrs.
Watret is employed as secretary to Kenneth Keil of the Penn Mutual Insurance Company in

VIRGINIA CHURCH PLANS BAZAAR

VIRGINIA — The annual bazaar, sponsored by the Virginia Presbyterian church, will be held Oct. 5. Department chairmen have been appointed and all church members are assisting.

Chairmen are: candy, Hazel
Harris and Clara Carlson; country market, Loretta Ray and Della Carl; aprons, Mary Hare and Mary Wright; children's corner, Margaret Shultz and Carmen Watkins; decorations and notions, Mary Meyer and Mary Sudbrink.

Household linens, Bernice Wilson and Mamie Hageman; silent auction, Ethel Bailey and Jean Yapple; potted plants, Lenora Petefish and Anna Farmer.
The potted plant division is new this year, and anyone with house plants is asked to start a few pots for the bazaar.

Members of the bazaar committee are Betty Petefish, Ruth Rogers, and Leota Cox.

WCS To Meet
Members of the WCS of the Virginia Methodist church are invited to attend a meeting at the Arenzville church Sept. 9.
Mrs. Howard Collins and Mrs.
Frank Brune will handle transportation. Members of the Griggville church will also be guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry E. Harrison and family of Beloit, Wisconsin, are spending several days with Mr. Harrison's mother, Mrs. Dorothy Harrison, and other relatives.

SOVIET SPY FILM FLOPS

MOSCOW (AP) — The Russians tried to make a James Bond-type spy film but without girls and it proved a flop. So they tried another with lots of girls, and it flopped too, in the opinion of the Soviet paper Trud. Its critic said Soviet intelligence agents appeared too brilliant, Americans and Germans too stupid — and there may even have been too many girls.

Have New House — Mr. and Mrs. Charles McGuire moved recently into a new home, recently constructed. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Pate and family will move into the home previously occupied by the McGuires.

Wind Damage In Carrollton To Property, Trees

CARROLLTON — A very high wind followed by a small rain struck Carrollton about 8:30 Friday morning causing some residential damage and a great deal of damage to the trees in the southwest part of the city.

The home of Mrs. F. O. Whiteman in the south part of town received perhaps the most damage as a part of the roof was torn from the dwelling.

A tree at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hurt fell on their car and also damaged the electric wires going into the house. Also of special interest to Mrs. Hurt was the fact that a line full of freshly washed clothes sailed away across the fields and had not all been found during the morning.

A tree was down across route 108 in the west part of town at the home of Mrs. F. P. Nims. One of the young trees in the Court House lawn was split. Numerous other trees and limbs were down in other parts of the city.

ROODHOUSE CHURCH TO HOST CLINIC

ROODHOUSE — Emmanuel Baptist church at Roodhouse will host the learning clinic Aug. 30 to Sept. 2. The services will begin each night at 7:30.

The classes and teachers are listed for the week: nursery leadership, Mrs. Bruce McNeely, Carbondale, state nursery leader; nursery children, Mrs. Lillian Griffith, White Hall, Calvary church leader; beginner leadership, Mrs. Lloyd Ford, Carbondale, state beginner leader.

Beginner children, Mrs. Amy Burris, White Hall, Calvary beginner leader; primary leader, Mrs. J. C. Greer, Sparta, state primary leader; primary children, Mrs. Ruth Angle, White Hall, Calvary primary leader; junior leadership, Mrs. Jack Harp, White Hall, state junior leader; junior boys and girls, Mrs. V. H. Bentley Sr., White Hall, Calvary junior Sunday school superintendent.

Intermediate leadership, Mrs. William Wald, White Hall, state intermediate leader; intermediate, young people and adults, Mrs. Helen Galloway, associate in state training union department, Carbondale; pastors, training union directors, and all other general officers, led by Bluford Sloan, state training union secretary of the Illinois Baptist State Association, Carbondale.

All members of churches in Sandy Creek association are urged to take advantage of this clinic and attend each session. Pastor of the local church is Rev. Ronald Shrum.

INTERNATIONAL MAY INCREASE SHOE PRICES — ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — International Shoe Co. may increase by $1 the prices of its spring line shoe, it was announced Friday by President Maurice R. Chambers. International manufactures low and medium price shoes selling from $7 a pair up.

Winchester High Grads of '25 held the first reunion for the class on Aug. 8th at the Ranch House in Winchester. Twelve out of a class of 23 attended and the total attendance numbered 22.

Cancer Society Sets Record

At the annual meeting of the Morgan County Unit of the American Cancer Society held August 19 at Passavant Memorial Hospital, Paul Utterback, 1965 Crusade Chairman, reported a record-breaking achievement of over $8150 for the year's total.

Pictured is Mrs. Robert Manlove, unit chairman, presenting Mr. Utterback with a certificate of achievement awarded by the State Crusade Chairman, William T. Dwyer, vice-president of the First National Bank of Chicago.

Other reports presented to the Board at the annual meeting included: those of the Memorials chairman, Mrs. P. J. Davidsmeyer; public education chairman, Mrs. Carroll Wilson; service chairman, Dr. Vincent T. J. Lenth; publicity chairman, Dean Welch; research chairman, Mrs. H. C. Merriman; finance and budget and the treasurer's report, read by the chairman in the absence of the treasurer, G. William Schildman.

Special reports were presented by Mrs. Manlove on the Standards for certification of the local organization; and by Thomas C. Rose, chairman of the by-laws committee.

Mrs. Herschel Hickey, chairman of the nominating committee, presented a slate of board members and officers of the Unit, who were elected unanimously to their posts, as follows:

Board members elected to a two-year term: Mrs. Manlove, Mrs. Davidsmeyer, Mrs. Merriman, Mr. Utterback, the Rev. James S. McClymont, Mrs. Courtney Ford, Courtney Ford, David Glossop, Mrs. Lee Sullivan Jr., Mrs. Kenneth Mangan, Mrs. Joseph Lange, Gerry Cassens, Fred Gray, John Gillespie, Robert Hamm, Dr. Ronald Gano, and Dr. Robert Kooker, all of Jacksonville; and Mrs. Paul Sauer and Mrs. Allan Henderson of Litchberry. Mrs. Ben W. Negus, Alexander; Mrs. Billie Oxley, Franklin; and Mrs. Ronald Becker, Woodson.

Officers of the Morgan County Unit elected for one year are: chairman, Mrs. Manlove; president, Dr. Paul Norris; secretary, Miss Teresa Meyer; treasurer, Mr. Utterback; public education chairman, Mrs. Mangan; professional education chairman, Dr. Norris; publicity chairman, Jack Barwick; research chairman, Mrs. Merriman; memorials chairman, Mrs. Davidsmeyer; service chairman, Dr. Lenth; radio chairman, Mr. Cassens; crusade chairman and delegate to the Illinois Division meetings, Mr. Utterback.

The Board also voted to nominate Dr. Ward R. Dunseth for re-election to the Illinois Board of Directors from District IV of the state organization.

GRIGGSVILLE ARMY MAN PROMOTED

FORT HOOD, Tex. (AHTNC) — Roger L. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd E. Smith, Griggsville route 2, was promoted to specialist four at Fort Hood, Tex., where he is assigned to the 720th Military Police Battalion.

Specialist Smith is a clerk in the battalion's Headquarters Detachment. He entered the Army in March 1964 and completed basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

The 22-year-old soldier was graduated from Perry High school in 1960. His wife, Vivian, lives in Killeen, Tex.

VANITY SEEN BOON TO MIDDLE-AGED

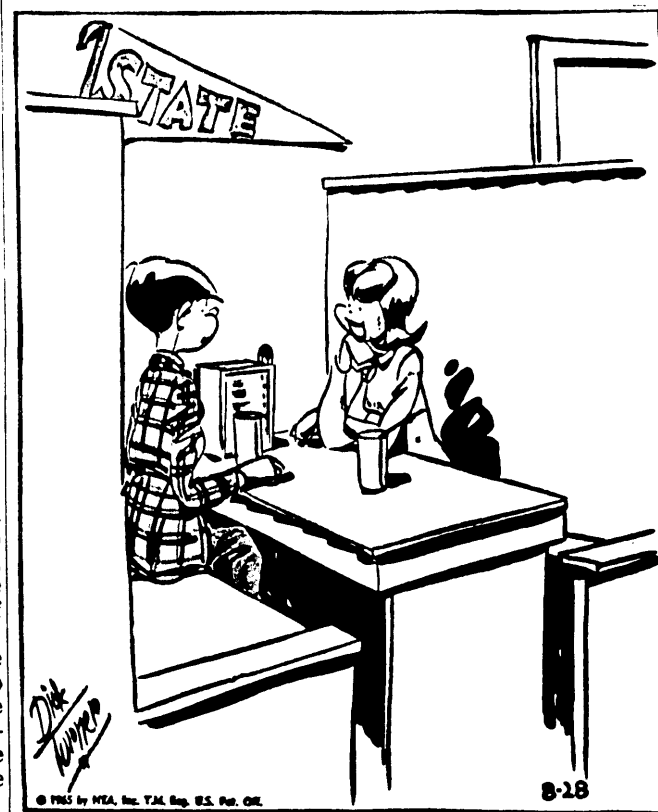

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A touch of vanity in middle age may be good for your health, says Dr. Jose C. Montero of the Stanford University School of Medicine.

Montero said that the desire and efforts of many persons to preserve a youthful appearance helps ward off such degenerative diseases as heart trouble, diabetes and hardening of the arteries.

Mexico City is the third largest city in North America.

NEW BERLIN — Double ring vows were exchanged by Miss Juanita E. Devore and John E. Watret Aug. 21 at the Christian church in Loami. Ronald Heine, minister of the Deland Christian church and brother-in-law of the bride, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Devore of Loami. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Watret Sr. of Waverly.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length princess gown of imported Chantilly-lace over taffeta.

Her finger-tipped veil was attached to a Juliet cap of lace. She carried a crescent of white daisies, blue stephanotis and white roses.

Mrs. Ronald Heine served her sister as matron of honor. She wore a floor length gown of ice blue taffeta and carried a cascade of pink daisies.

The best man was William Watret Jr., of Franklin, brother of the groom.

Mrs. Kenneth Devore, sister-in-law of the bride, Springfield, was soloist accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Dale Yaeger, Auburn.

Ushers were the bride's brother and her uncle, Kenneth Devore of Springfield, and Charles Winkler of New Berlin.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlor with Mrs. Burgher Miller, Mrs. Lewis Bale, Loami; Mrs. Harold Hester, Meredosia; and Mrs. Dale Yaeger, Auburn, presiding at the serving table.

The young couple will make their home in Waverly, where Mr. Watret is employed by Jennings Motor Sales. Mrs. Watret is employed as secretary to Kenneth Keil of the Penn Mutual Insurance Company in Springfield.

SOVIET SPY FILM FLOPS

MOSCOW (AP) — The Russians tried to make a James Bond-type spy film but without girls and it proved a flop. So they tried another with lots of girls, and it flopped too, in the opinion of the Soviet paper Trud. Its critic said Soviet intelligence agents appeared too brilliant, Americans and Germans too stupid — and there may even have been too many girls.

'HAIL, HAIL...—From as far away as Bowie, Md. came the classmates of 1955 for their reunion. Seen l-r are Larry Heacock and Nancy Voelkel Heacock of Bowie; Weldon Becker and Judy Becker of Jacksonville; Jim Cully and Nancy Ash Cully of Jacksonville.

JHS Class Of '55 Holds 1st Reunion

The Jacksonville High school class of 1955 held their first reunion recently at the Blackhawk restaurant. Over 140 persons attended the festivities which began with a social hour at 6:30 p.m. and provided classmates the opportunity to renew old friendships.

The invocation was given by Larry Pennell and Gerald Massey started off the dinner program with a welcome to the group.

Using the letters in the welcome, he described the class good points and had Miss Maurine Self, class advisor, read a poem she had written.

The poem depicted the class from eager freshmen to confident seniors in a very clever manner. John Hill asked the group for a moment of silence in memory of two classmates who had died, Lois Meyers Williams and Robert McEvers.

A brief business meeting was conducted by Irene Bonacorsi Spinning, and co-chairmen were selected for the next reunion. Selected were Kay Ferris Miner of Waverly and Ronald Spangenberg of 617 Sandusky, Jacksonville.

The next reunion is scheduled to be held in five years. Members of the class are asked to please notify either of the co-chairmen if they have a change of address.

Following the business meeting, Maryann Rickert Johnson read the 1955 class prophecy, and later prizes were given by Kent Dawson and Norma Whitacre to the following: those who came the farthest distance, Eldon Lebkuecher, Atlanta, Ga.; changed the most, Margaret Megginson of Woodson; lost the most hair, Harlan Jording of Fort Wayne, Ind.; married the longest, Shirley Jackson Zenge of Winchester, 11 years; most recent newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Ed VanBebber of Murrayville; most children, Becky Crouse Brant, Barbara Million Walbaum, Harlan Jording, Donna Brogan Davidsmeyer and Tom Walker, four each.

Norma Whitacre presented Miss Self with a floral centerpiece and closing remarks were made by Fred Cody.

Waverly Club Women Plan Flower Show

WAVERLY — The Waverly Woman's club will open the club year with its annual flower show Friday, September 3, at the American Legion Memorial building.

Competition in the show is open to the public. All displays must be in place by 10 a.m. Members and visitors are welcome to attend the club meeting at 2:30 p.m. and view the flowers.

The exhibits will be judged by Mrs. Robert Yordy of Morton, Illinois, who also will give the program at the meeting.

Prizes will be awarded to the two exhibitors receiving the highest number of points. First prize is a blue ribbon and five points; second, three points; and third, one point.

Refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting.

For further information about the rules of the show and classes of display, contact either Mrs. Glen Suttles or Mrs. Marie Blair, co-chairmen for the show.

Other committee members are Mrs. Earl Challans, Mrs. Reuben Bates, Miss Eunice VanWinkle, Mrs. Marvin McDaniel, Mrs. James Smart, Mrs. Georgia Potts.

Church Council Will Sponsor Workshop For Teaching Young People

The Jacksonville Council of Churches will sponsor a Frontiers of Teaching Workshop Aug. 31, Sept. 7 and 14 at Centenary Methodist church. Sessions will be 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. each of the three nights.

William Russell, audio visual director for School District 117, will instruct the class Aug. 31. He will deal with 'new frontiers' in teaching with audio visuals in the church. Mr. Russell is outstanding in this field having photographed and produced eleven 16 mm sound color films for use in the church. The film is 'God's Wonder Series of Nature. Another series of educational film, purchased by U.S. Information Government Agency, has been shown around the world with foreign language sound tracks.

The Sept. 7 class is Teaching Children with Special Needs and will consist of a panel, Mrs. Lucille O'Brien, Jack Hartong and Mrs. Natalie Yeager. On Sept. 14 the topic will be Methods and Techniques of Teaching.

GOODPASTURE REUNION SEPT. 5TH AT ARCADIA HALL

The annual reunion of the descendants of Richard P. and Sarah Ratliff Goodpasture will be held Sunday, September 5, at the Arcadia Hall.

The officers for this year are: president, Roscoe Goodpasture; vice president, John Crawford; secretary and treasurer, Norma Littleton; and historian, Ralph Ginder.

Timewell Lions Serve 1,000 At Fish Fry Picnic

MT. STERLING — Over 1,000 were served at the annual fish fry sponsored Aug. 24th by the Timewell Lions club. The fish fry is one of the most successful ever sponsored by the group and was held at the Timewell Park.

Serving started at 5 p.m. and continued until much later in the evening. The Brown County High School Stage Band entertained a small carnival provided several rides and concessions and ballgames were in operation.

The McKee Watershed steering committee will meet at 8 p.m. Monday, Aug. 30th, in the farm Bureau building here. People from Adams, Pike and Brown counties are working on this project.

Mrs. Duff Tucker was in Mt. Sterling Wednesday to make arrangements for a substitute to take her place teaching in the local school for several weeks while she is in attendance at her husband's bedside. Rev. Tucker remains a patient in Blessing hospital at Quincy.

Rev. Kenneth Anderson will take Mrs. Tucker's place. She teaches Spanish, English and Latin at Brown County High School here.

An amateur's radio message warned residents of Naknek, Alaska, that a 90-foot-high tidal wave was racing across the Pacific toward their coastal town. The timely warning enabled them to escape the water.

'Rolling Out The Barrels' At Murrayville Produce Staves, Headings

By DAN BROGDON

Although Murrayville is dry, her newest industry is the production of whisky barrels.

Located on Ill. 267, a quarter of a mile northeast of the town, the company is owned by C. L. Klepzig Inc. of Farmington, Mo.

Howard Klepzig, son of the owner, runs the mill, and he and his new bride reside in Jacksonville. The firm employs about 15 men, mostly from Missouri, and they have taken residence in or near Murrayville.

Four of the men have moved their families here with them. Klepzig says the industry, which has a yearly income of $400,000, will last three to four years at this location. Claude Klepzig, owner of the firm, asserts the company has a weekly payroll of $2,500 and uses $2,000 worth of raw lumber each day.

Men work from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. except when barrel staves are needed to complete the filling of a railroad car for shipment.

For Aging Process The company produces staves and headings for barrels used in aging whisky. White oak and bur oak are used for the barrels.

The staves which form the sides of the barrels cannot have any knots or other flaws. Finished staves are cut approximately 36 1/2" in length and 1 1/4" thick.

Headings, which comprise the top and bottom of the barrel, have to meet the same specifications of quality, except they are cut in lengths of 24" and thickness of one and one quarter inches.

Most of the logs are furnished by men from approximately 100 miles around Murrayville, who cut logs as a business. The company buys timber and contracts the cutting to local men.

The logs are cut in 39" to 40" lengths, and are quartered before being hauled to the mill. These sections are called bolts.

The saw that is used to cut the staves has a diameter of approximately 36" and is called a barrel saw. It is made like a cylinder which is open at the cutting end with teeth around the outside.

The blade is made to cut just the right curve in each individual stave, each of which is three to four inches in width. About four thousand of these are produced each day.

It takes 15,000 staves to fill a railroad car.

The Murrayville stationmaster Virgil Carson said two box cars a week have been shipped for the last three to four weeks. The headings are stacked outside until they have dried.

The drying process takes from a year to a year and one half.

To Kentucky The staves and headings are graded according to quality into two lots. The quality staves are transported to a company in Louisville, Kentucky where they are made into barrels and then shipped to several popular brand distilleries.

The lower quality staves are sent to a plant in Little Rock, Ark. for the blended whisky. After being thoroughly cured the headings are sent to a company in Jackson, Tenn.

Fifteen to twenty men will be employed the year around. Since only a small part of the organization is under protection, the weather will occasionally halt the working force. Three trucks are used for hauling logs, two smaller ones for moving the scrap away from the saws, two farm tractors, a fork lift and two small caterpillar tractors are utilized by the firm.

The younger Klepzig said they were going to use the railroad later on this fall for transporting saw logs to the mill as a cost cutting experiment.

Scrap wood which is not used will soon be sold for firewood. Klepzig related that a rank, which measures 4 x 8 feet will be available to the public for $1.

SCOTT CHURCH WOMEN PLAN MEET

WINCHESTER — The first general meeting of the CWF will be held Wednesday, September 1 at 7:30 p.m. at the First Christian Church in Winchester.

The program will be given by Mrs. Larry Exton. The worship service will be directed by Mrs. Russell Wilson.

Evening Baptist Circle The Evening Mission Circle of the First Baptist Church will meet Thursday, September 2 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Elmer Suttles. She will be assisted by Mrs. Gary Leib.

Mrs. William Jefferson will be in charge of the program and Mrs. Dale Bradshaw will lead the devotions.

SAWYER — Earl McSpadden of Van Buren, Missouri, sawyer at the C. L. Klepzig Inc. manufacturing site near Murrayville, cuts white oak logs to size for the "equalizer." The pieces eventually become staves for whisky barrels. McSpadden sharpens the saw blades about four to five times during the work day.

EDGER — C. C. Firebaugh of Fredericktown, Mo. operates the "edger" which takes the edges off the future staves at the plant near Murrayville, which employs about 15-20 men.

Symphony Society To Hear Mac Music Head

Dr. Charles M. Fisher, the head of the Department of Music at MacMurray College, will be the speaker at the annual dinner meeting of the Jacksonville Symphony Society, which will be held at the Dunlap Motor Inn at 6:30 p.m., Thursday, September 16. All patrons and members of the Symphony Society and their guests are invited to be present. Reservations may be made with Mrs. W. F. Bailey at 245-8481.

President Thomas C. Rose will preside, and new members of the Board of Directors will be elected. The report of the nominating committee will be presented, and a financial report will be given by Arthur C. Hart, treasurer.

Mrs. Friedrich Engelbach, chairman of the membership committee will speak, and Dr. Henry E. Busche, conductor of the orchestra will announce the details of the musical program for the season 1965-66. It has already been announced that three concerts will be given, a children's concert in November, and two others, the first of which will be on Wednesday, December 8 in Rammelkamp Chapel on the Illinois College campus.

Dr. Fisher, the speaker for the occasion, has had wide experience in directing and coordinating community musical activities. Before coming to MacMurray College he was the head of the Department of Music at the College of Puget Sound in Tacoma, Washington. He is a graduate of Northwestern University, and has a Master of Music degree from Eastern School of Music. His doctorate in church music is from Union Theological Seminary in New York City.

Have New House — Mr. and Mrs. Charles McGuire moved recently into a new home, recently constructed. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Pate and family will move into the home previously occupied by the McGuires.

Wind Damage In Carrollton To Property, Trees

CARROLLTON — A very high wind followed by a small rain struck Carrollton about 8:30 Friday morning causing some residential damage and a great deal of damage to the trees in the southwest part of the city.

The home of Mrs. F. O. Whiteman in the south part of town received perhaps the most damage as a part of the roof was torn from the dwelling.

A tree at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hurt fell on their car and also damaged the electric wires going into the house. Also of special interest to Mrs. Hurt was the fact that a line full of freshly washed clothes sailed away across the fields and had not all been found during the morning.

A tree was down across route 108 in the west part of town at the home of Mrs. F. P. Nims. One of the young trees in the Court House lawn was split. Numerous other trees and limbs were down in other parts of the city.

ROODHOUSE CHURCH TO HOST CLINIC

VANITY SEEN BOON TO MIDDLE-AGED

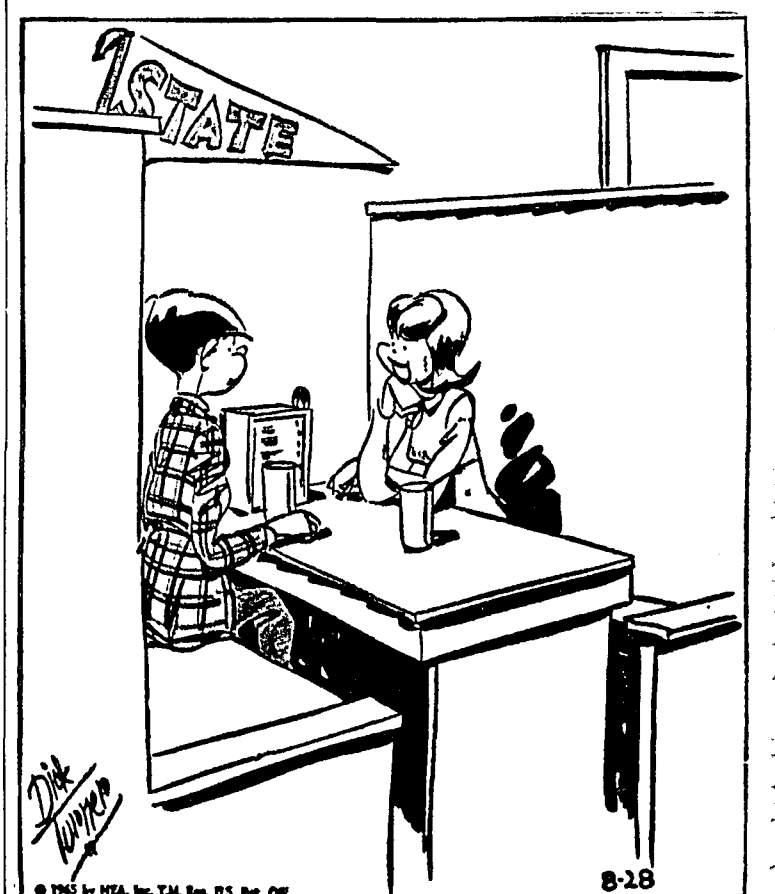

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A touch of vanity in middle age may be good for your health, says Dr. Jose C. Montero of the Stanford University School of Medicine.

Montero said that the desire and efforts of many persons to preserve a youthful appearance helps ward off such degenerative diseases as heart trouble, diabetes and hardening of the arteries.

There's Never a Dull Moment in Space

When Gemini-5 soared off Pad 19 in a perfect launching, the project seemed headed for a perfect conclusion. All did go well for a while—a short while. As everyone now knows, trouble developed in the new electric power system that threatened to end the planned eight-day mission on its first day. In the history of the U.S. space program, such unexpected happenings seem par for the course. Illustrated below are some of the surprises of previous manned space flights.

Feb. 20, 1962—John Glenn, our first orbiting astronaut, had a pleasant, unprogrammed surprise as his Mercury capsule passed over Perth, Australia, where it was late nighttime. He spotted a bright glare there and later learned that Perth had turned on all its lights for him.

May 24, 1962—Scott Carpenter's orbital mission brought dire dread to the millions following the flight on radio and television. During re-entry, radio contact was lost for 40 minutes. An explosive sigh of relief went up when he was spotted floating in a life raft.

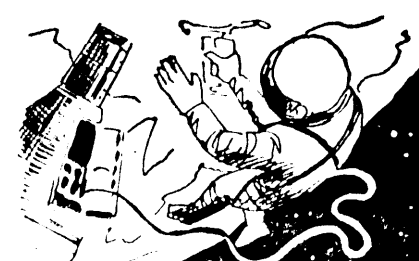

Oct. 3, 1963—Wally Schirra's 9-hour, 13-minute flight approached perfection, with no untoward incidents or crises. But it made history as the first time that the launching of an orbital space vehicle was successfully beamed to Europe via the then-new Telstar satellite.

May 15, 1963—Gordon Cooper's 34-hour, 20-minute flight went smoothly until near the end. Starting re-entry, his automatic control system became balky. He daringly brought the capsule down by manual control. Tension mounted until his parachute was finally seen in the sky.

March 23, 1965—Gus Grissom and John Young were launched on America's first two-man orbital mission. Their four-hour, 54-minute flight went smoothly. Viewers were given an unexpected thrill when they saw President Johnson phone Grissom, saying "Gus, this is Lyndon Johnson."

June 7, 1965—Astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White, in their Gemini-4 mission, were the first Americans to team up for "space-walking." White, the walker, was so exhilarated that he wouldn't return to the capsule until after he was peremptorily ordered back.

83 At Werries Family Reunion In New Berlin

The 36th Werries reunion was held at the Sangamon County Junior Fair Building in New Berlin Sunday with 83 people in attendance. A basket dinner was served at noon.

Dr. Chas. Read, Former Greene Teacher, Dies

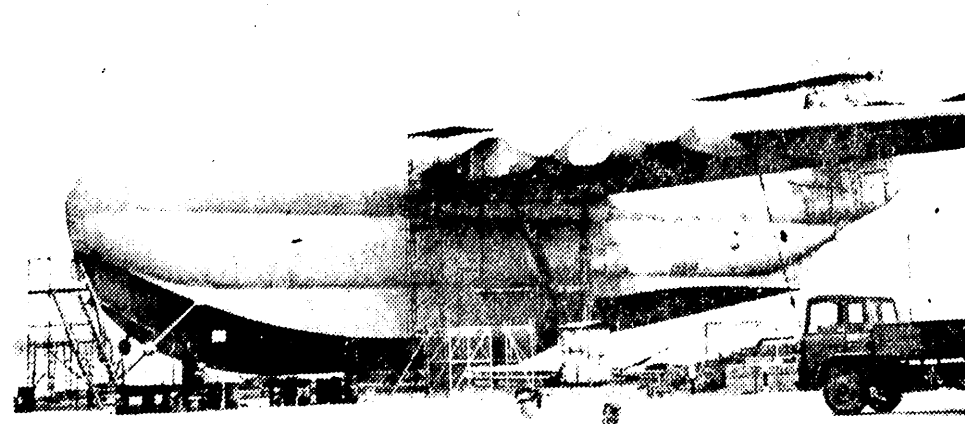

CARROLLTON—Adrian Read of Carrollton has received word of the death of his brother, Dr. Charles Read, 82, who died Wednesday in a nursing home in Leucadia, California.

Prior to his retirement Dr. Read was a dentist in Leucadia. During his early life he was a teacher in the Greene county schools.

He is survived by one son, Charles Read of LaCanada California and a daughter, Mrs. Edward Held of Seattle, Washington.

He also leaves three brothers and three sisters, Edgar Read of Greenfield; Earl Read of Springfield; Adrian Read of Carrollton; Mrs. Mary Cloyd and Mrs. Lee Hubbard of Curran and Mrs. Martin Anderson of Oconomowoc, Wisc. There are nine grandchildren.

Maine is the only U.S. state that is bounded by only one other state.

NEW MISSION—Two workmen taking a lunch break at Calshot, England, are dwarfed by the towering airframe of one of the Princess flying boats being dismantled for shipment to the United States. The huge British-built planes, out of service for several years, are believed destined for use as ferries for rockets and missiles from factories to launching sites.

Logan Sargent, Local Retired Carpenter, Dies

Logan B. Sargent, 78 year old retired carpenter of Jacksonville, died at 8:50 a.m. Saturday following an extended illness. For many years Mr. Sargent lived at 503 South Clay avenue.

He was born in Morgan county Aug. 10, 1887 and spent his entire life in this community. Mr. Sargent was first married to Kate Farrington and they were parents of two children, both of whom survive their father, Dean Sargent of California and Mrs. Elizabeth Henderson of Alton. There are two grandchildren. Mrs. Sargent preceded the deceased in death.

POSTAL VEHICLE FLEET IN GREENE CITED FOR SAFETY

CARROLLTON—The Carrollton Post Office vehicle fleet was cited for meritorious safety performance Tuesday upon receipt of an award from the Chicago Regional Director of the Post Office Department. The citation was issued to postal installations with improved accident prevention records in the fiscal year 1965.

Postmaster J. F. Alfeld announced the news of the awards to his employees.

We fuss a lot!
Some mothers say Kinney makes too big a fuss over fitting children's shoes!

Our 71 years experience tells us we don't!

Sure we fuss a lot about fitting children's shoes. But we know, you, as parents wouldn't have it any other way. We measure both feet separately from heel to toe, then recheck for perfect fit. We call it our "Certifit Program." Of course, we fuss a lot about quality too. Shoes like our Nationally Advertised Educator Royals are the shoes people talk about when they say "They're out grown before they're out worn." Of course, that's because we give top craftsmen the finest materials to work with. So come on in and see the most complete selection of back-to-school shoes ever.

JHS Class Of '55 Holds 1st Reunion

The Jacksonville High school class of 1955 held their first reunion recently at the Blackhawk restaurant. Over 140 persons attended the festivities which began with a social hour at 6:30 p.m. and provided classmates the opportunity to renew old friendships.

The invocation was given by Larry Pennell and Gerald Massey started off the dinner program with a welcome to the group.

Using the letters in the welcome, he described the class good points and had Miss Maurine Self, class advisor, read a poem she had written.

The poem depicted the class from eager freshmen to confident seniors in a very clever manner. John Hill asked the group for a moment of silence in memory of two classmates who had died, Lois Meyers Williams and Robert McEvers.

A brief business meeting was conducted by Irene Bonacorsi Spinning, and co-chairmen were selected for the next reunion. Selected were Kay Ferris Miner of Waverly and Ronald Spangenberg of 617 Sandusky, Jacksonville.

The next reunion is scheduled to be held in five years. Members of the class are asked to please notify either of the co-chairmen if they have a change of address.

Following the business meeting Maryann Rickert Johnson read the 1955 class prophecy, and later prizes were given by Kent Dawson and Norma Whitacre to the following: those who came the farthest distance, Eldon Lebkuecher, Atlanta, Ga.; changed the most, Margaret Megginson of Woodson; lost the most hair, Harlen Jording of Fort Wayne, Ind.; married the longest, Shirley Jackson Zenge of Winchester, 11 years; most recent newweds, Mr. and Mrs. Ed VanBebber of Murrayville; most children, Becky Crouse Brant, Barbara Million Walbaum, Harlan Jording, Donna Brogdan Davidsmeyer and Tom Walker, four each.

Norma Whitacre presented Miss Self with a floral centerpiece and closing remarks were made by Fred Cody.

Waverly Club Women Plan Flower Show

WAVERLY — The Waverly Woman's club will open the club year with its annual flower show Friday, September 3, at the American Legion Memorial building.

Competition in the show is open to the public. All displays must be in place by 10 a.m. Members and visitors are welcome to attend the club meeting at 2:30 p.m. and view the flowers.

The exhibits will be judged by Mrs. Robert Yordy of Morton, Illinois, who also will give the program at the meeting.

Prizes will be awarded to the two exhibitors receiving the highest number of points. First prize is a blue ribbon and five points; second, three points; and third, one point.

Refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting.

For further information about the rules of the show and classes of display, contact either Mrs. Glen Suttles or Mrs. Marie Blair, co-chairmen for the show.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market returned to the winning column last week, encouraged considerably by President Lyndon B. Johnson.

The President's actions were credited to a great degree for the sharp market rallies on Wednesday and Thursday. On the other hand, the trading week the trend was so feeble that in some averages it amounted to a net decline.

The President's order for the $1.5 billion Orbital Space Laboratory spurred aerospace and electronic stocks to sharp gains on Wednesday.

On the following day, the faltering steel stocks and a wide range of other cyclical issues began climbing.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 6.04 to 896.96. This brought it close once more to the psychological barrier of 900, which has been troublesome in the past.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 2.3 to 33.1. Of 1,557 issues traded last week, 944 rose and 709 fell.

Volume was 27,063,640 shares compared with 24,815,169 the previous week. This was the largest weekly volume since the week ended July 3 when 33.9 million shares changed hands.

Heavy trading in airlines which continued to rally on the continually surprising turnaround in profits from a year ago was a big feature of the week.

The big question in Wall Street was whether a nationwide steel strike could be averted by the deadline on Tuesday midnight. Allied with this question was that of how a labor agreement would affect profits of the steel corporations.

The economic backdrop to the market included news of a rise in the consumer price index, a gain in durable goods orders reported for July, a decline in weekly steel production, a rise in machine tool orders from a year ago but a decrease in July from June, and a census bureau forecast that consumer buying will be stepped up in the months ahead.

Prices in all three sectors of the bond market declined led by the steady downdrift of Treasury securities prices. It was the fourth straight week of declining prices for Treasury bonds.

On the corporate bond market effects of the Treasury declines were felt by the highly rated issues, such as utilities.

On the New York Stock Exchange during the week, 285 advanced in price, 186 declined and 111 were unchanged. Volume for the week totaled $65.34 million compared with $42.53 million a week ago.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (AP)—Receipts of 23,700 hogs in Chicago last week marked the heaviest run since mid June. Barrows, gilts and sows were 50 to 75 cents a hundredweight lower than the previous week.

The receipts compared with 18,300 a week earlier and 34,100 a year ago.

A lower carlot pork trade coupled with moderately increased receipts was the main bearish factor in the live trade.

Prices averaged $25.10 a hundredweight compared with $25.39 the previous week and $18.37 a year ago.

Cattle receipts in Chicago were 29,500 compared with 27,700 the previous week and 40,300 a year ago. At the 12 principal Midwest markets the week's supply of 212,700 head was the largest since January. It compared with 191,700 the previous week and 211,600 a year ago.

Slaughter steers and heifers closed mostly 25 to 50 cents a hundredweight higher with other classes unchanged.

Trading at the major terminals was fairly erratic. Most points reported a good advance early in the period in sympathy with an advance in the dressed beef trade. Late in the period, however, several markets recorded moderate declines.

Slaughter lamb prices at Chicago were mostly $1.00 lower.

Tropical Storm Picks Up Speed In Caribbean

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Tropical storm Betsy brushed past the Leeward Islands Saturday, picked up speed and forced an early end to the flight of Gemini 5.

Although still a weak storm, her forward speed of 21 miles an hour would push her too close to the Grand Turk Island down area planned for splashdowns.

Betsy's highest winds of 45 m.p.h. apparently did little, if any, damage as she whipped northward along the Caribbean Sea.

Martinique reported only showers and slight gusts as Betsy whipped very close to the island during the afternoon.

Gale warnings were flying at Dominica, Guadalupe and the rest of the northern Leeward Islands and were ordered raised at Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands at midnight.

The Weather Bureau predicted Betsy would be centered about 200 miles east of Grand Turk Island at 5 p.m. Sunday.

Gales lashed out 250 miles to the northeast of the storm's center and she whipped up seas and lowered visibility beyond that.

11 Killed, 27 Hurt In Truck, Bus Collision

aboard the bus, only three of whom escaped injury.

The truck driver, Henry C. Gregory, 35, of Houston, was one of those killed.

The bus driver, Jeff Blankenship of Houston, was seriously injured. He spent several hours in surgery at a Beaumont, Tex., hospital. First reports that he was dead later proved erroneous.

The injured passengers were taken to hospitals in Lake Charles and Sulphur, La., and Orange, Tex. The three most seriously injured appeared to be Mott Musgrove, 13, of New Orleans, whose mother was among the dead; Ernest Campbell, 45, Port Arthur, Tex.; and Juanita Vyes, 35, Birmingham, Ala.

The wreck occurred on the Old Spanish Trail — heavily traveled U.S. 90 near the Louisiana-Texas border.

The two vehicles met in the center of the highway, state police said.

Few of the passengers — many of whom were asleep — had any warning. Some of them, winners in a photo-sequence promotion contest, anticipated a happy, expense-paid weekend in New Orleans.

"I was sitting about the middle of the bus, and it seemed like all of a sudden the bus was trying to stop," recalled Willard Coleman, 47, Lake Charles. "Somebody yelled, 'Watch out.' From that point, I don't remember too much of anything."

Danny Daniels, 18, of Pascagoula, Miss., was thrown from the bus. He had to be restrained by police from re-entering the wreckage in search of his brother, Terry, 12. Terry's body later was recovered.

One of the prize winners, C. P. Broussard, Port Arthur, Tex., was among the dead.

Six other winners were among the injured.

Youths Injured In Motorcycle Crash Saturday

One person complained of injuries following a two-car accident on the east side of the public square about 4:53 p.m. Saturday.

Olivia Perry of 823 East State, a passenger in a car driven by Louis E. Perry, said she would consult a physician for treatment of neck pains following the crash.

Perry's car was struck by a vehicle, backing from a parking place, operated by Grace C. Wheeler of 459 Hardin.

City police cited Kathleen Wheeler of 701 Freedman with failure to reduce speed causing an accident following the incident about 7:51 p.m. Saturday at 735 Railroad.

Mrs. Winner told police that she had just pulled from her driveway when she saw an oncoming car, and attempting to re-enter her lane of traffic, struck a utilities pole.

ROODHOUSE FAMILY RETURNS FROM EASTERN VACATION

ROODHOUSE—Mr. and Mrs. William J. Locher and son, Barry, have returned from a two week vacation trip to the east. They spent a portion of the time at Williamsburg, Va., and Washington, D.C. Mr. Locher is manager of the local IGA Store.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Schaefer, Pratt, Kans., and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sitton, Ford, Kans., are expected to arrive in Roodhouse this week for a visit with the ladies' brother and wife, Dr. and Mrs. N. J. Bucklin.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hull, Wood River, were overnight visitors in the home of his mother, Mrs. Harvey Hull, Monday.

Louis Shell arrived here by plane from Ft. Smith, Ark., for a week's visit in the home of his cousin, Mrs. Fred Hull, and husband. While here he accompanied the Hulls to the State Fair.

Sara Hannaford city, and Mark McClennan, Beardstown, arrived in Roodhouse Wednesday from Chicago where they have been visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Hunt Jr., and children, Karen and Eric. Sara and Mark were met in Springfield by her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Roodhouse of that city, and brought on to Roodhouse.

Clyde Holmes has returned from the Missouri Pacific hospital, St. Louis, Mo.

Miss Hester Barry, Indianapolis, Ind., is visiting her sister, Mrs. John W. Roberts, and son, Bill.

Pope To Lead Procession Of Penance In Rome

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI will lead 2,500 bishops from around the world in a half-mile procession of penance through the streets of Rome Sept. 14 to open the fourth and final session of the Roman Catholic Ecumenical Council.

The pontiff announced the procession Saturday in an urgent appeal for Catholics everywhere to pray for success of the council and to join with their children and their suffering sick in worldwide ceremonies of penance.

The papal procession will sing praises to the Lord and carry the Church's zealously guarded relics of the Cross from Rome's Basilica of the Holy Cross of Jerusalem, where the relics are kept, to the Basilica of St. John Lateran, the Pope's seat as bishop of Rome.

The pontiff also announced that throughout the final council session the Blessed Sacrament will remain exposed in the Pauline Chapel of the Vatican's Apostolic Palace.

The announcements came in an apostolic exhortation as the fourth session of the four-year Vatican Council drew near.

Pope Paul said prayer was "the indispensable means" of assuring "the council will have greater effect than we can estimate."

He said, too, that he hoped his invitation to prayer for success of the council would be "welcomed also by our brothers in other Christian communities."

The Vatican Council, convened by the late Pope John XXIII in October 1962, still has before it 11 topics, including three that touch upon sensitive areas outside Catholicism—religious liberty, relations with the Jews and other non-Christians, and problems of the modern world including birth control and nuclear warfare.

The Pope reiterated that the fourth session would be the last. It may finish its work by Christmas, but the load remaining is so heavy that some have said it might be recessed over Christmas and concluded next year.

Mrs. Utah Named Mrs. America

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Utah, brown-haired, blue-eyed Alice Buehner, 34, was named Mrs. America Saturday night at the climax of the 1965 Mrs. America contest and pageant.

Mrs. Buehner of Salt Lake City, mother of six children and wife of Don L. Buehner, 36, was chosen by a panel of judges on the basis of competitive events and stage presence.

She will receive $20,000 worth of prizes and trips, including an all-expense-paid three-week tour of Europe for herself and her husband.

First runner-up was Mrs. Colorado, Margaret Freeman, 45, of Aurora. Her husband is retired Air Force Col. Oscar Freeman, 49. They have three children.

Second runner-up was Mrs. Georgia, Pat Turner, 34, of Swainsboro. Her husband, Felix, 34, is a Methodist minister. They have four children.

Mrs. Buehner was crowned by last year's Mrs. America, Dore Jenkins of Columbia, S.C.

Carpenter Rites Held Saturday

Funeral services for Mrs. Addie Carpenter were held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Cody and Son Memorial home with Rev. Harold N. Nance and Rev. Abe Brown officiating.

Music was provided by the Mt. Emory Baptist church choir with Mrs. Harold N. Nance at the organ. An obituary and condolences were given by Mrs. Dola Robinson.

Caring for flowers were Lucinda Allen, Beulah Bryant, Gladys Hayden, Margie McPike, Olivia Miller, and Gladys Reid.

Palbearers were George Greaves, Roscoe House, Robert Reesby, Daniel Reid, Ben Shannon, George Sidnor, Arthur Warner, and James Washington.

Burial was in Jacksonville East cemetery.

'Rolling Out The Barrels' At Murrayville Produce Staves, Headings

By DAN BROGDON

Although Murrayville is dry, her newest industry is the production of whisky barrels.

Located on Ill. 267, a quarter of a mile northeast of the town, the company is owned by C. L. Klepzig Inc. of Farmington, Mo.

Howard Klepzig, son of the owner, runs the mill, and he and his new bride reside in Jacksonville. The firm employs about 15 men, mostly from Missouri, and they have taken residence in or near Murrayville.

Four of the men have moved their families here with them.

Klepzig says the industry, which has a yearly income of $400,000, will last three to four years at this location. Claude Klepzig, owner of the firm, asserts the company has a weekly payroll of $2,500 and uses $2,000 worth of raw lumber each day.

Men work from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. except when barrel staves are needed to complete the filling of a railroad car for shipment.

For Aging Process

The company produces staves and headings for barrels used in aging whisky. White oak and bur oak are used for the barrels.

The staves which form the sides of the barrels cannot have any knots or other flaws. Finished staves are cut approximately 36 1/2" in length and 1 1/2" thick.

Headings, which comprise the top and bottom of the barrel, have to meet the same specifications of quality, except they are cut in lengths of 24" and thickness of one and one quarter inches.

Most of the logs are furnished by men from approximately 100 miles around Murrayville, who cut logs as a business. The company buys timber and contracts the cutting to local men.

The logs are cut in 39" to 40" lengths, and are quartered before being hauled to the mill. These sections are called bolts.

The saw that is used to cut the staves has a diameter of approximately 36" and is called a barrel saw. It is made like a cylinder which is open at the cutting end with teeth around the outside.

The blade is made to cut just the right curve in each individual stave, each of which is three to four inches in width. About four thousand of these are produced each day.

It takes 15,000 staves to fill a railroad car.

The Murrayville stationmaster Virgil Carson said two box cars a week have been shipped for the last three to four weeks. The headings are stacked outside until they have dried.

The drying process takes from a year to a year and one half.

To Kentucky

The staves and headings are graded according to quality into two lots. The quality staves are transported to a company in Louisville, Kentucky where they are made into barrels and then shipped to several popular brand distilleries.

The lower quality staves are sent to a plant in Little Rock, Ark. for the blended whisky. After being thoroughly cured the headings are sent to a company in Jackson, Tenn.

Fifteen to twenty men will be employed the year around. Since only a small part of the organization is under protection, the weather will occasionally halt the working force.

Three trucks are used for hauling logs, two smaller ones for moving the scrap away from the saws, two farm tractors, a fork lift and two small caterpillar tractors are utilized by the firm.

The younger Klepzig said they were going to use the railroad later on this fall for transporting saw logs to the mill as a cost cutting experiment.

Scrap wood which is not used will soon be sold for firewood. Klepzig related that a rank, which measures 4 x 8 feet will be available to the public for $1.

SCOTT CHURCH WOMEN PLAN MEET

WINCHESTER — The first general meeting of the CWF will be held Wednesday, September 1 at 7:30 p.m. at the First Christian Church in Winchester.

The program will be given by Mrs. Larry Exton. The worship service will be directed by Mrs. Russell Wilson.

Evening Baptist Circle The Evening Mission Circle of the First Baptist Church will meet Thursday, September 2 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Elmer Suttles. She will be assisted by Mrs. Gary Leib.

Mrs. William Jefferson will be in charge of the program and Mrs. Dale Bradshaw will lead the devotions.

SAWYER — Earl McSpadden of Van Buren, Missouri, sawyer at the C. L. Klepzig Inc. manufacturing site near Murrayville, cuts white oak logs to size for the "equalizer." The pieces eventually become staves for whisky barrels. McSpadden sharpens the saw blades about four to five times during the work day.

EDGER — C. C. Firebaugh of Fredericktown, Mo. operates the "edger" which takes the edges off the future staves at the plant near Murrayville, which employs about 15-20 men.

N. GREENE BOARD APPOINTS ACTING SCHOOL HEAD

WHITE HALL — The North Greene Board of Education has accepted the resignations of Harold Gaarde as Superintendent of the Unit, and that of Sarah Gaarde as elementary physical education teacher.

Mr. Kenneth Kern has been appointed acting superintendent until a replacement is found. Other action taken by the board, was the appointment of Kenneth Cash, to teach English at the North Greene High School. He is a graduate of Northeast Missouri Teachers' College, where he has been working as a graduate assistant the past year.

The Board announced that Patterson is the sixth grade attendance center for the entire unit and that sixth grade students from Hillview will attend at Patterson. During the coming year students of parents who have objected to the move will be assigned to a combination fifth and sixth grade class.

The seventh and eighth grade students from Hillview will be permitted to attend at Roodhouse this year.

Dodgers Explode For 7 In First, Beat Phils 8-4

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The National League-leading Los Angeles Dodgers clubbed five hits and stole five bases in a seven-run first-inning outburst and went on to an 8-4 victory over Philadelphia Saturday night.

The victory kept the Dodgers' lead at 1½ games as Cincinnati moved into second place with San Francisco and Milwaukee dropping 2½ behind.

The Dodgers routed an old nemesis in lefty Chris Short as they pinned a fifth straight defeat — seven in eight games — on the faltering Phillies. Short had defeated Los Angeles seven straight times since June 1964 and was 5-0 against them this season.

Before the Dodgers nailed it, however, Manager Walt Alston called on 21-game winner Sandy Koufax in the ninth inning to get the final three outs. It was Koufax's first relief appearance of the season.

Maury Wills, the first of 11 batters in the 40-minute inning, opened the game with a single.

Jim Gilliam walked and then both advanced on a double steal — Wills' 11th of the season and first in seven games.

Wes Parker singled, scoring Wills, and Lou Johnson was hit by a pitch, loading the bases. Gilliam scored and Parker and Johnson advanced on a wild pitch. Ron Fairly then doubled home two runs, and after Jeff Torborg struck out, Willie Davis beat out an infield hit that finished Short.

Fairly scored on a fielder's choice play, Davis going to second as Ed Roebuck took over the pitching for the Phillies. Davis and Tracewski engineered a double steal, and after pitcher John Purdin struck out, Wills singled home the final two runs.

Johnson Ups Lead In 8-2 Reds Win

CINCINNATI (AP) — Deron Johnson boosted his major league — leading runs-batted-in total to 102 with a three-run double Saturday night as the Cincinnati Reds moved into second place in the National League by walloping St. Louis 8-2.

The victory kept the Reds 1½ games behind the first-place Los Angeles Dodgers but hopped them over San Francisco into the runner-up spot. The Giants and Milwaukee are 2½ games behind.

Tommy Harper contributed a two-run homer to the Reds' attack and Jim Maloney, with relief help from Ted Davidson, picked up his second straight victory since hurling a 10-inning no-hitter Aug. 19. Maloney is now 16-6.

The Reds shelled Curt Simmons for all their runs. Johnson unleashed his bases-clearing double in the Reds' four-run third inning to become the first player in the majors to drive in 100 or more runs this season. He also became the first third baseman in Reds history to knock in 100 runs a season.

Big Ten Could See Season Of Upsets

CHICAGO (AP) — This could be a season of big upsets in Big Ten football with Purdue, long an in-and-out, expected to scramble through to the championship.

The Boilermakers, a third place finisher in 1964, are stocked with veterans and could nail their first outright Big Ten crown since 1929 and make their first trip to the Rose Bowl.

Giving them their main trouble could be defending champion Michigan and a revitalized Iowa team that shared ninth last season after a series of narrow defeats.

The complex of the Big Ten race may be determined early, especially Purdue's cast in it.

Coach Jack Mollenkopf opens with Miami of Ohio before being host to powerful Notre Dame in a Sept. 25 game that will give a fine appraisal of both teams.

The following week Purdue is at Southern Methodist, but then come successive games at Iowa and Michigan.

Purdue has seven holdover starters for each of its offensive and defensive platoons and the core of a fine backfield in junior quarterback Bob Griese, halfback Gordon Teter and fullback Randy Minnien.

Also returning are end Bob Hadrick, one of the best pass catchers in the nation; Karl Singer, one of the finest blocking tackles in the conference, and Jack Calcatera, outstanding guard-linebacker.

Among the 15 starters Michigan lost from its championship and Rose Bowl-winning squad was quarterback Bob Timberlake. Coach Bump Elliott has a bull pen of three to replace him — sophomore Rick Vidmer, senior Wally Gabler and Rich Volk, a 1964 defensive halfback. Carl Ward and Jim Detwiler give power at halfback.

"We are looking forward with cautious optimism," says Iowa Coach Jerry Burns, whose Hawkeyes lost more close ones in 1964 than any other conference club.

All the explosiveness is there for Iowa, fused by one of the country's greatest aerial batteries — Gary Snook to Karl Noon. Guard John Niland and tackle Bob Ziolkowski return as Snook's bodyguards.

John Hankinson, greatest passer in Minnesota history, and his main receiver, flanker Ken Last, give the Gophers flash. Kent Kramer and Aaron Brown anchor a group of rugged ends.

Michigan State has solidness behind proven quarterback Steve Judy, receiver Gene Washington, kicker Dick Kennedy and halfback Clint Jones. In addition to veteran tackle Harold Lucas, Coach Duffy Daugherty has a beefy foursome of California junior college star linemen — Rusty Malone, Tom Skidmore, Tom Amiratta and Fred Conventini.

This is a rebuilding year for Ohio State but Coach Woody Hayes always has stockpiles. He lost key performers in the Buckeyes No. 1 defensive team of the 1964 Big Ten season, but returning are rugged linebackers Luke Kelley and Tom Bugel.

Also on hand are veteran backs Tom Barrington, Willard Sanders and quarterback Don Unverferth, and guard Bill Rider and offensive tackle Doug Van Horn.

Illinois comes off a fourth place tie with its entire backfield intact — fullback Jim Grabowski, halfbacks Ron Ackers and Sam Price and quarterback Fred Custardo.

Indiana has the only new head coach, Yale's John Pont. Standouts include split end Bill Malinchak, tackles Randy Beisler and Ken Hollister, and halfbacks John Ginter and Trent Walters.

Northwestern, installing a new offensive, must regroup behind end Cas Banaszek, halfbacks Woody Campbell and Ron Kector, and fullback Bob McKelvey.

Wisconsin could get rolling with quarterback Chuck Burt, who missed 1964 because of illness after being heralded as a corner. A good defensive nucleus includes halfback Dave Frontek and linebackers Bob Richter and Tom Brigham.

John Paul Jones, father of the United States Navy, established a 13-gun salute for American ships, one gun for each original state.

"Tokyo is a not a city. It's an explosion," wrote a Japanese journalist. Its economic growth runs about 10 per cent a year — highest in the world.

The human body contains 639 different muscles. The only parts of the body which do not have muscles are the knuckles and the shin bones.

A 25-year-old Japanese of average size is about 4 inches taller than his 5-foot grandfather.

Buford Green, coach of the local city power baseball squad, has announced that this afternoon's tournament game has been cancelled, due to players school commitments, vacations, etc.

Players are asked to turn in their uniforms as soon as possible.

Tom Rolfe Takes Slim Win By Neck

CHICAGO (AP) — Tom Rolfe, a 3 to 10 favorite, had to hustle hard the final sixteenth of a mile to beat Royal Gunner by a neck in the record running of the $107,500 Arlington Classic at Arlington Park Saturday.

A crowd of 27,396 saw Sum Up finish third almost four lengths farther back in the one-mile event for 3-year-olds.

Gummo ran fourth in the field of seven. Give a Hoot was a late scratch.

Tom Rolfe, the Preakness champion and a leading contender for 3-year-old honors, was clocked in 1:34 4/5 under Bill Shoemaker. The track was fast but full.

The time bested the Classic mile mark of 1:35 set by Errard King in 1954 and matched by Dunce in 1959.

Top-weighted at 124 pounds, Tom Rolfe had so much bet on him in the show pool that the track had a minus of $4,689.

The colt owned by Raymond Guest, United States ambassador to Ireland, earned $62,500 to push his two-year career earnings to $435,105.

Under a perfectly judged ride by Braulio Baeza, the strapping son of Tom Fool and Busanda from Oden Phipps' barn took the lead as the field of seven juveniles straightened out for the final one-quarter mile dash to the finish line.

Running straight down the middle, the colt won it going away. His stablemate, Impressive, was second. Mrs. Edward Lasker's Indulto trailed by another three-quarters of a length.

It was another 2½ lengths back to Deck Hand, the fourth horse. Then came Stands to Reason, Gay Profusion and Timely Move.

For his seventh straight victory, after finishing fourth in his debut, Buckpasser earned $71,613.75 to run his total bank account to $184,875.75, tops for 2-year-olds this year.

Buckpasser ripped off the 6½ furlongs in 1:16, two-fifths of a second off the track record set last year by Bold Lad, also trained by Winfrey, in winning the 1964 classic for 2-year-olds.

Cubs Drop Braves For Number 5

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Billy Williams drove in three runs with a home run and a single as the Chicago Cubs trimmed Milwaukee 3-1 and extended the Braves' losing streak to five games Saturday.

The loss dropped the Braves into fourth place, 2½ games behind the National League-leading Los Angeles Dodgers.

Williams, who hit a winning grand-slam homer the night before, clouted his 24th homer in the first inning after Wade Blasingame walked Joe Amalfitano.

The Cubs didn't score again until the ninth when pitcher Ted Abernathy singled, went to second as Amalfitano drew his fourth walk and raced home on Williams' single to center field.

9th Frame Tally Gives Tribe 6-5 Edge Of Twins

MINNEAPOLIS — ST. PAUL (AP) — Chuck Hinton's sacrifice fly drove in Leon Wagner in the ninth inning, lifting Cleveland to a 6-5 triumph over the American League-leading Minnesota Twins Saturday.

Wagner led off the ninth with a walk and moved to second when Al Worthington hit Billy Moran with a pitch. Pedro Gonzalez sacrificed the runners, and Hinton followed with a run-scoring fly to Bob Allison in left field.

The Twins loaded the bases on walks in their half of the ninth, but Gary Bell retired Earl Battey on a pop up for the final out.

Twins' starter Jim Perry was working with a 5-2 lead and had a six-hit record until the Indians erupted for three runs in the eighth inning in successive-pitch home runs by Rocky Colavito and Fred Whitfield.

Ike Richman is one of the Philadelphia 76ers' owners who negotiated Wilt Chamberlain's fantastic three-year deal. As Wilt's personal lawyer, Ike also was in on the talks Wilt had with Gus D'Amato for a boxing career. And he says, "I had to walk out. They offered him more money for the first year than he got in our whole three-year contract. There was no way we could match it."

Only golfers, jockeys and heavyweight champs — among the sports elite — can clear more annually than Wilt.

Chamberlain's aborted interest in a boxing career was not, incidentally, a sudden thing. He first met D'Amato, Floyd Patterson's ex-manager, when the two appeared on a radio show while Wilt was touring with the Harlem Globetrotters and before he signed an NBA contract. Even then Wilt queried D'Amato about the possibilities of going into boxing rather than professional basketball.

Sheldon 4-Hits Ex-Teammates For 4-0 Margin

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Rollie Sheldon allowed only three hits, pitching the Kansas City Athletics to a 4-0 victory over his former New York Yankee teammates Saturday night.

Sheldon, lifting his record to 7-7, allowed only singles by Bob Richardson in the fourth and ninth innings, and a by Elston Howard in the seventh. He did not permit a base runner past second base.

It was the second straight shutout against the Yankees, who were held to four hits by Kansas City's John O'Donoghue Friday night.

The A's gave Sheldon the only run he needed in the third inning when Tom Reynolds singled, stole second and went to third on a wild pitch by Mel Stottlemyre before scoring on a double by Bert Campaneris.

The BIG Inch!

The ruled box above is a one-inch advertisement. It measures one column wide by one-inch deep.

It costs advertisers $1.15 or less depending on the contract rate. (Non-contract rate is $1.40 per column inch.) It looks kinda lonesome by itself. But look at it this way.

What you get when you buy a one-inch ad in the Journal and Courier is not just a single column inch of space in the paper, but one-inch multiplied by 16,750 copies daily. So you're really buying 16,750 inches, which at 189 inches a page would be some 88½ pages of printed newsprint!

That's a mighty big chunk of space for a cost of $1.15 or less. And that price includes delivery to the reader's front door.

Just imagine the cost of reaching all those Journal and Courier families by postcard. It would amount to $670 just for the postage. But the Journal and Courier do it for $1.15 or less per insertion.

So you can see that a little one-inch ad is really a pretty BIG inch when it's advertising space in the Journal and Courier. And the figures show that it's the most effective and economical way possible to let people in the Jacksonville Trade Area know that you have wares or a service that they could use.

There's Never a Dull Moment in Space

When Gemini-5 soared off Pad 19 in a perfect launching, the project seemed headed for a perfect conclusion. All did go well for a while—a short while. As everyone now knows, trouble developed in the new electric power system that threatened to end the planned eight-day mission on its first day. In the history of the U.S. space program, such unexpected happenings seem par for the course. Illustrated below are some of the surprises of previous manned space flights.

Feb. 20, 1962—John Glenn, our first orbiting astronaut, had a pleasant, unprogrammed surprise as his Mercury capsule passed over Perth, Australia, where it was late nighttime. He spotted a bright glare there and later learned that Perth had turned on all its lights for him.

May 24, 1962—Scott Carpenter's orbital mission brought dire dread to the millions following the flight on radio and television. During re-entry, radio contact was lost for 40 minutes. An explosive sigh of relief went up when he was spotted floating in a life raft.

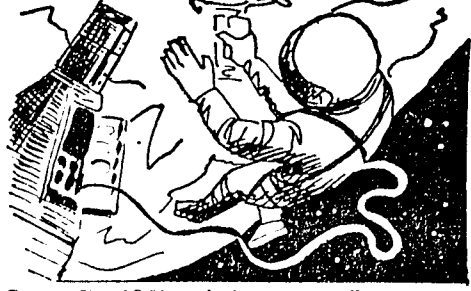

Oct. 3, 1963—Wally Schirra's 9-hour, 13-minute flight approached perfection, with no untoward incidents or crises. But it made history as the first time that the launching of an orbital space vehicle was successfully beamed to Europe via the then-new Telstar satellite.

May 15, 1963—Gordon Cooper's 34-hour, 20-minute flight went smoothly until near the end. Starting re-entry, his automatic control system became balky. He daringly brought the capsule down by manual control. Tension mounted until his parachute was finally seen in the sky.

March 23, 1965—Gus Grissom and John Young were launched on America's first two-man orbital mission. Their four-hour, 54-minute flight went smoothly. Viewers were given an unexpected thrill when they saw President Johnson phone Grissom, saying "Gus, this is Lyndon Johnson."

June 7, 1965—Astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White, in their Gemini-4 mission, were the first Americans to team up for "space walking." White, the walker, was so exhilarated that he wouldn't return to the capsule until after he was peremptorily ordered back.

83 At Werries Family Reunion In New Berlin

The 36th Werries reunion was held at the Sangamon County Junior Fair Building in New Berlin Sunday with 83 people in attendance. A basket dinner was served at noon.

Fred W. Peters was in charge of the business meeting. Mrs. William Eller read the secretary's report, and Harold Peters gave the treasurer's report. Prizes were awarded to the following: Mrs. Fred Weiss, the oldest person present; Mary Peters the youngest; Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bigler, who traveled the greatest distance.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: Mrs. Frank G. Meyer, president; Norman Krohe, vice-president; Mrs. Marvin Kunzeman, secretary; Mrs. Oscar Nortrup, assistant secretary and Harry Werries, treasurer.

The 1966 reunion will be held at the same place on the fourth Sunday in August.

Seventeen births, four deaths and three marriages were reported.

The following relatives and friends were present: Mr. and Mrs. Oren Russwinkel and Henry, Alfred Berghaus, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Kunzeman, Terance, Timothy, Jacqueline, Christopher and Kara Brown; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Werries and James, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Nortrup, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fuelling, Donald and Harvey and Susan Northrop, all of Meredosia.

Dr. Chas. Read, Former Greene Teacher, Dies

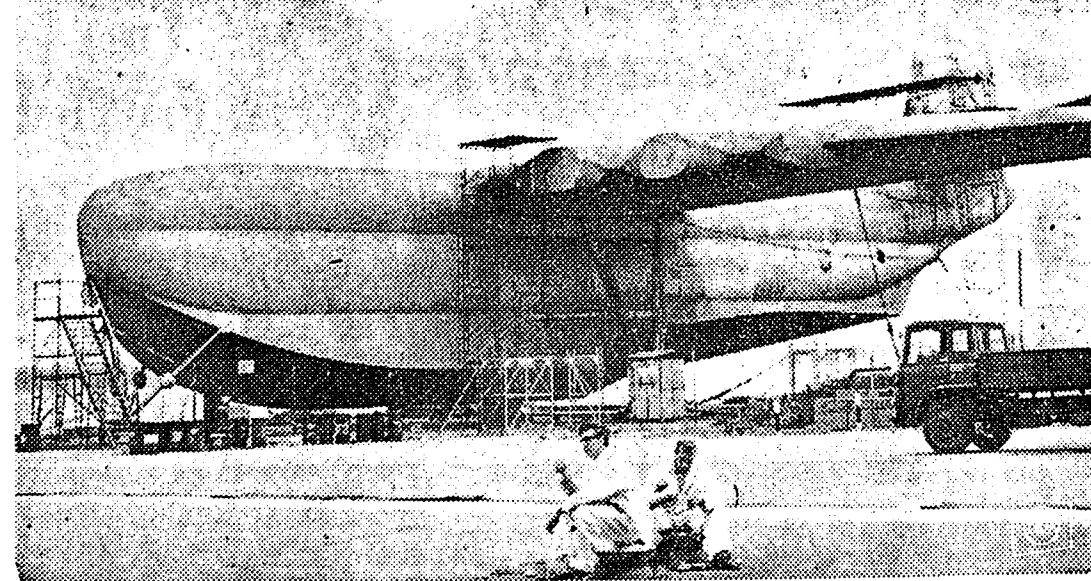

CARROLLTON—Adrian Read of Carrollton has received word of the death of his brother, Dr. Charles Read, 82, who died Wednesday in a nursing home in Leucadia, California.

Prior to his retirement Dr. Read was a dentist in Leucadia. During his early life he was a teacher in the Greene county schools.

He is survived by one son, Charles Read of LaCanada California and a daughter, Mrs. Edward Held of Seattle, Washington.

He also leaves three brothers and three sisters, Edgar Read of Greenfield; Earl Read of Springfield; Adrian Read of Carrollton; Mrs. Mary Cloyd and Mrs. Lee Hubbard of Curran and Mrs. Martin Anderson of Oconomowoc, Wisc. There are nine grandchildren.

Maine is the only U.S. state that is bounded by only one other state.

NEW MISSION—Two workmen taking a lunch break at Calshot, England, are dwarfed by the towering airframe of one of the Princess flying boats being dismantled for shipment to the United States. The huge British-built planes, out of service for several years, are believed destined for use as ferries for rockets and missiles from factories to launching sites.

Logan Sargent, Local Retired Carpenter, Dies

Logan B. Sargent, 78 year old retired carpenter of Jacksonville, died at 8:50 a.m. Saturday following an extended illness. For many years Mr. Sargent lived at 503 South Clay avenue.

He was born in Morgan county Aug. 10, 1887 and spent his entire life in this community. Mr. Sargent was first married to Kate Farrington and they were parents of two children, both of whom survive their father, Dean Sargent of California and Mrs. Elizabeth Henderson of Alton. There are two grandchildren. Mrs. Sargent preceded the deceased in death.

POSTAL VEHICLE FLEET IN GREENE CITED FOR SAFETY

CARROLLTON—The Carrollton Post Office vehicle fleet was cited for meritorious safety performance Tuesday upon receipt of an award from the Chicago Regional Director of the Post Office Department. The citation was issued to postal installations with improved accident prevention records in the fiscal year 1965.

Postmaster J. F. Alfeld announced the news of the awards to his employees.

The body was taken to the Williamson Funeral Home where the family will meet friends 7 to 9 p.m. Monday evening. Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday at the funeral home with Rev. William J. Boston officiating. Interment will be in Ebenezer cemetery.

We fuss a lot!
Some mothers say Kinney makes too big a fuss over fitting children's shoes!

Our 71 years experience tells us we don't!

Sure we fuss a lot about fitting children's shoes. But we know, you, as parents wouldn't have it any other way. We measure both feet separately from heel to toe, then recheck for perfect fit. We call it our "Certifit Program." Of course, we fuss a lot about quality too. Shoes like our Nationally Advertised Educator Royals are the shoes people talk about when they say "They're out grown before they're out worn." Of course, that's because we give top craftsmen the finest materials to work with. So come on in and see the most complete selection of back-to-school shoes ever.

Armed Robber Eludes Law After Hold-Up At Rural Residence

An armed hold-up man, and an accomplice, who gained $2 in a hold-up of a rural Jacksonville man at his farm home Saturday morning, apparently eluded a maze of roadblocks and law officers from four counties and escaped.

State and county authorities went into action within minutes after Cliff Hamel, 23, of route two, reported he had been held at gunpoint in his home, located ten miles southwest of the city about 10:30 a.m.

Throughout the day Saturday, law officers combed the area east, west and south of Jacksonville, at times using a state police airplane, in an attempt to spot the car the two men escaped in.

Hamel said both men were between the ages of 45 and 50, and were dressed in old work clothes. He said the gunman who ordered him into a closet at his four-room home was wearing a felt hat, a red bandana around his face, and had on blue overalls with a blue chambray work shirt.

The second man, who stayed with the auto was described as being about 6-2, 160 pounds, with a cast on his right arm to his elbow.

The auto, authorities were searching for, was described as a 1957 four-door Nash station wagon, which was two-tone brown on the lower half and white on the top half.

The car was not bearing license plates, but had a license application sticker on the front windshield.

However, county authorities said there was no writing on the license application and the men may have removed it, and replaced license plates on their vehicle.

Hamel said he escaped from the closet in time to see the car head-off in a southeasterly direction toward the Lynnville-Woodson blacktop road.

Hamel disclosed he was returning to his home about 10:15 a.m. after watering his stock when he saw the car parked in front of his home.

Ashland Voters Okay $100,000 Bond Issue For Sewage System

Ashland voters Saturday approved a $100,000 general obligation bond issue which will finance improvements of the village sewer system by a total of 188 to 89.

The proposal, which was defeated previously in two separate elections, will include $28,000 in revenue bonds and a federal grant amounting to $49,000 for the town of 1,000 residents.

The total improvement is expected to run approximately $177,000 over a 20 year period.

The state sanitary water board has taken legal action against Ashland to end pollution of Little Indian creek.

Plan Ahead
The proposed sewer plans include a complete treatment plant adequate to take care of the sanitary waste from a population of 1350 people.

Ashland has been dependent on water from wells, and during recent dry spells, has been faced with severe water shortage.

According to the village board and Ashland authorities, approval of the bond issue will mean a tax increase and sewer usage charge.

Disapproval of the bond issue would have meant a forced issue of all revenue bonds by the state, a method which would have proved more costly to the sewer user.

Even though the average property owner and sewer users will pay both a tax increase and sewer usage charge under the proposed system, it would have been still more costly to pay the higher sewer usage rate as called for by issuing all revenue bonds.

Based on the 1964 equalized assessed valuation of the Village of Ashland, $2,445,430 property taxes will increase by 31¢ per $100 of equalized assessed valuation under the proposed plan.

The average property owner, with an equalized assessed valuation of $4,000 is expected to pay an additional $12.40 in taxes each year for a 20-year period.

Financing
To repay the $28,000 in revenue bonds, as well as operate and maintain the treatment plant, the sewer usage charge over a 30-year period has been estimated as follows: first $1,000 gallons of water used per month, $1.30 minimum bill, all over $1,000 gallons per month, 25¢ per 1,000 gallons.

Under the alternate plan, which would have gone into effect had the proposal failed, the first 1,000 gallons of water used per month would be $2.50 minimum bill, next 1,000 gallons per month 70¢ per 1,000 gallons, and over 4,000 gallons per month, 30¢ per 1,000 gallons.

Last year, when the bond issue failed a second time, the village had 402 water users.

Man Takes Life By Strangulation In Brown Jail

MT. STERLING—A series of unfortunate situations preceded the death by hanging of a sixty-year-old Mt. Sterling man late Friday afternoon. Brown County Sheriff Jim Busen found Guy F. Flynn, lifetime resident here, dead in his cell at the Brown County Jail at 4:45 p.m.

Local authorities answered a call at the Six Hotel here early Friday and took Flynn to the city jail on a charge of peace disturbance. A short time later the prisoner had to be transferred from the city jail after the mattress on his bunk was set afire. He was then taken to the Brown County Jail.

While arrangements were being made to drop the original charges against the prisoner, tentative to his acceptance at the Illinois Soldiers and Sailors Home in Quincy, the Sheriff was attending to needs of Flynn. Sheriff Busen took some medicine, prescribed by a local physician, to the prisoner at 3:30 p.m. When he checked again at 4:45 p.m. he found Flynn dead.

The deceased took his belt and looped it around a chain on the top bunk in his cell to fashion a make-shift noose. Flynn was found in a kneeling position and had only to stand erect to avoid suffocation. The Sheriff reported the deceased had not given any indication of taking his own life and seemed very pleased when informed he would be accepted at the Home in Quincy.

Flynn, a laborer, was born in Brown county Aug. 5, 1905, son of the late Henry E. and Rachel Crooks Flynn. He never married.

The following brothers and sisters survive, Henry, Mrs. Edna Long and Mrs. Emma DeWitt, all of Mt. Sterling; Richard of Monmouth; Harold, Fulton, Mo.; Mrs. Gladys Wegs and Mrs. Alta Deters, both of Quincy and Miss Alberta Flynn, Macomb.

The remains were taken to the Hufnagel Funeral Home where services are being held at 1 p.m. this afternoon. Rev. Glenn Manis will officiate and interment will be in Mt. Sterling City cemetery.

Lincoln Passes $600,000 Bond Vote For Pool

A $600,000 bond proposal, providing for a new swimming pool and recreation complex, was passed Saturday in a general election in Lincoln, Illinois.

A slim margin of eight votes, 1234 to 1216, supported the issue which will cover the cost of the pool, its site, and a multi-purpose recreation building with a capacity of over 400.

Passage of the bond proposal could act as a precedent from which the Jacksonville community may turn when further discussion of the local need for increased facilities is faced.

Supporters of the measure contended that passage at the present time was needed to avert future price increases in construction.

A site for the new facilities is not definite at the present time, but two locations are under consideration. Completion of the project is planned for next year's use.

The soaring demands of industry and speculation have made silver almost too precious to use in coins. Current price is $1.238 an ounce.

ENTERTAINED BY J. CAPPS & SONS, Ltd. — Luncheon guests of Mrs. Robert Capps of the Jacksonville Country Club were wives of five of the members of the sales force, who accompanied their husbands attending the semi-annual sales meeting, and wives of officers of the company. Seated left are Mrs. James Woods, Mrs. Sam Wickel, Logan, Utah; Mrs. Capps; Mrs. W. W. Adams, Okemos, Mich. Back row are Mrs. James Osteen, Nashville, Tenn.; Mrs. Clarence Maggart, Danville, Ill.; Mrs. Kenneth Barton, Ft. Scott, Kan.; Mrs. D. F. Pavlick, Mrs. W. T. Capps and Mrs. Sam Osborn.

The wives of sales representatives were entertained throughout the week, beginning Tuesday with a trip to New Salem, Wednesday, a luncheon with Mrs. Sam Osborn and later guests in the W. T. Capps' home, a Thursday luncheon at the Jacksonville Country Club, and that afternoon guests in the home of Mrs. Robert Capps for bridge, and Friday, a coffee at the company sales offices, later followed by a tour through the clothing factory.

Dedicate Salem Gym, Honor Pastor Rose In Ceremony Today

Today at 2:30 p.m. the congregation of the Salem Lutheran church and friends of Reverend Herbert C. Rose will join together to celebrate the fortieth anniversary of Reverend Rose's ordination.

During the regular Sunday services at 8 a.m. and 10 a.m. the new Salem Lutheran gymnasium will be dedicated.

The new gymnasium, which was recently completed at a cost of approximately $80,000, is equipped to accommodate the physical education program conducted by the parochial school.

The school also is competitive in basketball and other sports with other schools in the area.

Equipped with six basketball backboards and two shuffle boards, the new building also serves the school and church for social functions and Sunday school classrooms.

School plays and church activities can be accommodated by a stage built across the west end of the new building.

Fold-away bleachers provide the seating for all occasions.

The church has also recently completed a remodeling program which has provided a new organ and interior and exterior facelift, including a new roof and tuckpointing.

The addition of the new facilities created a need for additional parking area. This was made available by purchasing the property on the north side of Beecher between Mauvaises and the school.

The new lot has been surfaced and marked for parking. During the school year the new property is used as playground area.

Stepped In History
In September of 1858 the congregation was organized by Pastor Theodore Krauss. In the beginning the church was named "Salem Evangelical church."

The word "Lutheran" was absent because the founding pastor, Theodore Krauss, was not of the Lutheran church. He mysteriously disappeared on July 16, 1859, in Philadelphia, where he had gone in the hope of raising funds for the first church building in Jacksonville.

"One can only conclude that he became prey to a crime," said the report in the "Friedensbote" of that time.

In 1861 the first class of blind children was confirmed. In 1901 permission was granted for the deaf to hold services in church.

In 1941 the first service was broadcast over WJLS 1180 KC. The broadcasting of 10 o'clock Sunday services has continued ever since. On February 13, 1955, Reverend Herbert C. Rose was installed as pastor of the congregation.

Reverend Rose was born in Fort Wayne, Indiana, and received his elementary education at St. Paul's Lutheran School in Fort Wayne. In 1921 he graduated from Concordia College in Fort Wayne and graduated from Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, class of 1925.

Reverend Rose was ordained and installed in the parish of Warrenton and Jonesburg, Missouri. Here he served from 1925 until he was called to Flat River and Bonne Terre, Missouri, in 1940.

Installed at St. Paul's in Altamont, Illinois, in January, 1949, he served as pastor there until his call to Salem Lutheran.

Since his arrival in 1955, the Salem congregation has enjoyed a steady growth — the dedication of one of the finest parochial schools, remodeling and decorating of the church, including the installation of a new organ, the addition of a gymnasium and other school facilities, and enlargement and surfacing of the grounds.

Membership in 1955 was 773 souls, including 451 communicant members. The 1965 membership is 1,120 souls, including 750 communicants. School enrollment in 1965 - 125.

Reverend Rose has served the Lutheran radio station, KFUC, in St. Louis, once a month since 1927.

Lester Morris Dies Of Tetanus After Injury

Lester L. Morris, 62 years old, of Palmyra died at 7:45 a.m. Saturday at Passavant hospital as a result of injuries sustained in an elevator accident August 19.

Coroner John B. Martin stated that Morris died of tetanus following an injury to his left arm while he was changing heavy screen in the elevator of the Palmyra-Modesto Grain company where he was employed.

He had been a patient at the hospital since August 25.

He was born March 29, 1903, in El Reno, Oklahoma, son of Nathaniel and Eva L. Hillward Morris. He was married Oct. 31, 1949, and his wife, Mary Morris, survives.

Spink And Malone Named United Fund Co-Chairmen Of '65

Co-chairmen of the 1965 United Fund campaign James L. Malone and Robert E. Spink have announced that the drive for a $120,000 goal will begin in September and close October 15.

The fund drive is designed to aid eleven county youth, health and service organizations.

Professional fund director Al Jordan is again expected to pilot the campaign. He will arrive here September 7, and plans to kick-off the drive as soon as possible.

Professional fund director Al Jordan is again expected to pilot the campaign. He will arrive here September 7, and plans to kick-off the drive as soon as possible.

19th Drive For Spink
This year's campaign will be the 19th consecutive local drive for Spink who is presently a member of the United Fund Board. Spink, a lifelong resident of Jacksonville, and alumnus of Illinois College, has served for many years in local organizations.

He is a member and immediate past president of the Rotary Club, past chairman of both the Red Cross and Y.M.C.A. boards, and a former member of the school board and Passavant Memorial Area Hospital Board of Trustees. The Marine Corps veteran of World War II resides with his wife and four children at 220 Caldwell.

James L. Malone is starting his second year as co-chairman of the annual U.F. campaign. The father of five, Malone has had a accomplished record of service to the community in many capacities.

He has served as director of both the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce, the local Rotary chapter, and District Chairman of the Honest Abe District Boy Scouts of America. Malone has also held the post of vice chairman of the Jacksonville Building Commission, and is a veteran of W.W. II, service with the Marine Corps in the Pacific theater.

Big Brothers In
The board also accepted a finance sub-committee recommendation to include the Big Brother - Big Sister Association into the program. This will be the first time that the association has participated.

James L. Malone

Robert E. Spink

The board of directors of the county United Fund committee voted recently to permit slight increases in the budgeted allocations of the participating community service organizations. Despite increases in costs, no annual increase has been allowed in the past three years.

Karin Walsh Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Karin Walsh, managing editor-operations of the Chicago Sun Times, died unexpectedly here Friday night.

Walsh, 50, suffered an apparent heart attack at the Belmont Plaza Hotel. He was taken to the Madison Avenue Hospital, where he died at 12:30 a.m.

Walsh served as "dean" of the MacMurray college newspaper conference since its conception in 1953.

In 1964, MacMurray honored Walsh for his years of service in that capacity and presented him with a college chair.

He was taken to the hospital by his attorney, Henry Kalcheim, who had accompanied him on a business trip from Chicago.

Kalcheim said Walsh, noted for the accuracy of his pre-election polls, had arrived here Wednesday night to meet with New York newspapermen.

The lawyer said he understood Walsh was to have helped the New York newsmen set up a pre-election poll for the September municipal election.

He was advanced to the managing editorial position Sept. 1 last year after 22 years as city editor, first on the Chicago Daily Times, and when that newspaper and the Chicago Sun merged to form the present Sun-Times he continued in the vital tactical executive spot.

A Chicago native, he began newspaper work in 1935 on graduation from Northwestern University.

Walsh was president of the City News Bureau of Chicago, a cooperative local news gathering organization supported by the four major Chicago newspapers, advancing from vice president last year. He was a member of the continuing study committee of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association.

In 1946, for work with reporters John McPhaul and James McGuire which resulted in freeing Joseph Majczek from prison to which he had been sentenced for life for a murder he did not commit, Walsh participated in the Heywood Brown Award. He won the 1959 Marshall Field award for editorial excellence.

His widow is Mina Breau Walsh, and there are two sons, Buzz and Breau, and a daughter, Sheila.

There was no immediate announcement of plans for his funeral.

SEIZE HEROIN, OPIUM VALUED AT $223,000
SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Customs officers reported seizure of heroin and opium there valued at $223,000 in a raid on the Dutch freighter Straat Lombok in Sydney harbor Saturday.

The vessel arrived, carrying an Asian crew, from Singapore. Customs officials expressed the narcotics — 11 pounds of heroin and 6 of opium — were destined for the United States.

Mrs. William Jack Ryan

Mrs. Don C. English, Jr.

English-Romang

FRANKLIN — During a nuptial mass performed by the Reverend A. D. LeBreton at the Sacred Heart church in Franklin Saturday morning, August twenty-first, Kathleen Ann Romang of Franklin and Don C. English, Jr. of Murrayville, exchanged vows. Yellow roses were used at the church altar.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Romang of Waverly and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don English of Murrayville.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white peau de soie and Venice lace with a detachable train. Her silk illusion veil fell from a crown of peau and lace and she carried a cascade of stephono-tis and ivy centering a white orchid.

Miss Connie Jacques was the bride's maid of honor and Miss Pauline Reavy and Miss Janet English, sister of the groom, were bridesmaids. They wore gowns of autumn yellow crepe with white lace bodices. A satin rose with nose veil was worn as a headress by each and they carried cascades of yellow roses with leather leaf fern.

Rebecca and Mary Frances Romang, nieces of the bride, were flower-girls. They wore white organdy with yellow satin at the waistline. Bruce English, brother of the groom, and John Romang, nephew of the bride, were ring bearers.

Terry English served his brother as best man and Rick

English and Patrick Kennedy were groomsmen. Donald Romang, brother of the bride, Dan Schindler and Joseph Walker, were ushers.

The bride's mother wore French blue linen with matching color accessories and the groom's mother wore a coral silk knit with matching color accessories. Both wore corsages of white roses.

At the reception held in the church hall the following assisted, Mrs. Herb Smith, Mrs. Elmer Huyar, Mrs. Al Reich, Miss Ann Vaughn, Miss Sally Davis, Miss Jane Cox, Miss Mary Lou Shanahan, Miss Wanda Green, Miss Sue Danzl, Miss Theresa Jacques, Miss Denise Jacques, Miss Karen Anderson and Miss Becky Leorgan.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market returned to the winning column last week, encouraged considerably by President Lyndon B. Johnson.

The President's actions were credited to a great degree for sharp market rallies on Wednesday and Thursday. On the other days of the trading week the trend was so feeble that in some averages it amounted to a net decline.

The President's order for the $1.5 billion Orbital Space Laboratory spurred aerospace and electronic stocks to sharp gains on Wednesday.

On the following day the faltering steel stocks and a wide range of other cyclical issues began climbing.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 6.04 to 896.96. This brought it close once more to the psychological barrier of 900 which has been troublesome in the past.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 2.3 to 33.1. Of 1,557 issues traded last week, 844 rose and 709 fell.

Volume was 27,063,640 shares compared with 24,815,169 the previous week. This was the largest weekly volume since the week ended July 3 when 33.9 million shares changed hands.

Heavy trading in airlines which continued to rally on the continually surprising turnabout in profits from a year ago was a big feature of the week.

The big question in Wall Street was whether a nationwide steel strike could be averted by the deadline on Tuesday midnight. Allied with this question was that of how a labor agreement would affect profits of the steel corporations.

The economic backdrop to the market included news of a rise in the consumer price index, a gain in durable goods orders reported for July, a decline in weekly steel production, a rise in machine tool orders from a year ago but a decrease in July from June, and a census bureau forecast that consumer buying will be stepped up in the months ahead.

Prices in all three sectors of the bond market declined led by the steady downward drift of Treasury securities prices. It was the fourth straight week of declining prices for Treasury bonds.

On the corporate bond market effects of the Treasury declines were felt by the highly rated issues, such as utilities.

On the New York Stock Exchange during the week, 295 advanced in price, 186 declined and 111 were unchanged. Volume for the week totaled $65.34 million compared with $42.53 million a week ago.

FOUR MEN START 45-DAY EXPERIMENT

Carpenter reported some water had leaked into Sealab 2 around a port but said "this is a condition we can live with for a while."

There was little danger that a great amount of water would seep in. Sealab 2 is pressurized at slightly more than ocean pressure at that depth — 100 pounds per square inch, or about six times the pressure at sea level.

This is the excessive pressure Carpenter called damaging. He did not elaborate, but Navy officials said such extreme pressure forces atmospheric gases deep into human tissues. This can cause the crippling disease known as "the bends" unless divers take great care in decompressing slowly after they surface.

Before entering the water, Carpenter, a Navy commander and a veteran diver, said "I don't think it will be very hard to stay down 15 to 30 days. You can make this sort of thing as safe as you want to."

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (AP) — Receipts of 23,700 hogs in Chicago last week marked the heaviest run since mid June. Barrows, gilts and sows were 50 to 75 cents a hundredweight lower than the previous week.

The receipts compared with 18,300 a week earlier and 34,100 a year ago.

A lower carlot pork trade coupled with moderately increased receipts was the main bearish factor in the live trade.

Prices averaged $25.10 a hundredweight compared with $25.39 the previous week and $18.37 a year ago.

Cattle receipts in Chicago were 29,500 compared with 27,700 the previous week and 40,300 a year ago. At the 12 principal Midwest markets the week's supply of 212,700 head was the largest since January. It compared with 191,700 the previous week and 211,600 a year ago.

Slaughter steers and heifers closed mostly 25 to 50 cents a hundredweight higher with other classes unchanged.

Trading at the major terminals was fairly erratic. Most points reported a good advance early in the period in sympathy with an advance in the dressed beef trade. Late in the period, however, several markets recorded moderate declines.

Slaughter lamb prices at Chicago were mostly $1.00 lower.

Tropical Storm Picks Up Speed In Caribbean

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Tropical storm Betsy brushed past the Leeward Islands Saturday, picked up speed and forced an early end to the flight of Gemini 5.

Although still a weak storm, her forward speed of 21 miles an hour would push her too close to the Grand Turk splashdown area planned for 121 orbits.

Betsy's highest winds of 45 m.p.h. apparently did little, if any, damage as she whipped northwestward along the eastern edge of the Caribbean Sea.

Martique reported only showers and slight gusts as Betsy whipped very close to the island during the afternoon.

Gale warnings were flying at Dominica, Guadeloupe and the rest of the northern Leeward Islands and were ordered raised at Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands at midnight.

The Weather Bureau predicted Betsy would be centered about 200 miles east of Grand Turk Island at 5 p.m. Sunday.

Gales lashed out 250 miles to the northeast of the storm's center and she whipped up seas and lowered visibility beyond that.

GEMINI 5 AT-A-GLANCE

Splashdown — Tropical storm Betsy forced rescheduling of the Atlantic landing for 7:55 a. m. (EST) Sunday after a world-record 120 orbits in 190 hours and 55 minutes, one orbit short of the pre-flight schedule. The splashdown site is about 275 miles southwest of Bermuda.

Astronauts — Air Force Lt. Col. L. Gordon Cooper Jr., 38, and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Charles Conrad Jr., 35, started stowing equipment for retro-fire and re-entry.

Spacecraft — Christopher C. Kraft, flight director, said he is "extremely well pleased" with spacecraft's eight-day performance.

Experiments — Several photographic and visual acuity experiments were reinstated Saturday after being delayed by a maneuvering-fuel shortage. Fuel supply dropped to six pounds, with 4.8 pounds needed for retro-fire.

aboard the bus, only three of whom escaped injury.

The truck driver, Henry C. Gregory, 35, of Houston, was one of those killed.

The bus driver, Jeff Blankenship of Houston, was seriously injured. He spent several hours in surgery at a Beaumont, Tex., hospital. First reports that he was dead later proved erroneous.

The injured passengers were taken to hospitals in Lake Charles and Sulphur, La., and Orange, Tex. The three most seriously injured appeared to be Mott Musgrove, 13, of New Orleans, whose mother was among the dead; Ernest Campbell, 45, Fort Arthur, Tex.; and Juanita Vyes, 35, Birmingham, Ala.

The wreck occurred on the Old Spanish Trail — heavily traveled U.S. 90 near the Louisiana-Texas border.

The two vehicles met in the center of the highway, state police said.

Few of the passengers — many of whom were asleep — had any warning. Some of them, winners in a photo-service promotion contest, anticipated a happy, expense-paid weekend in New Orleans.

"I was sitting about the middle of the bus, and it seemed like all of a sudden the bus was trying to stop," recalled Willard Coleman, 47, Lake Charles. "Somebody hollered, 'Watch out.' From that point, I don't remember too much of anything."

Danny Daniels, 18, of Pascagoula, Miss., was thrown from the bus. He had to be restrained by police from re-entering the wreckage in search of his brother Terry, 12. Terry's body later was recovered.

One of the prize winners, C. P. Broussard, Port Arthur, Tex., was among the dead.

Six other winners were among the injured.

One person complained of injuries following a two-car accident on the east side of the public square about 4:53 p.m. Saturday.

Olivia Perry of 823 East State, a passenger in a car driven by Louis E. Perry, said she would consult a physician for treatment of neck pains following the crash.

Perry's car was struck by a vehicle, backing from a parking place, operated by Grace C. Wheeler of 459 Hardin.

Police cited Kathleen Wheeler of 701 Freedman with failure to reduce speed causing an accident following the incident about 7:51 p.m. Saturday at 735 Railroad.

Mrs. Winner told police that she had just pulled from her driveway when she saw an oncoming car, and attempting to re-enter her lane of traffic, struck a utilities pole.

ROODHOUSE FAMILY RETURNS FROM EASTERN VACATION

ROODHOUSE — Mr. and Mrs. William J. Locher and son, Barry, have returned from a two week vacation trip to the east. They spent a portion of the time at Williamsburg, Va., and Washington, D.C. Mr. Locher is manager of the local IGA Store.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Schaefer, Pratt, Kans., and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sitton, Ford, Kans., are expected to arrive in Roodhouse this week for a visit with the ladies' brother and wife, Dr. and Mrs. N. J. Bucklin.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hull, Wood River, were overnight visitors in the home of his mother, Mrs. Harvey Hull, Monday.

Louis Shell arrived here by plane from Ft. Smith, Ark., for a week's visit in the home of his cousin, Mrs. Fred Hull, and husband. While here he accompanied the Hulls to the State Fair.

Sara Hannaford city, and Mark McClenning, Beardstown, arrived in Roodhouse Wednesday from Chicago where they have been visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Hunt Jr., and children, Karen and Eric.

Sara and Mark were met in Springfield by her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Roodhouse of that city, and brought on to Roodhouse.

Clyde Holmes has returned from the Missouri Pacific hospital, St. Louis, Mo.

Miss Hester Barry, Indianapolis, Ind., is visiting her sister, Mrs. John W. Roberts, and son, Bill.

Rev. and Mrs. Howard Greenwalt, Wilmette, are spending some time in the home of his mother, Mrs. Bida Greenwalt, rural route. His father passed away recently.

Pope To Lead Procession Of Penance In Rome

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI will lead 2,500 bishops from around the world in a half-mile procession of penance through the streets of Rome Sept. 14 to open the fourth and final session of the Roman Catholic Ecumenical Council.

The pontiff announced the procession Saturday in an urgent appeal for Catholics everywhere to pray for success of the council and to join with their children and their suffering sick in worldwide ceremonies of penance.

The papal-led procession will sing praises to the Lord and carry the Church's zealously guarded relics of the Cross from Rome's Basilica of the Holy Cross of Jerusalem, where the relics are kept, to the Basilica of St. John Lateran, the Pope's seat as bishop of Rome.

The pontiff also announced that throughout the final council session the Blessed Sacrament will remain exposed in the Pauline Chapel of the Vatican's Apostolic Palace.

The announcements came in an apostolic exhortation as the fourth session of the four-year Vatican Council drew near.

Pope Paul said prayer was "the indispensable means" of assuring success of the worldwide Catholic assembly. He predicted "The council will have greater effect than we can estimate."

He said, too, that he hoped his invitation to prayer for success of the council would be "welcomed also by our brothers in other Christian communities."

The Vatican Council, convened by the late Pope John XXIII in October 1962, still has before it 11 topics, including three that touch upon sensitive areas outside Catholicism — religious liberty, relations with the Jews and other non-Christians, and problems of the modern world including birth control and nuclear warfare.

The Pope reiterated that the fourth session would be the last. It may finish its work by Christmas, but the load remaining is so heavy that some have said it might be recessed over Christmas and concluded next year.

Mrs. Utah Named Mrs. America

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Mrs. Utah, brown-haired, blue-eyed Alice Buehner, 34, was named Mrs. America Saturday night at the climax of the 1963 Mrs. America contest and pageant.

Mrs. Buehner of Salt Lake City, mother of six children and wife of Don L. Buehner, 36, was chosen by a panel of judges on the basis of such competitive events and stage presence.

She will receive $20,000 worth of prizes and trips, including an all-expense-paid three-week tour of Europe for herself and her husband.

First runner-up was Mrs. Georgia, Margaret Freeman, 45, of Aurora. Her husband is retired Air Force Col. Osco Freeman, 49. They have three children.

Second runner-up was Mrs. Georgia, Pat Turner, 34, of Swainsboro. Her husband, Felix, 34, is a Methodist minister. They have four children.

Mrs. Buehner was crowned by last year's Mrs. America, Desre Jenkins of Columbia, S.C.

In the air war against Communist North Viet Nam, U.S. Air Force and Navy planes, some flying in heavy rain, attacked bridges, military barracks and warehouses.

U.S. spokesmen said all planes returned safely.

A 100-truck supply convoy reached Ban Me Thuot 160 miles northeast of Saigon in the central highlands. That provincial capital had been cut off by the Viet Cong for six weeks. The convoy met no resistance in a 100-mile trip along Highway 21.

Student opposition to the military leadership in the South Vietnamese government appeared to be growing in Hue, the Buddhist and intellectual center about 50 miles south of the North Vietnam border.

About 500 students demonstrated for the fifth time in a week.

Teachers Are Appreciated

It is Back to School time again. Whether or not the children are ready to get back to their books and studies, we suspect there are a great many parents who will rejoice at the resumption of school activities.

Fortunately the Jacksonville schools have been refurbished during the summer, construction is well under way on the new High School Vocational Education building, and thanks to the favorable school referendum last year the financial condition of the district is better than it has been in several years.

Fortunately also the local system still has many dedicated teachers who comprise the intellectual heart of our schools. Of the 366 persons employed by District 117 there are 241 certificated teachers. We believe that most mothers and fathers of school-age children genuinely appreciate their efforts.

Recently a grade school teacher showed us a letter which she received from one mother at the close of school last year. We quote from it because we think it reflects the general feeling of the community:

"Dear (Name of teacher omitted)

Buddy finally finished his paper but what a time I had with him. I made him do it by himself with a lot of force. I do believe I would rather work a 10 hour a day job than go through that! How in the world can you stand it? All of the pressure and everything. I'm afraid I'd be in the State Hospital in less than a week if I had as many children to try to teach as you have.

"I didn't realize what you teachers have to go through. It is wonderful God put people like you on this earth. Here I gripe about how hard I have to work but believe me I don't think I will ever do that again.

"You earn every penny you make plus 3 or 4 times more. I really don't envy you one bit. God Bless all of you. Thank you for being so wonderful."

Omnipresent Tomato

In summer it is impossible to escape the tomato — and who would want to? This succulent vegetable is everywhere — on lunch counters and dinner tables, in picnic baskets and lunch boxes. And small wonder. Its versatility fits it for all types of menus and a great variety of concoctions.

The tomato asserts its individuality by being a fruit as well as a vegetable. It eats well hot, cold or at room temperature — salted, sugared or plain — dressed or undressed, or reduced to the juicy essence. One can stuff it, slice it, stew or pickle it, fashion it into a rosette, bury it in a sandwich, or eat it whole drippingly over the sink.

Not the least of the tomato's attractions is the fact that it is economical and easy to grow. The rankest back yard amateur can supply his table with home grown jewels. Anyone with a modicum of green on his thumb can produce giant globes. On top of all this, the tomato has the audacity to be both pretty and good for us. Bursting with vitamins A and C, it lends glamour to other foods by its colorful presence.

One does not brag if one belongs to the small group that doesn't relish tomatoes. One admits disliking them almost as hesitantly as one would admit disapproving of home and mother. Tomato non-eaters are a minority group without a champion, ignored even by the Great Society. We defend their rights — but we think they're wrong. We consider the tomato one of Nature's best gifts to

Sitting In A Wartime Cell In Tokyo You Can Learn Folly Of Censorship

By COL. RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON (NEA) — President Johnson should think a long time before he orders censorship in the Viet Nam war.

Censorship doesn't always serve the best interests of the United States.

The enemy must not get information that would help him win the war. But censorship always gets out of hand.

On Dec. 7, 1941, the Japanese in Tokyo put seven of us American correspondents in solitary confinement for six months.

During their "softening up" attempts they flaunted photographs of the damage they'd done to the United States fleet at Pearl Harbor.

Nine months later, when we former prisoners arrived in the United States, we learned that the information the Japanese had shown us about the destruction at Pearl Harbor was still being kept secret from the American people in the name of censorship.

We never learned why.

Once censorship is adopted, it balloons. The idea is to keep things from the enemy that he can use against us. Soon every official realizes that any political, economic and military fact is helpful to the enemy.

Information of political differences helps him. Knowledge of student demonstrations, strikes, economic inflation, steel production, civil rights marches or governmental mistakes in Saigon or Washington "obviously helps the enemy."

Does it help Hanoi to know that the Buddhists and Catholics are vying against each other in Saigon? Yes! Does it help Hanoi to know about the Los Angeles riots and youth attempts to stop trains? Yes!

So where does censorship end? After six months of daily 12-hour interrogations by three-man police "investigator" teams in a cell at Nishi Sugamo Prison in Tokyo, the Japanese convicted me of "sending information to the United States which could be used against the national defense of Japan."

The evidence consisted of news dispatches sent the Wall Street Journal in New York.

The Japanese argued that these (primarily economic) articles sent before Pearl Harbor gave information to the American people that would be helpful in fighting Japan.

It did no good to say to the Japanese Justice Department prosecutor that by his definition any accurate news report on economic or political matters would be "useful" in time of war.

When I suggested the law was so written that even the prime minister of Japan could be put into jail because information in his public announcements would be "useful" to the United States, the prosecutor said:

"You are quite right."

Viet Nam is a political-economic propaganda — military struggle.

No human being could write precise rules for this situation. Censors would gradually have wide latitude. They could censor more rather than less to be "safe."

Our mistakes — and "embarrassing incidents" — soon would come under censorship.

Americans then would have little knowledge on which to base decisions on Viet Nam.

Washington Housewife Has Message For Viet Red Ho Chi Minh

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON (NEA) — This letter came in the morning mail. To me it represents a woman's services, etc., made it curately the feelings of most Americans in this time of war.

"Dear Mr. Cromley:

Your July 26 column in the Wichita Falls (Texas) Record News said Ho Chi Minh's experience leads him to believe that severely cutting up U.S. units will bring heavy statewide pressure to end the war. That he sees no difference between the French and the Americans.

"Mr. Cromley, I am terrified at the thought of my husband's going to war, or of my children suffering either as the Vietnamese children did, or the children of Hiroshima — the ones who lived.

"Yet, if I read in the papers of American units undergoing torture in capture or being wiped out in battle, my reaction would not be to ask for armistice.

"Why? I don't know. But I would say, send more men and equipment, plan better strategy, and please don't take my husband. Then if he went, I would not like it, but I still couldn't say to stop until we won.

"Tell that general that the average American is going to take news of United States units being clobbered just like they really took the news of Russia's first satellite.

(One U.S. general was quoted as saying he was worried about Nam war to help save what they what the U.S. public reaction believe in would be when the first United States unit was badly cut up by the Viet Cong.)

"Remember how Drew Pearson and the national magazines, news services, etc., made it sound then as if the average American was about to expire of despair — just after he had begged Russia to take over the country?

"Ole Drew's O.K. at times, but he was slightly off about the real feeling of the American people. The people I knew said 'Well, now, I guess we'll just have to go to work and show 'em.' Good, maybe this will wake them up in Washington and we'll get something done now."

"They didn't like the United States being behind, but they weren't near ready to give up.

"Tell the generals for me, and Ho Chi Minh too, that we hate war and that is exactly why we want to win the one in South-east Asia.

"Lots of us think if we don't we'll just have more of it."

"Sincerely, An American housewife."

The marches on Washington, the sit-ins, the teach-ins and other "get out of Viet Nam" demonstrations hit the headlines regularly.

But there are in the United States millions of not-so-ordinary "ordinary" men and women who with courage in their hearts and understanding in their minds are ready to go through the agony of a 10-year-old Viet Nam war to help save what they what the U.S. public reaction believe in

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — New network, new cast, new hue. But "My Three Sons" promises the same chucklesome, male-oriented comedy for the coming television season.

"We'll be back in the same groove," assured Fred MacMurray, leader of the masculine household which provided ABC with a high-rated series for five years.

Come September, "My Three Sons" will be back at its same time slot, this time under the watchful eye of CBS. And in color, no less. There will still be three sons, but aging Tim Considine, 25, has been married off to Meredith Macrae; both will disappear into limbo.

The new son is Barry Livingston, 11, brother of the now-middle son, Stanley Livingston, 14. Don Grady, 21, has been promoted to No. 1 son.

"So we're back where we started," MacMurray reported. "Don carries the romantic interest, as Tim used to do. Now Stanley is starting to date girls, and Barry plays the kid."

William Demarest will continue as a replacement for Bill Frawley, forced off the show in midseason last year because of illness.

MacMurray takes the changes calmly, as he does everything else. He didn't even seem greatly upset over losing his summer vacation. He did 15 segments of the series, then reported to Walt Disney for the appropriately titled "Follow Me, Boys." He'll return to the series directly afterward.

"The addition of color hasn't changed things much," he observed. "Oh, I've got to be a bit more careful about what I wear. And we had to spruce up the set a bit; we didn't realize how dowdy it looked until we saw it on color film. The scenes take a little bit longer to light, but otherwise we just keep rolling along."

FINDING THE WAY

Tragedy of Compromise

By RALPH W. LOWE, D.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"If they pay, we'll dance."

This classic bit of cynicism was expressed by Richard Burton in the course of making a movie which seems to be bad from every point of view. He'd had a disagreement with the director. Being a dramatic artist, he does know good art. But there was that tune of jingling cash, $1.7 million for him and Elizabeth. So they danced. Is that the way it always is?

Unfortunately, that's true for too many. The flagrant willingness of men and women in our profession to do anything for publicity or power or money is too common to need documentation. We have all kinds of bands in our affluent society and many willing dancers.

Rebecca West, in her study of the meaning of treason, has analyzed this willingness to dedicate self to these false gods.

The command to worship the one God and one god only demands a kind of single-mindedness that these dollar-chasers cannot understand. The worship of false gods is not only the ceremony of bowing down before a golden calf; it is also a prostitution of self, of time or of talent for self-centered satisfaction.

In this same society there are the dedicated scientists who give themselves completely for a goal in research. There are scholars who continue to teach at a particular school or university because they have a sense of commitment. There are young clergymen who work in slum areas and among the underprivileged because they have a sense of vocation.

A few months ago, I tried to attract a young man to a certain position. Instead, he is working in a "store-front church" in Brooklyn, believing that that is his immediate and present vocation.

Vocation, in the finest sense of the word, is discovering the way by which our talents and energies can be used in the pursuit of excellence. We are called to be godly and that can be shared in a variety of ways. There is no sacred or secular calling. The will of God can be discovered in the job of the moment.

Centuries ago, St. Paul made an aside concerning his busy career. "For me to live is Christ," he said. He was identifying the tune!

That is what every man must do. We all share in some dance, but we can determine the beat. That's why it is a tragedy when a man of the artistic possibilities of a Richard Burton decides to do anything for the jingle of the coin.

It's as great a tragedy when any one of us compromises our values in the small decisions of every day. Before we know it, we are the trained seals barking for a fish.

Who calls the tune for your dance?

The Mature Parent The Adopted Child

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: We adopted our daughter 15 years ago when she was one month old. This week she finally said what I've always known she would say. We've been having arguments over late hours and when I told her she would have to keep her promises to be home from dates at the times we'd agreed on, she turned on me and said: "You're not my real mother! Who are you to tell me what to do?" Please help me. When I think of what I have given this girl...

ANSWER: You'd better do a lot more thinking about it.

Because when we really know the value of what we've given a child, we don't mind if he calls us a "bad" mother, an "unreal" one or any other kind of mother. Though we may feel momentary hurt, the worth of that giving becomes instantly alive to us, so real that the hurt soon passes.

Of the adopted child who has called us her "unreal" mother, we can only think, "Oh, darling, that 'real' mother of yours housed you resentfully for only nine months. But I, the 'unreal' one have housed you lovingly for 15 years. So, if it's 'unreal' I am to you, that's fine with me."

Then we'd be ready to say to the adopted child: "Have you been wondering about your real mother, wondering if I've told disparage it."

you all I know about her? If so, let me make an appointment for you with the adoption agency that gave you to Daddy and me so that you can ask them questions that are on your mind."

In adolescence, sex feelings in adopted children intensify interest in their physical parents. What they really want is reassurance of the trustworthiness of their adoptive parents.

Suspicion of our reliability is characteristic of all adolescents. If we've an adopted daughter, 15, who is questioning our reliability with disparaging comparisons to her "real" mother, it is sensible to put her in touch with that adoption agency that can confirm our truthfulness.

What concerns me about your letter is what you say about "always" knowing that this girl would disparage you.

It tells us that you yourself have been living with a good deal of doubt of your worth of her. It's one thing to say: "When I think of what I have given this child who has hurt me, I think it is quite another thing to so appreciate your giving that the whole world could call you an 'unreal' mother and you wouldn't bat an eye. It's the absence of your own respect for the reality of the motherhood you have given this girl which is the true problem here. If it isn't real to you, it can't become real to the child. She can only do what you do mother, wondering if I've told disparage it."

American Menu Soft Margarine Makes Hit

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—A friend says there's a new soft-type margarine that comes in a little tub. Do you know anything about it?

A—Yes, there is such a new product. It contains a high percentage of liquid safflower oil and therefore has a soft consistency. It spreads readily on bread or toast right from the refrigerator or even the freezer.

Unlike most margarines, this soft-type comes packed in little plastic tubs, two to a pound. Editor's Note—Chiffon is the brand name of the product, manufactured in Jacksonville by the Foods Division of Anderson Clayton and Company. Chiffon is the first such margarine of its kind and now accounts for more than 50 per cent of the total margarine production at the Jacksonville plant.

Q—I have more tomatoes from my garden than I can use. Can I freeze them?

A—Freeze them as juice or stewed, not as whole, fresh, ripe tomatoes, which do not freeze well. Use these directions for freezing:

For Juice — Wash, sort and trim vine-ripened tomatoes. Cut in quarters or eighths, and simmer 5 to 10 minutes. Press through a sieve. Season with one teaspoon salt to each quart of juice. Pour into freezing containers with wide top opening, allowing one-inch space at top of each quart. Seal and freeze.

Stewed Tomatoes — Remove stem ends, peel and quarter ripe tomatoes. Cover and cook until tender (10 to 20 minutes). Place pan containing tomatoes in cold water to cool. Pack into wide-topped freezing containers, leaving one-inch head space per quart; 1/2-inch per pint. Seal and freeze.

Dear Ann:

Leaning Toward Wife's Family Puzzling

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Will you please tell me, why, when a couple gets married, the bride takes her husband's name? After the wedding the groom's family may just as well disappear from the face of the earth because they are never heard from again. Why doesn't the groom take the bride's name and at least take the bride's name and be done with it?

Sunday suppers are always with the wife's family. When the grandchildren have birthdays, it is always the wife's mother who is right in the front with HER cake, HER gift, HER party favors and HER camera.

This is not a letter from a bitter mother, although I admit it has happened to me three times. I am speaking for at least a dozen friends who are also mothers of sons. —PUZZLED, HURT AND DISGUSTED

Dear P.H. and D.: What you say is true enough, although each of us knows exceptions.

Perhaps the newly-married couple lean toward the wife's family because the wife makes the social plans and she is closer to her mother-in-law than to her mother-in-law.

If anyone knows a better answer please send it on. I'd like to hear it.

Dear Ann Landers: Can anything be done about a husband who refuses to keep his part of a bargain? After ten years of marriage we found ourselves up to our ears in debt. I agreed to go back to work if my husband would help me out around the house.

I really loved being home and considered it a sacrifice to go back to an office job, especially since it meant enlisting my children's help with our three children.

Fact

The word gladiator means "swordsmen" since it comes from the Latin gladius, or "sword." At exhibitions in ancient Rome as many as 300 pairs fought at one time before the Roman emperors. Contrary to the popular view, some historians hold that spectators who wanted the death of a defeated gladiator turned their thumbs toward the chest as a signal for stabbing; those who wished mercy turned thumbs down as a signal to drop the sword.

No mention was made of marriage which suited me fine because I was dating others and Dean was never a guy who pushed for heavy romance. I'm 23 now and still playing the field. Last night I heard that Dean and a mousy little blonde have announced their engagement. This news knocked me out. I realize I care for Dean more than I thought. I'm sure if he knew he stood a chance with me he'd break off with the Mouse.

Basketball Team Takes Gold Medal

BUDAPEST (AP) — American basketball team won gold medal in 10-day student Olympics. America made it eight straight for an undefeated record in basketball, beating Russia 71-60 in the final. The issue never was really in doubt, but the Soviet team was much more poised and effective than it was Thursday, when the U.S. squad rolled over the Russians 81-38.

Pennel's first and the basketball victory pushed the U.S. gold medal total to 14, even with Hungary. Russia cashed in handsomely with five golds, 4 in track and one in women's basketball, for a total of 11 with one day to go in these 10-day student Olympics.

Geiberger Holds 5 Stroke Lead

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Skinny Al Geiberger stood strong against wind, rain and cold Saturday to take a five-stroke lead after the third round of the $100,000 American Golf Classic with an amazing 35-69 and a two-under-par total of 208.

The 6-foot-2½, 163-pound Geiberger started the third round in a tie with Bobby Nichols. Geiberger shot into the lead when Nichols bogeyed the first three holes of the back nine and then stretched his advantage with a birdie 3 on the 14th hole.

Rain accompanied by 35-mile-an-hour winds and 55-degree weather sent most scores soaring, but Geiberger didn't blow up or blow away in his drive for the top prize of $20,000.

Only Geiberger and Johnny Pott were able to conquer the adverse conditions, while Arnold Palmer, Bob Charles, Mason Rudolph, Jack Rule Jr. and Canadian George Knudson fell victim to the massive Firestone acres and the demanding par of 35-70.

Pott, the first-round co-leader with a 68 who jumped to 78 Friday, came back with a 36-33-69 and 215 total.

Only Geiberger and Pott broke par, while the closest any others came were 72s by Tony Lama, Julius Boros and Pete Brown.

Nichols did one of the fastest fades of the day. He took the lead after the first hole, when Geiberger bogeyed and boosted his advantage to two strokes.

Connecticut Team Takes LL Title

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Windsor Locks of Connecticut won the 1965 Little League World Series Saturday with a 3-1 victory over the Canadian invader, Stoney Creek.

First baseman Dale Misiek, a 5-foot-10, 180-pounder and the biggest player in the series, provided the winning margin in the fourth inning with a two-run homer. He entered the series batting .450 but had had only one single in six previous trips to the plate before his homer.

Mike Roche, a right-hander who was tough in the clutch, allowed only three hits and struck out 14. The only run he permitted was in the second and it was unearned because of a throwing error.

An estimated crowd of 20,000 watched the Connecticut team win the world championship in its first try.

Joe Palango allowed only five hits, but Windsor Locks got all its runs in the fourth inning for the victory.

Tiny Walt (Dub) Kilgo pitched a three-hitter and drove in one run, leading Waco, Tex., to a 5-1 consolation victory over Jeffersonville, Ind., and third place in the Little League competition.

Other final team standings in the five-day tournament are: Maracaibo, Venezuela, fifth; Tokyo, Japan, sixth; Phoenix, Ariz., seventh, and Rota, Spain, eighth.

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — Danny LaRose, out of work after four years in the National Football League, is job hunting with the Baltimore Colts.

The former end from the University of Missouri recently was cut by the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Eddie Arcaro won the Jockey Club Gold Cup 10 times.

Seven Ways To Seventy

By Dave Marr
PGA Champion

STEP 1 — PHYSICAL (Written for Newspaper Enterprise Association)

Golf is a game where a man puts a ball 1½ inches in diameter atop another ball 8,000 miles in diameter with the object being to hit only the smaller of the two.

Interlocking

Almost everyone can do it but almost everyone can also do it better.

Even touring professionals continually dissect their games, tear old habits apart and substitute new ones which, hopefully, are the better to fashion par with.

The grip, for instance, is a common foe. Don't let it grab you. If yours is wrong, awkward or uncomfortable, have the courage to change it. Give it a go.

Baseball

Basically, there are three popular golf grips to consider — the overlap or Vardon, the 10-finger or baseball and the interlocking grip (little finger, forefinger). Which is best? Well, Art Wall uses the 10-finger. Jack Nicklaus the interlocking and Arnold Palmer the overlap. Anyone want to argue with them?

Wynn's Homer Gives Houston 9-6 Triumph

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Jim Wynn's three-run homer and Dave Giusti's relief pitching led the Houston Astros to a 9-6 victory over Pittsburgh Saturday that snapped the Pirates' seven-game winning streak.

Trailing 6-4, the Astros went ahead to stay in the seventh inning of the see-saw battle.

Lee Maye doubled and Joe Morgan walked with none out. Don Schwall then relieved Don Cardwell, and Wynn hit his first pitch over the left-field scoreboard for his 18th homer.

Giusti pitched the last three innings, retiring all nine Pirates he faced. He also stroked a two-run single in the ninth.

BOUDREAU SHOWS THE YOUNGSTERS HOW IT'S DONE

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Lou Boudreau, 48, retired as an active baseball player 13 years ago but the former Cleveland star still has that oldpower.

Boudreau, Chicago Cubs sportscaster, outdid six of the leading sluggers in baseball to win a home run contest before Friday's game between the Cubs and Braves.

Boudreau belted two homers and none of the six active entrants hit more than one. They included: Eddie Mathews, Joe Torre and Henry Aaron of the Braves and Ernie Banks, Billy Williams and Ron Santo of the Cubs.

RECALL BEARNARTH

NEW YORK (AP) — Relief pitcher Larry Bearnarth was recalled by the New York Mets from their Buffalo International League farm club Friday and will report to the Mets Sept. 2.

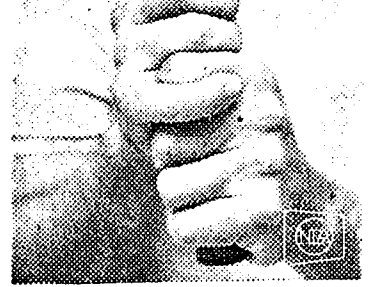

The right-hander had a 3-3 record in 38 appearances with the Mets this season.

Infielder Ken Hamlin of the Washington Senators broke into the major leagues with Pittsburgh in 1959.

Try each grip. Pick the one which feels as if your hands are a part of the club.

Regardless of which you choose, however, here is the basic position of the hands during any club swing: take it with the left hand, the back of which must face the direction of flight. The club runs diagonally from the first finger up into the palm of the hand. The thumb is extended straight down the shaft.

The right hand comes up as if to shake hands — be friendly, you don't want the club as an enemy. Again, the club runs from the first finger of the right hand to the puffy pad on the heel of the palm.

Overlap

Grab the instrument as you would Sophia Loren. Gently but firmly. This is a romance you want to blossom.

Athletic Heads Sing Old Song Of Arbitration

WASHINGTON (AP) — The top officials of the battling big two powers governing U.S. track and field affairs agreed Friday to meet and try to settle the row themselves.

They said they would announce later where and when the peace talks would be held, promising Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., who engineered the agreement — that the talks would be held before Wednesday. It will be their first face-to-face effort to talk it out in more than two years.

The new peace move came as a surprise in the final minutes of a Senate Commerce Committee investigation in which the senators sought ways to bring about a lasting peace between the Amateur Athletic Union and the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Nicholas Rodis, a spokesman from the Johnson administration, had just testified that the government Interagency Committee on International Athletics, which he heads, sees a "direct and dramatic evil" in the bitter fight.

Cannon sprang his demand for peace talks as a spur-of-the-moment surprise. He asked whether the presidents of the feuding groups "as men of good will" would agree to meet and "see if you can come up with a solution."

Cannon specified this should be done before the Senate committee meets Wednesday to consider what report and recommendations to make to Congress.

AAU's president, Clifford H. Buck said he was willing. Walter Byers, executive director of NCAA, said yes in behalf of that organization's president, Everett D. Barnes, who had left the city.

This was in the form of a telegram produced by Byers reporting that the AAU was threatening to withdraw 75 noncollegiate athletes under its jurisdiction from the first annual Santa Monica Chamber of Commerce invitational meet scheduled for Saturday if the NCAA-sponsored U.S. Track and Field Federation was allowed to sanction the participation of college student athletes in the competition.

It was another manifestation of the boycotting tactics in which each side has been threatening to disqualify and bar from competition athletes under its jurisdiction if they broke its boycott.

PAIGE TO MANAGE ANCHORAGE CLUB

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Satchel Paige, the indelible pitcher of the baseball world, announced Thursday night that he will organize and manage the new Anchorage Earthquakes baseball team.

Paige, a veteran of 40 years in baseball as a pitcher, said he will be a playing manager.

The Earthquakes, to be formed along the same lines as the non-pro Goldpanners of Fairbanks, became a reality only last week with the appointment of Bob Allaman as general manager.

Paige said he also will consider making Anchorage his permanent home.

Jean Ashley Cops Women's Amateur Golf

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Jean Ashley rallied from a three-hole deficit on the back nine Saturday and defeated three-time champion Mrs. Anne Quast Welts 5 and 4 in their scheduled 36-hole final match for the 65th U.S. Women's Amateur Golf Championship.

Miss Ashley, 26, a Chanute, Kan., native now teaching school in Colorado Springs, Colo., took a 1-up lead on the first nine, fell three down at the 19th hole, but never lost a hole after that.

Senators Rally For 3 In Ninth, Top Birds 5-4

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jim King's two-run single in the ninth inning capped a three-run rally that gave Washington a 5-4 victory over Baltimore Saturday.

The Senators, who had led from the second inning, fell behind 4-2 in the top of the ninth when the Orioles erupted for three runs. The first run came on Ed Brinkman's two-out, bases-loaded boggle and the other two on Paul Blair's single.

But the Senators struck back quickly. Willie Kirkland doubled and scored on Woodie Held's single. Washington then loaded the bases on John Orsino's throwing error and Don Zimmer's single.

King went up to hit for Brinkman, and Harvey Haddix relieved Dick Hall. King singled to left-center field for two runs.

Robinson, Berry Power Chisox To 5-3 Margin

CHICAGO (AP) — Floyd Robinson drove in three runs with a triple and two singles and Ken Berry slugged a two-run homer Saturday to power the Chicago White Sox to a 5-3 victory over Boston.

Juan Pizarro got credit for his third victory in four starts since coming off the disabled list July 27, but needed help when the Red Sox rallied in the ninth.

Hoyt Wilhelm came on with the bases loaded and one out, and was greeted by a two-run single by pinch hitter Lee Thomas. But he got Felix Mantilla to hit into a game-ending double play.

Robinson singled across a run in the first inning and broke a 1-1 tie with a two-run triple in the fifth. Berry's homer, following John Romano's single, helped knock out loser Jim Lonborg in the sixth. Lonborg now is 9-15.

Dark Outlines New A's Post

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Alvin Dark said Saturday his new job as administrative assistant to Kansas City A's owner Charles O. Finley is something like Eddie Stanky's with the New York Mets. Finley said Dark "will report to no one but me."

Dark, who managed the San Francisco Giants four seasons and won the National League 1962 pennant, said "As far as I'm concerned I'm through managing."

Finley, however, left the door open when asked about Dark's future with the A's. Finley put it this way:

"I've told you what my duties are the rest of the season. He'll follow the club every day, get an idea of what talent we have and possibly scout other clubs. What he might do in the future, I don't know myself. As for next season, Haywood Sullivan has a contract to manage and that's all I can say."

Dark approached Finley for a job 10 days ago while still coaching for the Chicago Cubs. The 43-year-old Dark explained he felt his 14 years as a major league shortstop, four years as a manager and one as a coach, "gave me a few insights into the game."

He drew the comparison with Stanky, his former teammate with the Boston Braves and Giants, in explaining his duties. Asked whether "super scout" might be a good description, Dark said "No, that's just a Giants term."

AAU-NCAA Map Peace Conference

WASHINGTON (AP) — After more than two years of feuding since the collapse of a truce, the officials governing U.S. track and field affairs finally are going to get together and talk peace.

They announced no date for the confrontation, but well-placed sources said it probably would be held Tuesday, and not necessarily in Washington.

Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., fed up with the off-and-on jurisdictional battling between the Amateur Athletic Union and National Collegiate Athletic Association almost literally compelled them Friday to agree to sit down and talk of permanent peace.

Together the two groups rule U.S. amateur sports with rival iron hands.

NCAA's jurisdiction covers college athletes—about 90 percent of those in active competition. AAU's realm is the non-college athletes.

Each group has been boycotting open meets of the other in a fight over NCAA's demands for equal power to sanction AAU competition. They have backed the boycotts with threats to banish from competition their subordinate athletes who break or have defied the boycotts.

The threatened reprisals have upset the young men and women athletes. And witnesses told the Senate Commerce Committee this could drastically weaken U.S. teams in international competition, including the 1968 Olympic Games.

The peace talks were forced in the public setting of the committee's investigation of the row, where neither side could have said no gracefully. Cannon demanded an immediate answer whether presidents of the two groups "as men of good will" would hold a peace talk. Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., backed Cannon in the plan.

They demanded a report on the peace effort by Wednesday. The Senate committee is to meet them behind closed doors to consider what steps to recommend to Congress to require a settlement if one can't be reached voluntarily.

Neither senator seemed highly optimistic as to what the results might be, but they said in separate interviews they figure two years without a face-to-face peace meeting seems a long, long time.

Committee members seemed to lean toward a proposal by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., that the federally chartered U.S. Olympic Committee create a permanent arbitrating board to handle this and any future such rows.

The Olympic Committee showed no relish for the arbitration task but offered its services for mediation.

Jackson, Cisco Shutout Giants For 3-0 Victory

NEW YORK (AP) — Galen Cisco and Al Jackson collaborated on a six-hitter and Roy McMillan drove in two runs with a pair of singles, leading the New York Mets to a 3-0 victory over San Francisco Saturday night that handed the Giants their fifth loss in the last six games.

The defeat dropped the Giants into third place, 2½ games behind the National League-leading Los Angeles Dodgers.

Cisco, making his first start in two weeks, reinjured his ailing shoulder after scattering five hits over the 5-2-3 innings. Jackson came on, allowed only one hit the rest of the way, and struck out six while preserving Cisco's fourth victory against eight losses.

Mays Wages War On NL Pitchers

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Mays, a peacemaker during the brawl that marred San Francisco's 4-3 conquest of the Los Angeles Dodgers Sunday, is waging a full-scale war against National League pitchers that is liable to carry the Giants to the championship.

The veteran outfielder has walloped 14 home runs this month, two short of the NL mark for a month set by Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh in 1949 and four less than the major league record established by Rudy York of Detroit in 1937.

Mays also has homered in six straight games, advancing to within two of the big league standard for consecutive games set by the Pirates' Dale Long in 1956.

Mays boosted his pace-setting total to 38 Sunday shortly after Giant pitcher Juan Marichal clubbed John Roseboro, the Dodger catcher, over the head with a bat. San Francisco trails the leading Dodgers by only one percentage point.

Mays also increased his chances of winning the batting title in last week's games. He collected nine hits in 24 tries, gained four points to .325 and climbed to within nine points of the leader, Pittsburgh's Roberto Clemente. The latter fell four points to .334 with a 5-for-20 performance. Hank Aaron of Milwaukee, the runner-up, hiked his average two points to .331 with 10 safeties in 28 trips.

Deron Johnson of Cincinnati continues to lead in runs batted in. He had two RBI last week and lifted his total to 97.

In the American League, Carl Yastrzemski of Boston leads Baltimore's Brooks Robinson by five points in the batting competition. Yastrzemski slumped six points to .325 last week, managing only seven hits in 28 attempts. Robinson dropped three points to .320 with four hits in 16 tries.

Minnesota's Tony Oliva held third place. He picked up one point to .311 by collecting eight hits in 24 times at bat. Vic Davalillo, Cleveland, advanced two places to fourth as a result of an 8-for-21 showing that boosted his average five points to .305. Al Kaline, Detroit, is fifth at .299. The figures include Sunday's games.

Willie Horton of Detroit took over the AL home run lead. He slammed three last week, giving him 26 for the campaign. Cleveland's Rocky Colavito is the pace-setter in RBI with 64.

PEKIN WOMEN TAKE ANOTHER SOFTBALL WIN

STRATFORD, Conn. (AP) — Pekin, Ill., ousted New Haven, Conn., 6-1 in the Women's World Softball Tournament contests Friday.

The game was rained out Thursday night.

Lorene Ramsey of Pekin limited New Haven to seven hits in posting her fourth victory in five tourney starts.

The winners tallied twice in the opening frame, enough to win, on two infield hits, a pass and a fielder's choice.

Outfielder Lou Johnson, 31, of the Los Angeles Dodgers, has played with the Chicago Cubs, Los Angeles Angels and Milwaukee Braves. He has been with 15 different minor league teams.

FBFM Tour Features High Corn Yields, Forage Utilization

Nearly 500 visitors are expected at the north-central Illinois farm management tour of two farms in Stark and Marshall-Putnam counties Friday, Sept. 3.

University of Illinois farm management specialist D. F. Wilken has announced that the Lester and James Leigh farm near Sparland and the Gerald Kieser farm near Camp Grove have been selected for the 1965 tour. These farms have been chosen because they demonstrate high corn yields and maximum use of forages, Wilken says.

The morning stop will be at 10 a.m. on the Leigh farm seven miles west of Sparland on Illinois 17 and then one mile south. Farm Adviser Don McLaughlin and Farm Bureau Farm Management fieldman John Burns will lead the tour. Wilken will also be present to answer questions.

The 400-acre Leigh farm features the use of farm records to study performance of a 130-liter-per-year hog enterprise. The system includes central farrowing and pasture finishing for hogs.

Use SPF Hogs
When feed costs began to creep up because of disease, the father-and-son partners changed the antibiotic level in feeds and began to use SPF breeding stock. Wilken says. "The fortified SBOM ration they use is mixed on the farm through a roller mill."

The Leighs also make a close check to find out which hybrid corn varieties do best for them. They emphasize varieties that perform well at high plant populations and on soils with high fertility levels. Their corn yields have consistently averaged more than 120 bushels per acre.

Visitors to the Leigh farm will also hear about their low-cost conversion of ear-corn storage to shelled-corn storage and their experiences with supplemental heat-drying.

Profit Level Raised
The combination of corn and hog production on the Leigh farm has increased production returns an average of $20 per acre per year with an increase of only $6 per acre a year in costs.

After lunch on the farm, the tour moves to the Kieser farm, located seven miles west of the Leigh farm, or two miles south and 3 1/2 miles west of Camp Grove. Stark County farm adviser John Ellis and Farm Bureau Farm Management fieldman Arthur Pille will lead this tour on 240 acres of top-quality land.

Since 1960 Kieser has averaged 25 percent more returns in his feeder cattle operation than the average of similar farms for each dollar of feed fed. His system puts to use six-ton-per-acre alfalfa yields. A haylage program includes the use of Flemish varieties, a gas-

American Legion Queen To Reign At Bluffs Picnic

BLUFFS — For the third year the naming of Miss American Legion will be the major attraction of the annual Bluffs American Legion and Auxiliary Fun Picnic which will be held Saturday, September 18.

Candidates will again be sponsored by organizations and business houses in Bluffs and will be judged on talent as well as beauty. Any young lady, 13 through 19 years of age, will be eligible to enter when sponsored. Business houses or organizations can enter the candidate of their choice by filling out the proper form and leaving it with Leah Jones.

Commander Robert Lovekamp has named Mrs. Jones as chairman of entertainment. Already scheduled is a parade with Mrs. June Nunes in charge. Mrs. Nunes and her committee have announced that the parade will start at 1 p.m. and will feature the queen contestants, bands, floats, saddle clubs. Those wishing to enter the parade may contact Mrs. Nunes.

Committees appointed by Commander Lovekamp are: Entertainment, Mrs. Leah Jones; Advertising, Russell Albers, Merle Scott, Leah Jones and Robert Lovekamp; Concessions, William Morris, C. O. Mueller, Russell Vortman and Carroll Sears; Purchasing, William Chambers, George Magelitz, Russell Albers and Wilbur Mathews; Dance, Charles Bailey, Myron Albers, Merle Korty, Merle Traw, Edward Dunham and Bernard Vannier.

Dining Room and Kitchen, William Chambers, Norman Vortman, Albert Magelitz, Dorothy Vannier, George Magelitz, Virgil Mueller, Gene Kroencke, Bernard Vannier, Jim Hendricks and Merle Korty; Ice, Leroy Vortman and Karl Engelbrecht; Hamburger Stand, Delbert Reed, John Allen, Harold Kilver, Russell Vortman, Carl Arnold, Jack Barnett, James Albers, Dick Brackett, Don Bunch, Pern Hutton, Russell Collison, Lee Buhlig, Jerry Rife and Leroy Pond; Wood, George Magelitz, Electricity, Tom Dickens.

Finance, Leland Littig, J. D. Travis and J. A. Knoepfel; Pick-Up, George Magelitz, Wilbur Mathews, Leroy Pond, Floyd Hierman, C. O. Mueller and Norman Vortman; Bingo, Carroll Sears, Lee Buhlig, Jesse Bailey, Roy Baird, Raymond Arnold, Harold Baird, Bernard Beely, L. J. Kunkel, Bob Priest, Jack Welch, Donald Hutton, Robert Smith, William Nunes, Raymond Patterson, Everett Neese, Dr. Albert Bray, Robert Scott and Robert Brown.

Soup Committee, William Chambers and George Magelitz; co-chairmen; Lee Buhlig, Donald Bunch, Robert Friesen, Earl Gilman, Herb Baird, Glenn Brockhouse, John R. Brockhouse, Frank Chambers, Larry Childers, Kenneth Cox, Moxie Crews, Pern Hutton, Percy Fry, Fred Northcutt, Henry Likes, Archie McDade, Ed Meier, Harold Meier, Jack Moore, C. O. D. Travis, Ed Loneragan and Ralph Jones.

All members will be on the clean-up crew.

The auxiliary president, Mrs. Bernice Albers, has appointed an auxiliary committee including herself as chairman, Mrs. June Nunes, Mrs. Mary Traw, Mrs. Dorothy Travis and Mrs. Margaret Watson. Other committees will be announced later.

CASS HOMEMAKERS UNIT HAS DINNER MEETING IN CITY

ARENZVILLE — The Arenzville Homemakers Extension Unit met for dinner at the Blackhawk restaurant in Jacksonville August 19.

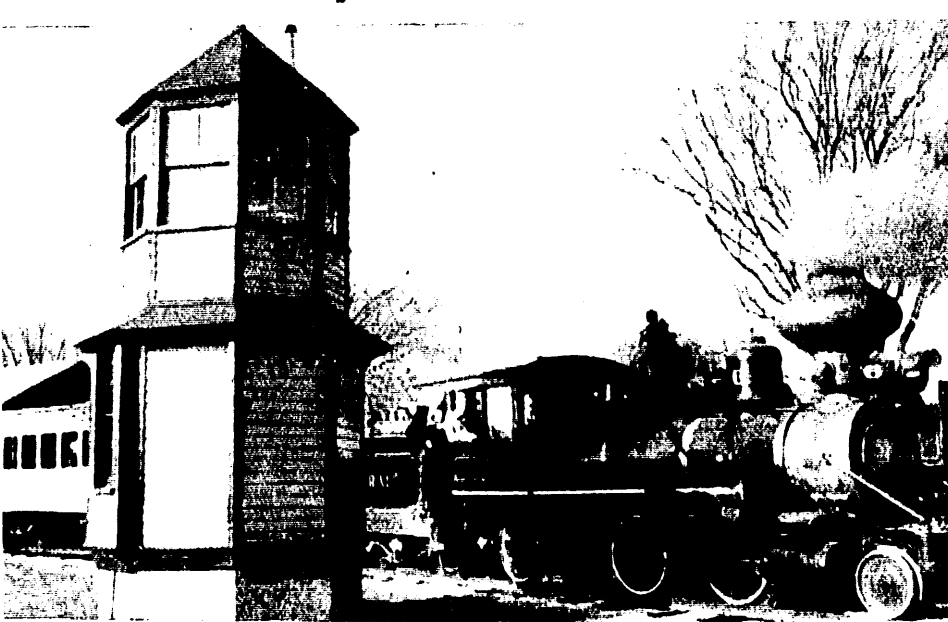

Mrs. Don Wessler, chairman, conducted a short business meeting during which plans were completed for providing food and working at the food stand at the Cass County Fair.

Members present included Mrs. Milton Carls, Mrs. Myron Beard, Mrs. Ray L. Schnitker, Mrs. Gerald Beard, Mrs. Harold Kruse, Mrs. L. J. Wessler, Mrs. Don Wessler, Mrs. Richard Bartholomew, Mrs. Ray Luconic, Mrs. Melvin Schone, Mrs. David Carls, Mrs. Kenneth Roegge, Mrs. Wayne Zuluaf, Mrs. Byron Gish, Mrs. Dean Stock, and Mrs. Robert Werries.

Mrs. Rolland Nobis of Oak Lawn, Ill. and Mrs. Trudy Herlevsen of Jacksonville were guests.

There are about 2,000 species of rodents or gnawing animals.

'Steam Days' At Mt. Pleasant

'65 Reunion Opens Thursday

The 16th annual reunion of the Midwest Old Settlers & Threshers association will be held at the grounds at Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, Sept. 2 through Sept. 6.

The association's grounds have been considerably enlarged—33 acres—and much improved during the year.

The committee says there will be over 100 steam engines in the parade each afternoon and evening, along with over 100 antique automobiles.

The famous narrow gauge Midwest Central R.R. (shown above) will haul passengers daily. The engine is No. 6, a Baldwin wood-burner built in 1891. Rolling stock and other equipment consists of 2 locomotives, 3 coaches, 1 caboose, 3 flat cars, engine house, flagman's tower and depot.

The upper smaller picture shows part of the cavalcade of old time traction engines puffing along in front of the grandstand and the lower photo depicts the show tent which presents entertainment along the old Chautauque style every afternoon and evening, and part of the Pioneer Village, which now has authentic replicas, well equipped, of a blacksmith shop, school house, church, barber shop, country store, saloon and fire station.

Additional this year include a larger steam merry-go-round, an old time sorghum mill busy converting cane juice into molasses and a patent medicine wagon.

ILLINOIS OUTLOOK LETTER

CROP PROSPECTS ARE BEST EVER

Crops and crop prospects are the best ever throughout most of the nation. The all-crop production index was 116 on August 1. That's 9 percentage points better than the index for the same date two years ago. That was the best year before this one. Since August 1 most areas have had good rains, and temperatures were not excessive during the first half of the month.

But there are always some exceptions: The northeast is suffering from a long and severe drought. Lack of rain has also hurt crops in Ohio, Michigan and Wisconsin. It has also been a little dry in Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Mississippi and there are a few dry pockets even in Illinois.

Record corn crop? On the basis of conditions on August 1, the USDA forecast U.S. corn production of 4,096 million bushels, practically equal to the record crop harvested two years ago. Average yield was calculated 71.6 bushels per acre, 9 1/2 bushels more than last year and 4 bushels over the previous record set in 1963.

The Illinois corn crop was forecast at 834 million bushels, which would be 17 percent more than last year and 11 percent above the 1963 record. The Illinois average was forecast at 88.0 bushels per acre, which would be 10 bushels better than last year and 3 bushels better than 1963.

Super-record soybean crop. The U.S. soybean crop was forecast at 864 million bushels. This amount would be 24 percent greater than the previous record crop of 699 million bushels produced in 1963 and matched in 1964. Most of the increase is coming from added acres.

Average yield is forecast at 24.9 bushels per acre only 7.10 bushel more than the five-year 1959-1963 average.

The Illinois soybean crop is forecast at 175 million bushels. This total would be 21 percent more than last year, but only 6 percent more than two years ago. Our average yield is forecast at 29.0 bushels per acre, which is 4 bushels more than in 1964, but 1/2 bushel less than in 1963.

Wheat production up — and down. The U.S. wheat crop is estimated at 1,376 million bushels, up 7 percent from a year

Wood Duck Now Standing Up To The Starlings?

The pesky starling long has been an enemy of the wood duck, often bringing about the loss of an entire brood by taking over the duck's nest. But this year the shoe has been on the other foot, says an article in the current issue of The Illinois Natural History Survey Reports.

The wood duck has always been cherished by Illinoisans. When its numbers and nesting sites on the Illinois river dropped to a low point in the 1930's, Survey Biologist Frank Bellrose of Havana began one of his first watershed studies. He found that half the wood duck nests—made in natural cavities in trees—were destroyed by raccoons, fox squirrels, and bull snakes. One of the keys to greater wood duck numbers was apparent: safer nesting sites would produce more young.

Try Nesting Houses
The first efforts revolved around making nesting houses of rough-cut lumber. The wood ducks used these as readily as natural cavities, but unfortunately the predators could and did enter them just as easily. Because raccoons were the most important nest predators, attempts were next made to design houses that would exclude these mammals. After several years of experimentation an elliptical entrance four inches across and three inches high was found that permitted wood ducks to enter but excluded raccoons weighing ten pounds or more. (At the time of wood duck nesting most raccoons were at least this large.)

Production of sorghum grain is forecast at 624 million bushels, a whopping 27 percent more than last year.

Less barley! The nation's barley crop is forecast at 398 million bushels, 1 percent less than a year ago. Expected average yield is up 4 bushels per acre, but the acreage is down.

More oats. U.S. oat production is estimated at 961 million bushels, 9 percent more than in 1964. The Illinois oat crop is figured at 50 million bushels, down 12 percent from the previous year. This reduction was caused by a big slash in oat acreage. The average yield in Illinois is listed at 56 bushels per acre, 6 bushels more than in 1964.

U.S. hay production is up about 3 percent from last year. The Illinois crop is a little smaller because of reduced acreage.

On August 1, U.S. average pasture condition was listed at 78 percent, 9 percentage points better than the year before. The condition of Illinois pastures was listed at 81 percent, 6 percentage points better than last year.

Fertilizer—104 Tons Used In Corn Fields For Picker Contests

ADRIAN, Mich. — Vic Knerim's got a problem that might be compared with the young bride who must prepare Sunday dinner for her new in-laws.

A key difference is that the bride's efforts may be judged by a handful of relatives. Knerim's work will be judged by 100,000 critics later this year.

Knerim's no cook. He's concerned with growing corn — lots of it — to support a 5,000 cattle feeding program on 600 acres near here. And those 100,000 experts who will drop in on Knerim are the expected audience for the 1965 National Corn Picking Contest, scheduled to be held on his farm Oct. 21-22.

Does the prospect of playing host to 100,000 farmers, agribusinessmen and newsmen worry Knerim?

"We are looking forward to having a personal role in this national event, especially since it is being held in Michigan for the first time," explains Knerim, a husky man who has farmed here since 1943. "Naturally, the task of growing 300 acres of high-quality corn that will provide uniform stands for the competition caused some concern for the sponsors—the Kiwanis clubs of Lenawee county — but a crop Q corn starter, formulated for soils in southeastern Michigan, was developed that we believe will meet the challenge unless some unusual problem arises between now and fall."

Following the selection of the Knerim farm earlier this year, specialists in various fields were asked to build a corn program to suit the standards of the national event.

Aim: 150 Bushels
Using soil test analyses which had been taken by Knerim's regular soil fertility program, agronomists of the Cooperative Extension Service of Michigan State University developed recommendations on plant population, pest controls and plant food requirements.

Their goal was a yield of 150 bushels an acre, with all the characteristics of a top quality stand to minimize differences that may affect a contestant's performance.

"When the recommendations were made, we found Knerim's own program was nearly exactly the same," according to Kenneth, agronomist. "He had learned years ago that a complete cropping program was the best way to provide the high corn yields for his large feeder operation."

On some of his best fields, Knerim was following even more intensive programs than the plan for the contest acreage.

Single-Cross Hybrid
The crop program for the acreage to be used in the two-day picking competition (The Michigan state event will be held Oct. 21, the national contest the following day.) used 150 bushels of DeKalb XL-45, a short single-cross corn hybrid, 104 tons of fertilizer materials, including plowdown, starter and sidedressed nitrogen, plus two kinds of herbicides for weed control — Atrazine and Knock-out.

The fertilizer used in Knerim's program involves 400 pounds of 5-20-20 broadcast and plowed down per acre. The starter used was the new Super Lenawee county — but a crop Q corn starter, formulated for soils in southeastern Michigan, was developed that we believe will meet the challenge unless some unusual problem arises between now and fall."

The crop was sidedressed with 150 pounds of supplemental nitrogen per acre.

Irrigation Available
"The plan even provides for getting additional water to the corn in case a drought hits this area this summer," Knerim says. "Irrigation equipment will be available to give the crop a shot in the arm if needed."

The contest acreage was planted May 8 at a rate of 24,000 kernels per acre, with a goal of obtaining a stand of 22,000 an acre.

Does Knerim see 150-bushel corn on his contest fields? "Some of this land has yielded 171-bushel corn under ideal conditions," replies the man, pointing to a section near one of his feedlots. "With all the counsel and quality products being directed at the contest site, we should produce some fine corn for visitors to see in October."

Knerim also explains that his feeder operation gives all his corn about 21 tons of manure per acre each year. A green manure crop of rye also was turned over to provide even more organic matter to supplement the prescribed fertilizer applications.

But corn alone won't do the job for the national contest. More than 600 acres will be needed for large parking lots plus an exhibition area containing 270 display sections where all segments of the agribusiness world will demonstrate their wares.

Also planned for the Adrian event will be a program of speeches by national and state dignitaries and professional entertainment each day.

Ag Instructors Of This Area Map Program

The vocational agriculture instructors of Section 15, Future Farmers of America, met at the Jacksonville Holiday Inn Monday for their annual business meeting and to prepare the schedule for the year's meetings, shows and contests.

Stanley Klaus of Carlinville is serving as section chairman this school year, with Bernard Goetz of Bluffs the secretary.

Schools represented were Bluffs, Carlinville, Southwestern (Piasa), Franklin, Jerseyville, Waverly, Gillespie, Girard, Brussels, Cahoon Unit 40, Staunton, Bunker Hill, Carrollton, Virden, Meredosia, Winchester, Northwestern (Palmyra) and Jacksonville.

William Fortschneider of Jacksonville was the host teacher. The first event will be the F.F.A. leadership training school to be held at Jacksonville high school Wednesday, Sept. 8, beginning at 4 p.m. Tom Hem-brough of Jacksonville, Section 15 chairman and District III director, will organize the school.

The sectional grain show will be held Oct. 20 at Palmyra and the livestock judging contest at Bluffs Oct. 30.

Events to be held in 1966 include the prepared and extemporaneous speaking contest at Franklin, parliamentary procedure contest at Bluffs, farm mechanics skill contest at Waverly and the land use selection contest at Carrollton.

H. W. Homann, state supervisor of agricultural education, met with the instructors to give them the latest details and information of state reimbursement for accredited high school agriculture programs. Last year Illinois reimbursed the schools at the rate of $7.5% for full time programs.

John Matthews, professor of agriculture education at the University of Illinois, was also present and told of the many teaching aids now available upon application to the university.

One of the most frequent questions asked us is "How can I find Bluebirds?" This question comes not only from visitors to our area but from local residents as well. We can assure the questioners that Bluebirds are here, but we can't guarantee that they will be seen, we don't find them on our bird hikes.

Although we are always hungry for the first sight of the Bluebird in the spring and listen for that simple plaintive musical "chur-wi" and the soft gurgling notes of its early spring greeting, we don't always find satisfaction then.

During the nesting season we find it even more difficult to locate the hole in the post or the dead tree where the Bluebirds' babies are concealed. If we have a Bluebird box and are lucky enough to have this bird find it and use it, we are guaranteed a daily experience with this home-loving bird.

Fall is the ideal time to find Bluebirds, not just one or two Bluebirds, but Bluebirds. Now Bluebirds are gathering together, families of young and old. They sit on fences, on telephone wires, on dead branches of trees. First of all, we notice that they appear round-shouldered when they are perching. Even amateurs can soon recognize this characteristic unique posture.

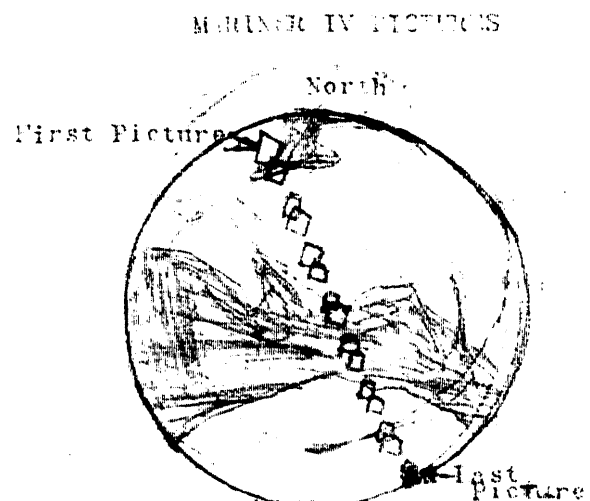

At first this string of birds on the wire may look like any dull gray birds: sparrows, starlings, or swallows. Soon, however, one or more may drop down to the ground like blue jays, and then return with some morsel to eat. As we drive along the highway, this string of bluebirds may move on in front of us. There will be a few bright-blue males, more duller blue females; most of them will undoubtedly be the speckle-breasted grayish young birds with always some telltale blue in the wings. Only the mature ones have red breasts.

We don't want to mislead anyone. We shall not find Bluebirds in as many places as we find swallows or starlings: along a woods full of dead trees punctuated with holes is a good place. We shall not find as large flocks as those of starlings or swallows. Bluebirds are far fewer in number. We can, however, promise eight or ten in a favorable spot. We know, we saw as many on a telephone wire near Crane Lake on August 14. Now's the time to look for Bluebirds.

Mariner IV Meets

By Walter B. Hendrickson, Jr.

For 10 days as Mariner IV neared Mars the Deep Space Instrumentation Facility (DSIF) of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) tracked it carefully. With this effort the NASA scientists were able to measure the 134 million mile distant space probe's speed to within 2 of an inch per second. This careful tracking continued for another 10 days after Mariner IV's flyby of Mars.

Mariner IV began snapping pictures of Mars when it was within 1,000 miles of the planet at 5:20 p.m. PDT on July 14, 1965. For 25 minutes Mariner IV's television cameras snapped pictures as the probe passed within 5,600 miles of Mars.

The scientists back on earth had a few anxious moments when the probe reported that its tape recorder was running continuously instead of shutting off after each picture. This would have caused the tape to run out faster than expected. The scientists feared that they had lost from 7 to 13 of the 21 pictures they had hoped to take. They had to wait until Mariner IV passed behind Mars and then relayed its pictures back to earth to find out if they were right.

No Radiation Belt. Meanwhile Mariner IV's other instruments were reporting on conditions on and around Mars. They showed that Mars has no radiation belt and a magnetic field only .1 per cent as strong as that of earth. However, the planet does have an ionosphere, layer of electrically charged air, as strong as earth's at about 98 miles above its surface. This ionosphere is as strong as earth's is at night.

At 7:12 p.m. PDT Mariner IV slipped behind Mars reappearing on the other side 53 minutes later. The probe's radio signals faded out at the start of this occultation (passage behind Mars) and faded in again at the end. This showed that even the dense lower part of Mars' atmosphere, which extends 4 to 5 miles above the surface, is only as thick as earth's is at 100,000 feet (about 20 miles) altitude.

little as possible of the pictures was lost during the long trip across space they were sent back a few bits at a time, taking eight hours for each picture. The first station to pick up incoming stream of pictures was Johannesburg, South Africa, which relayed them by cable to the Jet Propulsion Laboratories (JPL) in Goldstone, California. Here they were put together and printed by computers. As one picture after another was completed the scientists began to relax. They soon found that they had not lost any pictures. In fact, Mariner IV sent them a bonus of a few lines for a 22 second picture near the edge of Mars.

Prayer Poem—

God Helps All

By Mary Pence Claywell

Sometimes, as we grow older, Dear Lord, we seem so tired. And yet we are strengthened by Thy Hands. And by Thy Love... Inspired: Dear Lord, Thou knowest everything. And Thy Help is so sure. If we continue patiently, In things... we must endure. And even "youth," grow weary. In this fast moving age... And need Thy Strengthening Hand. Dear Lord, upon life's rugged stage Dear Father, from Thy Throne on High. Reach down to us, we pray As Thou didst "Peter," as he sank Into the waves... that day. And let us hear, as Peter did, Thy Re-assuring Cry When we are weak, O Precious Lord, "BE NOT AFRAID... 'TIS I!"

Surprises For Doc

By John Rankin

It was only eight o'clock of a summer morning when Doctor Levine, veterinarian and surgeon, stopped his car in the drive back of his animal hospital and got out. He paused a moment, a heavyset man of middle age and deep suntan, and then walking with a leisurely, sloping gait went inside. His assistant, a tall young man wearing glasses and a crew cut came in from an outer office. "Looks like another busy day, Doc," he said reflectively. "Lots of calls coming in already."

Busy Day. "Saturday is always a busy day, Bob," the doctor nodded. "Who called?" "Those folks that had the funny looking dog in here last week are bringing him back for a checkup," Bob began in routine fashion. "And Mrs. Winkleman is bringing her cat in, Mrs. Maynard wants you to look at her canary, and Jim McCord is bringing in a couple of horses." Doc filled his pipe and lit in a leisurely fashion, threw the match on the floor and then looked thoughtfully at the younger man a moment. "Yeah, Jim McCord," he nodded finally. "He's a lawyer over at Clarksville that runs a Quarter Horse ranch on the side. Anybody else call?"

Donovan's Horse. "Yeah, some fellow named Donovan or something that nearly talked my leg off," Bob added with an amused grin. "Seems he's something of a veterinarian in his own right but he's bringing his sister's cat in for you to look over."

Bob turned from the medicine cabinet where he was arranging bottles on a shelf to flash the frustrated vet a wide grin. "Seems he is, Doc. Got in last night and he's spending the summer with his sister up the street. Why? Is he a little off his rocker or something?"

Doc recovered his pipe from the floor, lit it again and threw the match from him with a grimace when the flame singed his fingers. "He's an oddball all right," he nodded slowly. "But he was a pretty bright fellow in his younger days... and was making good grades in veterinary college when he ran into his allergy and was dropped from the class."

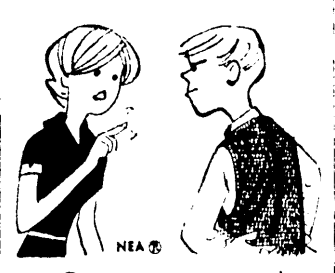

Bob looked around quickly. "An allergy, eh? What was he allergic to? Blood, maybe?" Doc shook his head. "No. Snakes, turtles, frogs and the like, and even now the sight of almost any wild creature will throw him into a dither. But he still thinks he's a top vet and he drives me to distraction when he comes in here trying to prescribe for every animal that's brought in!"

Impish Eddie. Just then the patter of footsteps came from outside and the doctor's young son, Eddie, a little fellow with a freckled nose and impish grin, popped in with a comic book in one hand and a wad of bubble gum in the other. "Hi, Dad," he beamed. "Mom dropped me off here while she does the shopping."

Doc studied the cheerful youngster a moment with mixed emotions. "Okay, old fellow, stay out of trouble and don't put your pet frog in the water cooler again," he said with a good-natured grin. When turning to the assistant he added in a serious tone. "Bring that doc with the broken leg in and maybe we can at least get him fixed up before old Sam storms in with that creepy cat!" Bob nodded and turned away. At the door he paused and looked back with an amused glint in his eye. "I'm afraid not, Doc," he grinned. "I think this must be the old boy heading in here right now."

matter of fact

The game of golf, as it is known today, originated in Scotland, though the time and place are obscure in history. However, it was once so popular in the 15th century that the 14th parliament of King James II of Scotland decreed in 1457 that "fute-ball and golfe be utterly cryed downe, and not to be used" because they interfered with the practice of archery, an essential element in the defense of the realm. This legislation provided the first written reference to the playing of golf.

Dodgers Explode For 7 In First, Beat Phils 8-4

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The National League-leading Los Angeles Dodgers clubbed five hits and stole five bases in a seven-run first-inning outburst and went on to an 8-4 victory over Philadelphia Saturday night.

The victory kept the Dodgers' lead at 1½ games as Cincinnati moved into second place with San Francisco and Milwaukee dropping 2½ behind.

The Dodgers routed an old nemesis in lefty Chris Short as they pinned a fifth straight defeat — seven in eight games — on the faltering Phillies. Short had defeated Los Angeles seven straight times since June 1964 and was 5-0 against them this season.

Before the Dodgers nailed it, however, Manager Walt Alston called on 21-game winner Sandy Koufax in the ninth inning to get the final three outs. It was Koufax's first relief appearance of the season.

Maury Wills, the first of 11 batters in the 40-minute inning, opened the game with a single.

Jim Gilliam walked and then both advanced on a double steal — Wills' 81st of the season and first in seven games.

Wes Parker singled, scoring Wills, and Lou Johnson was hit by a pitch, loading the bases. Gilliam scored and Parker and Johnson advanced on a wild pitch. Ron Fairly then doubled home two runs, and after Jeff Torborg struck out, Willie Davis beat out an infield hit that finished Short.

Fairly scored on a fielder's choice play, Davis going to second as Ed Roebuck took over the pitching for the Phillies. Davis and Tracewski engineered a double steal, and after pitcher John Purdin struck out, Wills singled home the final two runs. Los Angeles 700 000 001—8 10 0 Phila. 002 200 000—4 7 1

Johnson Ups Lead In 8-2 Reds Win

CINCINNATI (AP) — Deron Johnson boosted his major league — leading three-run double Saturday night as the Cincinnati Reds moved into second place in the National League by walloping St. Louis 8-2.

The victory kept the Reds 1½ games behind the first-place Los Angeles Dodgers but hopped them over San Francisco into the runner-up spot. The Giants and Milwaukee are 2½ games behind.

Big Ten Could See Season Of Upsets

CHICAGO (AP) — This could be a season of big upsets in Big Ten football with Purdue, long an in-and-out, expected to scramble through to the championship.

The Boilermakers, a third place finisher in 1964, are stocked with veterans and could nail their first outright Big Ten crown since 1929 and make their first trip to the Rose Bowl.

Giving them their main trouble could be defending champion Michigan and a revitalized Iowa team that shared ninth last season after a series of narrow defeats.

The complex of the Big Ten race may be determined early, especially Purdue's cast in it.

Coach Jack Mollenkopf opens with Miami of Ohio before being host to powerful Notre Dame in a Sept. 25 game that will give a fine appraisal of both teams.

The following week Purdue is at Southern Methodist, but then come successive games at Iowa and Michigan.

Purdue has seven holdover starters for each of its offensive and defensive platoons and the core of a fine backfield in junior quarterback Bob Griese, halfback Gordon Teter and fullback Randy Minniear.

Also returning are end Bob Hadrick, one of the best pass catchers in the nation; Karl Singer, one of the finest blocking tackles in the conference, and Jack Calcaterra, outstanding guard-linebacker.

Among the 15 starters Michigan lost from its championship and Rose Bowl-winning squad was quarterback Bob Timberlake. Coach Bump Elliott has a bull pen of three to replace him — sophomore Rick Vidmer, senior Wally Gahler and Rich Volk, 1964 defensive halfback. Carl Ward and Jim Detwiler give power at halfback.

"We are looking forward with cautious optimism," says Iowa Coach Jerry Burns, whose Hawkeyes lost more close ones in 1964 than any other conference club.

All the explosiveness is there for Iowa, fused by one of the country's greatest aerial batteries — Gary Snook to Karl Noon. Guard John Niland and tackle Bob Ziolkowski return as Snook's bodyguards.

John Hankinson, greatest passer in Minnesota history, and his main receiver, flanker Ken Last, give the Gophers flash. Kent Kramer and Aaron Brown anchor a group of rugged ends.

Michigan State has solidness behind proven quarterback Steve Juday, receiver Gene Washington, kicker Dick Kenney and halfback Clint Jones. In addition to veteran tackle Harold Lucas, Coach Duffy Daugherty has a beefy foursome of California junior college star linemen — Rusty Malone, Tom Skidmore, Tom Amiratta and Fred Convertini.

This is a rebuilding year for Ohio State but Coach Woody Hayes always has stockpiles. He lost key performers in the Buckeyes No. 1 defensive team of the 1964 Big Ten season, but returning are rugged linebackers Luke Kelley and Tom Bugel.

Also on hand are veteran backs Tom Barrington, Willard Sanders and quarterback Don Unverseth, and guard Bill Rider and offensive tackle Doug Van Horn.

Illinois comes off a fourth place tie with its entire backfield intact — fullback Jim Grabowski, halfbacks Ron Acks and Sam Price and quarterback Fred Custardo.

Indiana has the only new head coach, Yale's John Pont. Standouts include split end Bill Malinchak, tackles Randy Beisler and Ken Hollister, and halfbacks John Ginter and Trent Walters.

Northwestern, installing a new offense, must regroup behind end Cas Banaszek, halfbacks Woody Campbell and Ron Rector, and fullback Bob McKelvey.

Wisconsin could get rolling with quarterback Chuck Burt, who missed 1964 because of illness after being heralded as a comer. A good defensive nucleus includes halfback Dave Frontek and linebackers Bob Richter and Tom Brigham.

John Paul Jones, father of the United States Navy, established a 13-gun salute for American ships, one gun for each original state.

"Tokyo is a not a city. It's an explosion," wrote a Japanese journalist. Its economic growth runs about 10 per cent a year — highest in the world.

Cubs Drop Braves For Number 5

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Billy Williams drove in three runs with a home run and a single as the Chicago Cubs trimmed Milwaukee 3-1 and extended the Braves' losing streak to five games Saturday.

The loss dropped the Braves into fourth place, 2½ games behind the National League-leading Los Angeles Dodgers.

Williams, who hit a winning grand-slam homer the night before, clouted his 24th homer in the first inning after Wade Blasingame walked Joe Amalfitano.

The Cubs didn't score again until the ninth when pitcher Ted Abernathy singled, went to second as Amalfitano drew his fourth walk and raced home on Williams' single to center field. Chicago 200 000 001—3 7 0 Milwaukee 000 000 100—1 5 0

9th Frame Tally Gives Tribe 6-5 Edge Of Twins

MINNEAPOLIS — ST. PAUL (AP) — Chuck Hinton's sacrifice fly drove in Leon Wagner in the ninth inning, lifting Cleveland to a 6-5 triumph over the American League-leading Minnesota Twins Saturday.

Wagner led off the ninth with a walk and moved to second when Al Worthington hit Billy Moran with a pitch. Pedro Gonzalez sacrificed the runners, and Hinton followed with a run-scoring fly to Bob Allison in left field.

The Twins loaded the bases on walks in their half of the ninth, but Gary Bell retired Earl Battey on a pop up for the final out.

Twins' starter Jim Perry was working with a 5-2 lead and had a six-hitter until the Indians erupted for three runs in the eighth inning in successive-pitch home runs by Rocky Colavito and Fred Whitfield.

TSIRIMOKOS' GOVERNMENT FALLS, PROLONGS CRISIS

ATHENS (AP) — The Greek Parliament early Sunday voted no confidence in Premier Elias Tsirimokos' government, bringing its downfall and prolonging the six-week-old political crisis.

The 58-year-old Socialist was King Constantine's second choice to form a government since the ouster of George Papandreou from the premiership July 15.

Tsirimokos had expressed optimism over his chances of getting a majority throughout five nights of debate, but Parliament rejected him in post-midnight voting.

The vote in the 300-seat chamber was 159-135. Some deputies were absent.

Papandreou, Center Union party leader who was opposed by two palace candidates and sought to return as premier, boycotted the week-long debate.

But he walked into Parliament dramatically when his name was called on the roll in the 300-seat chamber, just as he did almost a month ago for the vote that defeated George Athanasiadis Novas.

Center Union deputies applauded the 77-year-old politician. The 99 National Radical Union (ERRE) deputies booed.

Papandreou raised his right hand, shouted "No!" when asked if he favored Tsirimokos, and walked out again.

Just before the vote, Tsirimokos made a last-minute appeal for support. He pointed out that his 36-man bloc of Center Union dissidents now represented the third-largest force in Parliament. He said the Center Union, once claiming 170 members, would be broken up even further if he should be defeated.

Tsirimokos also said no one should fear his Socialist views.

"Socialists are cooperating with European governments and they have never socialized any nation because of this cooperation," he said.

Sheldon 4-Hits Ex-Teammates For 4-0 Margin

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Rollie Sheldon allowed only three hits, pitching the Kansas City Athletics to a 4-0 victory over his former New York Yankee teammates Saturday night.

Sheldon, lifting his record to 7-7, allowed only singles by Bobby Richardson in the fourth and ninth innings, and by Elston Howard in the seventh. He did not permit a base runner past second base.

It was the second straight shutout against the Yankees, who were held to four hits by Kansas City's John O'Donoghue Friday night.

The A's gave Sheldon the only run he needed in the third inning when Tom Reynolds singled, stole second and went to third on a wild pitch by Mel Stottlemyre before scoring on a double by Bert Campaneris.

Tom Rolfe Takes Slim Win By Neck

CHICAGO (AP) — Tom Rolfe, a 3 to 10 favorite, had to hustle hard the final sixteenth of a mile to beat Royal Gunner by a neck in the record running of the $107,500 Arlington Classic at Arlington Park Saturday.

A crowd of 27,396 saw Sum Up finish third almost four lengths farther back in the one-mile event for 3-year-olds.

Gummo ran fourth in the field of seven. Give a Hoot was a late scratch.

Tom Rolfe, the Preakness champion and a leading contender for 3-year-old honors, was clocked in 1:34.45 under Bill Shoemaker. The track was fast but full.

The time bested the Classic mile mark of 1:35 set by Errard King in 1954 and matched by Dunce in 1959.

Top-weighted at 124 pounds, Tom Rolfe had so much bet on him in the show pool that the track had a minus of $4,689.

The colt owned by Raymond Guest, United States ambassador to Ireland, earned $62,500 to push his two-year career earnings to $435,105.

Buckpasser Wins Hopeful Stakes At Saratoga

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (AP) — Buckpasser charged through the stretch and moved a notch closer to the 2-year-old championship Saturday with a 1½-length victory in the 61st running of the $10,175 Hopeful Stakes at Saratoga Race Track.

Under a perfectly judged ride by Braulio Baeza, the strapping son of Tom Fool and Busanda from Ogden Phipps' barn took the lead as the field of seven juveniles straightened out for the final one-quarter mile dash to the finish line.

Running straight down the middle, the colt won it going away. His stablemate, impressive was second. Mrs. Edward Lasker's Indulto trailed by another three-quarters of a length.

It was another 2½ lengths back to Deck Hand, the fourth horse. Then came Stands to Reason, Gay Profusion and Timely Move.

For his seventh straight victory, after finishing fourth in his debut, Buckpasser earned $71,613.75 to run his total bank account to $184,875.75, tops for 2-year-olds this year.

Buckpasser ripped off the 6½ furlongs in 1:16, two-fifths of a second off the track record set last year by Bold Lad, also trained by Winfrey, in winning the 1964 classic for 2-year-olds.

The BIG Inch!

The ruled box above is a one-inch advertisement. It measures one column wide by one-inch deep.

It costs advertisers $1.15 or less depending on the contract rate. (Non-contract rate is $1.40 per column inch.) It looks kinda lonesome by itself. But look at it this way.

What you get when you buy a one-inch ad in the Journal and Courier is not just a single column inch of space in the paper, but one inch multiplied by 16,750 copies daily. So you're really buying 16,750 inches, which at 189 inches a page would be some 88½ pages of printed newspaper.

That's a mighty big chunk of space for a cost of $1.15 or less. And that price includes delivery to the reader's front door.

Just imagine the cost of reaching all those Journal and Courier families by postcard. It would amount to $670 just for the postage. But the Journal and Courier do it for $1.15 or less per insertion.

So you can see that a little one-inch ad is really a pretty BIG inch when it's advertising space in the Journal and Courier. And the figures show that it's the most effective and economical way possible to let people in the Jacksonville Trade Area know that you have wares or a service that they could use.

Armed Robber Eludes Law After Hold-Up At Rural Residence

An armed hold-up man, and an accomplice, who gained $2 in a hold-up of a rural Jacksonville man at his farm home Saturday morning, apparently eluded a maze of roadblocks and law officers from four counties and escaped.

State and county authorities went into action within minutes after Cliff Hamel, 23, of route two, reported he had been held at gunpoint in his home, located ten miles southwest of the city about 10:30 a.m.

Throughout the day Saturday, law officers combed the area east, west and south of Jacksonville, at times using a state police airplane, in an attempt to spot the car the two men escaped in.

Hamel said both men were between the ages of 45 and 50, and were dressed in old work clothes. He said the gunman who ordered him into a closet at his four-room home was wearing a felt hat, a red bandana around his face, and had on blue overalls with a blue chambray work shirt.

The second man, who stayed with the auto was described as being about 6-2, 160 pounds, with a cast on his right arm to his elbow.

The auto, authorities were searching for, was described as a 1957 four-door Nash station wagon, which was two-tone brown on the lower half and white on the top half.

The car was not bearing license plates, but had a license application sticker on the front windshield.

However, county authorities said there was no writing on the license application and the men may have removed it, and replaced license plates on their vehicle.

Hamel said he escaped from the closet in time to see the car head-off in a southeasterly direction toward the Lynnville-Woodson blacktop road.

Hamel disclosed he was returning to his home about 10:15 a.m. after watering his stock when he saw the car parked in front of his home.

Fake Car Trouble
"There was a man at the car, and he had the hood up, apparently working on the engine. I passed by and the man muttered something about engine trouble. He slammed down the hood, got into the car and drove off down the road."

"After I had unhooked the water wagon from the tractor, I drove around to the front of the house and noticed the car stopped down the road."

He then related going into the house, and after walking through the kitchen, was preparing to enter the bedroom when a man jumped out of the bathroom with a gun.

Hamel said the robber asked for his wallet, and after discovering only two dollars in the billfold, said, "If this is all the money you've got, you'd better get into my business."

Held In Closet
The armed man then told Hamel to step into a closet and count to a thousand. Hamel waited for a moment, and after he thought the man had left, opened the closet door only to find the man pointing a gun at him.

"This time Hamel stayed in the closet until he heard the man walk across his 'creaky' front porch and leave."

County sheriff's authorities were then notified and the search began. Law officers from Pike, Morgan, Scott, Greene, and Sangamon counties were called into the search.

Local authorities believe that the pair was the same two who looted a Loami farm home earlier that same day and escaped.

Neighbors of Hamel told police they had also seen the car driving around the country roads earlier Saturday morning.

Births

Word has been received here of the birth of a son on Aug. 23 to Dr. and Mrs. Robert Engebrecht of Winfield, Ill. Dr. Engebrecht is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Engebrecht, Jacksonville route one and is affiliated with Hines Veterans Hospital in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Mitchell, 330 East Washington street, became the parents of a daughter born at 6:30 a.m. Saturday at Passavant hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Dyer of Concord, became the parents of a son born at 11:38 a.m. Friday at Passavant hospital.

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Herman Baker of Murrayville of the birth of a daughter, Diana Lynn, to their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Baker of Fort Wayne, Ind. The little girl was born Saturday morning in Fort Wayne and is the couple's second child and first daughter.

Man Takes Life By Strangulation In Brown Jail

MT. STERLING—A series of unfortunate situations preceded the death by hanging of a sixty year old Mt. Sterling man late Friday afternoon. Brown County Sheriff Jim Busen found Guy F. Flynn, lifetime resident here, dead in his cell at the Brown County Jail at 4:45 p.m.

Local authorities answered a call at the Six Hotel here early Friday and took Flynn to the city jail on a charge of peace disturbance. A short time later the prisoner had to be transferred from the city jail after the mattress on his bunk was set afire. He was then taken to the Brown County Jail.

While arrangements were being made to drop the original charges against the prisoner, tentative to his acceptance at the Illinois Soldiers and Sailors Home in Quincy, the Sheriff was attending to needs of Flynn. Sheriff Busen took some medicine, prescribed by a local physician, to the prisoner at 3:30 p.m. When he checked again at 4:45 p.m. he found Flynn dead.

The deceased took his belt and looped it around a chain on the top bunk in his cell to fashion a make-shift noose. Flynn was found in a kneeling position and had only to stand erect to avoid suffocation. The Sheriff reported the deceased had not given any indication of taking his own life and seemed very pleased when informed he would be accepted at the Home in Quincy.

Flynn, a laborer, was born in Brown county Aug. 5, 1905, son of the late Henry E. and Rachel Crooks Flynn. He never married.

The following brothers and sisters survive, Henry, Mrs. Edna Long and Mrs. Emma DeWitt, all of Mt. Sterling; Richard of Monmouth; Harold, Fulton, Mo.; Mrs. Gladys Wegs and Mrs. Alta Deters, both of Quincy and Miss Alberta Flynn, Macomb.

The remains were taken to the Hufnagel Funeral Home where services are being held at 1 p.m. this afternoon. Rev. Glenn Manis will officiate and interment will be in Mt. Sterling City cemetery.

Lincoln Passes $600,000 Bond Vote For Pool

A $600,000 bond proposal, providing for a new swimming pool and recreation complex, was passed Saturday in a general election in Lincoln, Illinois.

A slim margin of eight votes, 1224 to 1216, supported the issue which will cover the cost of the pool, its site, and a multi-purpose recreation building with a capacity of over 400.

Passage of the bond proposal could act as a precedent from which the Jacksonville community may turn when further discussion of the local need for increased facilities is faced.

Supporters of the measure contended that passage at the present time was needed to avert future price increases in construction.

A site for the new facilities is not definite at the present time, but two locations are under consideration. Completion of the project is planned for next year's use.

The soaring demands of industry and speculation have made silver almost too precious to use in coins. Current price is $1.293 an ounce.

Dedicate Salem Gym, Honor Pastor Rose In Ceremony Today

Today at 2:30 p.m. the congregation of the Salem Lutheran church and friends of Reverend Herbert C. Rose will join together to celebrate the fortieth anniversary of Reverend Rose's ordination.

During the regular Sunday services at 8 a.m. and 10 a.m. the new Salem Lutheran gymnasium will be dedicated.

The new gymnasium, which was recently completed at a cost of approximately $80,000, is equipped to accommodate the physical education program conducted by the parochial school. The school also is competitive in basketball and other sports with other schools in the area.

Equipped with six basketball backboards and two shuffle boards, the new building also serves the school and church for social functions and Sunday school classrooms.

School plays and church activities can be accommodated by a stage built across the west end of the new building.

Fold-away bleachers provide the seating for all occasions. The church has also recently completed a remodeling program which has provided a new organ and interior and exterior facelift, including a new roof and tuckpointing.

The addition of the new facilities created a need for additional parking area. This was made available by purchasing the property on the north side of Beecher between Mauvais-terre and the school.

The new lot has been surfaced and marked for parking. During the school year the new property is used as playground area.

Steeped in History
In September of 1858 the congregation was organized by Pastor Theodore Krauss. In the beginning the church was named "Salem Evangelical church."

The word "Lutheran" was absent because the founding pastor, Theodore Krauss, was not of the Lutheran church. He mysteriously disappeared on July 16, 1859, in Philadelphia, where he had gone in the hope of raising funds for the first church building in Jacksonville.

"One can only conclude that he became prey to a crime," said the report in the "Friedens-shote" of that time.

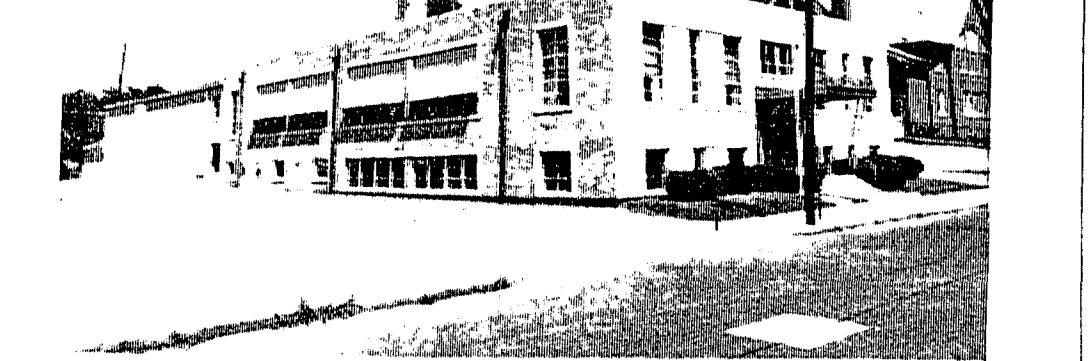

In 1868 the congregation voted to join the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Missouri, Ohio, and other states.

In 1876 a public school building located immediately in back of the present church was purchased and remodeled. It was dedicated in 1877 and served as the church and parsonage until 1923 when the present church was dedicated.

In 1891 the first class of blind children was confirmed. In 1901 permission was granted for the deaf to hold services in church.

In 1941 the first service was broadcast over WLDS 1180 KC. The broadcasting of 10 o'clock Sunday services has continued ever since. On February 13, 1955, Reverend Herbert C. Rose was installed as pastor of the congregation.

Reverend Rose was born in Fort Wayne, Indiana, and received his elementary education at St. Paul's Lutheran School in Fort Wayne. In 1921 he graduated from Concordia College in Fort Wayne and gradu-

SALEM LUTHERAN school gymnasium which will be dedicated today, along with ceremonies honoring Pastor Herbert C. Rose.

Spink And Malone Named United Fund Co-Chairmen Of '65

Co-chairmen of the 1965 United Fund campaign James L. Malone and Robert E. Spink have announced that the drive for a $120,000 goal will begin in September and close October 15.

The fund drive is designed to aid eleven county youth, health and service organizations.

Professional fund director Al Jordan is again expected to pilot the campaign. He will arrive here September 7, and plans to kick-off the drive as soon as possible.

This year's campaign will be the 19th consecutive local drive for Spink who is presently a member of the United Fund Board. Spink, a lifelong resident of Jacksonville, and alumnus of Illinois College, has served for many years in local organizations.

He is a member and immediate past president of the Rotary Club, past chairman of both the Red Cross and Y.M.C.A. boards, and a former member of the school board and Passavant Memorial Area Hospital Board of Trustees.

The Marine Corps veteran of World War II resides with his wife and four children at 220 Caldwell.

James L. Malone is starting his second year as co-chairman of the annual U.F. campaign. The father of five, Malone has had a accomplished record of service to the community in many capacities.

He has served as director of both the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce, the local Rotary chapter, and District Chairman of the Honest Abe District Boy Scouts of America. Malone has also held the post of vice chairman of the Jacksonville Building Commission, and is a veteran of W.W. II, service with the Marine Corps in the Pacific theater.

The board also accepted a finance sub-committee recommendation to include the Big Brother - Big Sister Association into the program. This will be the first time that the association has participated.

Big Brothers In
The board also accepted a finance sub-committee recommendation to include the Big Brother - Big Sister Association into the program. This will be the first time that the association has participated.

James L. Malone
The other member organizations include: Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, the Red Cross, Y.M.C.A., Morgan county Visiting Nurses, the Salvation Army, Catholic Charities, the U.S.O., Morgan county Rescue Squad, and the Traveler's Aid.

United Fund President Charles P. Runkel is optimistic about prospects for a successful campaign, commenting, "I would like to see us make the goal for the sake of all the agencies—both because they urgently need the funds, and because the community and the county need the agencies."

"Each agency continually provides numerous benefits for us in Morgan county," Runkel added.

Figures were recently disclosed regarding last year's fund raising drive by treasurer William Schildman and secretary Jane M. Atkins.

During the 1964-65 U.F. drive, $101,876.67 in pledges was received, $10,112.27 yet to be paid. An eleventh division for solicitations has been added this year for construction businesses and workers. Division chairmen will be announced on the first of September.

The eleven divisions will include: finance, insurance, major employees, medium businesses, small businesses, professional, education, government, special, county, construction, and residential.

SEIZE HEROIN, OPIUM VALUED AT $223,000
SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Customs officers reported seizure of heroin and opium they valued at $223,000 in a raid on the Dutch freighter Straat Lombok in Sydney harbor Saturday.

The vessel arrived, carrying an Asian crew, from Singapore. Customs officials expressed the narcotics — 11 pounds of heroin and 6 of opium — were destined for the United States.

Something like a tendency to return to their habitual quarters. to modes of a more simple description. Whatever may be the solution, it is to characterizes the Paris fashions for the month of September. Whether this gratifying symptom be owing to the severe cast of the eccentricities and extravagance of ladies' toilets inflicted by M. Du- pin (who has been vigorously seconded by many of the French journalists), or to the absence of the Court and aristocracy from Paris, is a question that can only be resolved after the return of the high-life folks.

News, Views Century Ago

DOMESTIC

From the Jacksonville Sentinel:
VILE CHARACTERS — During the influx of strangers and people from the country, in attendance at our county fair, a rich harvest was enjoyed by thieves, gamblers and pickpockets. Several of these gentry, however, while in the practice of their profession, fell into the hands of our city police.
R. R. — The St. Louis, Jacksonville & Chicago railroad was opened to Carrollton on last Saturday. The work on the road south of Carrollton is, we understand, being prosecuted with energy. The completion of this road to St. Louis will confer invaluable benefit upon the agricultural interests of this section.

ATTEMPT TO BREAK JAIL — We learn that an attempt of the prisoners confined in our county jail to make their escape was frustrated this week by Sheriff Palmer. Mr. Palmer in examining the hall in which the prisoners remain during the day when let out of the cells, discovered that some of the rivets of the iron plating of the hall had been nearly sawed off, leaving only a thin brick wall to perforate. He thus, by his vigilance, frustrated the projected escape on the eve of its accomplishment.

There are now twelve prisoners confined in the jail awaiting trial at the coming term of the Circuit Court. Sheriff Palmer is determined that they shall be kept safe to wait the action of the law in their several cases.

From the Carrollton Gazette:
The train every day brings a large amount of freight to this place, which is considerable of a saving in time and money over the old plan of hauling by wagons.
The executors of the estate of Luther Tunnell, deceased, propose to sell at private treaty a lot of real estate situated in Greene, Jersey, Macoupin and Montgomery counties.

It is a noted fact that all eyes through this part of the state are turned to our county fair, which is deemed second in importance only to the state fair, which just closed at Chicago.

It is gratifying fact that all our carpenters and builders are busily engaged, and that new buildings are going up, and that other substantial improvements are being made in every direction. Verily, the new era has come, and old things have passed away.

FOREIGN

August, 1865
The result of the municipal elections in France are thought on the whole to have been favorable to the government.
A new Austrian cabinet has been formed, with Count Mensdorff for President of the Council. Austria and Prussia appear to be unable to come to an agreement on the subject of Schleswig-Holstein.

The cholera, which has almost disappeared at Alexandria and Cairo, had at recent accounts advanced westward to Italy.
The war between Brazil and Paraguay still continues to be prosecuted with great vigor.

The Great Eastern arrived at Crookhaven August 17. The Atlantic cable prospects are considered hopeful and it is thought that an attempt would be made to recover the cable.

The famous rose tree planted a thousand years ago by the Emperor le Debonnaire, in the eastern choir of the cathedral at Hildersheim, has been in particularly fine bloom this season, and looks fresher and greener than ever.
A fleet of fifty sail, mostly French, lies off the Rio Grande. Maximilian's forces are estimated at 16,000 to 20,000.
The number of the Army of the Rio Grande increases every week. Troops are rapidly arriving and are marched into the interior and along the Rio Grande. The remainder of Weitzel's artillery is leaving New Orleans.

Everything electric is bigger and better—except the wiring!

Let us help you plan for modern living—electrically—in your present home. If yours is an older home, its original wiring was never intended for the many new electric conveniences we enjoy today. When lights flicker, TV picture shrinks, or the iron or toaster is slow to heat, it means your home has inadequate wiring for today's needs. Now's the time to make your wiring as up-to-date as the rest of your electric living. For a professional recommendation, call your electrical contractor.

Bouquets of rhododendron and palms adorned the altar of the Church of Our Saviour for the nuptial mass Saturday morning, August twenty-eight, when Miss Carole Ann McNamara became the bride of William Jack Ryan.

The Right Reverend Monsignor Michael O. Driscoll officiated for the double ring ceremony in which the bride was given in marriage by her father, Mrs. Alta Eisch presided at the church organ. Marky Halverson of Indianapolis, Indiana, cousin of the bride, served as one of the acolytes.

The bride wore a silk faced peau de soie redingote over a gown of peau, fashioned on empire lines with sheath skirt. Silk illusion interlaced her coiffure to meet a peau bow headdress which held a ballerina veil. She carried a cascade of Eucharistic lilies with ivy and white pearlized grapes.

The bride's attendants wore floor length costumes fashioned similar to that worn by the bride. Their gowns were gold crepe with brocade redingotes. Matching gold crepe bow headpieces held their bouffant veils. Each carried a cascade of English ivy with a cluster of autumn colored grapes.

Mrs. Dallas Ingemumson of Chicago was matron of honor and Mrs. Sam Dooley, Pittsfield and Mrs. Lloyd Peters Jr., Palo Alto, California, were bridesmaids. The honor attendant and Mrs. Dooley were college classmates of the bride and Mrs. Peters was the bride's roommate during her stay in Franklin.

Richard Ryan, Springfield, attended his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Sam Dooley, Pittsfield and Norman Cooleyham.

The former Miss McNamara is the daughter of the Harold McNamaras, 220 Prospect street and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Ryan of Springfield.

Mrs. McNamara wore beige acetate pebble creme with beige and gold accessories and the groom's mother chose green matelasse with gray accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of gold cymbidium orchids with English ivy.

A one o'clock luncheon was served at the Triple Flame, west of Jacksonville, for members of the wedding party, relatives and close friends.

The couple left late Saturday for a wedding trip to Kansas City, Kansas. The bride will resume her studies at Illinois College this fall where she is majoring in English. In January she will join her husband, stationed at Fort Sam Houston near San Antonio, Texas where he also works as a surgical technician at Brooke Hospital.

Prior to the wedding the former Miss Romang was honored at a shower at the Triple Flame assisted by Mrs. Roger Jacques afternoon at the Virginia Country Club where Mrs. Mark Halverson of Indianapolis, Indiana, cousin of the bride, assisted with courtesies.

After a honeymoon in Florida and the Bahamas the newlyweds will make their home at 207 East Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Ryan, a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Illinois College, earned her master of arts degree at University of Ill. and as recipient of a Fulbright scholarship, spent a year at the University of Grenoble in France. She has done further study at Purdue University and the Sorbonne in Paris. She is assistant professor of French and acting head of the Modern Language department at Illinois College where she has been on the faculty the past three years.

Mr. Ryan graduated from Routh High School and Springfield Junior College. He is an Illinois State Police Corporal, serving as Traffic Safety Officer for the Springfield District.

Mayor's Daughter August Bride In Carrollton Rites

CARROLLTON—Miss Pamela Roads, daughter of Mayor and Mrs. Alan Roads of Carrollton and Tom Snodgrass, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Snodgrass of Oregon, Ill., were united in marriage Saturday afternoon, August 21 at the First Baptist church in Carrollton.

The ceremony was performed by the pastor of the church, the Rev. Darwin Rolens, before an altar formed by baskets of white gladioli and mums and greenery.

Mrs. Darwin Rolens was the soloist for the ceremony and playing the organ accompaniment was Mrs. Paul Bales.

Both are from Carrollton.

Miss Suzanne Threlkeld of Canton, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor.

The best man was James Strite of Oregon, Ill. The ushers were Robert Roads, brother of the bride and Marvin Snodgrass, brother of the groom.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white Chantilly lace gown in empire styling. Her veil of French illusion was attached to a pearl headpiece. She carried a bouquet of white geraniums and ivy.

Miss Threlkeld was wearing a floor length gown of white taffeta with a detachable overskirt of the same material. She carried a basket of red geraniums and ivy.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the church parlors after which Mr. and Mrs. Snodgrass left on a wedding trip through the southern states. Upon their return they will make their home in Sycamore, Ill.

Mrs. Snodgrass is a graduate of ISD at Jacksonville and attended the Gradwohl Laboratory Technical school in St. Louis and Northern Illinois University.

brother-in-law as best man. Wayne Thome of Villa Park was groomsmen. Ushers were Jack VanWinkle, Franklin and Ralph Walsh, Jacksonville.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a wedding gown of white lace over taffeta fashioned on classic lines. A pearl trimmed satin rose headpiece held her blusher veil of illusion and she carried a cascade of white roses.

The bride's attendants wore floor length gowns of pink satin, sheath cut, with white overlay lace bodice. Their headpieces matched the costumes and each carried a bouquet of white carnations and greenery.

The bride's mother wore avocado green silk with matching accessories. Her flowers were yellow roses. The mother of the groom was in an embroidered mint green linen with white accessories. Her flowers were also yellow roses.

At the reception held in the church parlors immediately after the ceremony the following assisted, the Misses Sandy Rickelt, Ruth Stout, Joyce Brooks, Nancy Berg, Dale Ann Thome, Barbara DeVore, Debra Neece and Mrs. Jack VanWinkle, Mrs. Geneva Sweet and Mrs. Larry Hood.

The couple are making their home in Springfield since returning from a wedding trip to St. Louis.

Both young people are graduates of Franklin High School. The bride is a student at Memorial Hospital School of Nursing in Springfield. The groom attended DeVry Technical Institute in Chicago and presently attends X-ray Technology classes at Memorial Hospital, Springfield.

Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Parke Ames and Mr. and Mrs. James Ames and son of Oskosh, Wisconsin.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morris and son, Ogden, Utah; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Miller, Cincinnati, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller, Dixon, Ill. and Leonard Smith, Los Angeles, California.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Thome, Villa Park; Mr. and Mrs. James Copland and Christina and C. W. Swaby, all of Arlington Heights; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jolly, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Helivell and Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Sall, all of Peoria and Mrs. Gladys Tompkins, Springfield.

Other guests were from Waverly, Alexander, White Hall and Jacksonville.

The bride was honored at a pre-nuptial party the Monday preceding the wedding. The shower was hosted by Mrs. Larry Hood and Mrs. William Neece, II, at the home of the former.

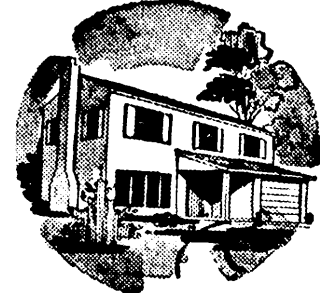

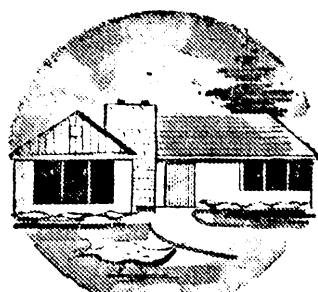

Members of the wedding party, family members and close friends were entertained at a 7:30 o'clock dinner in the evening of the wedding day at the Triple Flame restaurant west of Jacksonville.

Failure To Sign For Draft May Cause Induction
 A few young men are failing to register with the draft within five days after their 18th birthday as required by federal law, according to John H. Hammack, state director of Selective Service for Illinois.
 Such men are usually reported to draft authorities by persons with knowledge of their violation of the law. They are then registered by a local board after which the board may declare them delinquent for failure to register on time and order immediate induction into the Armed Forces.
 If a youth registers promptly at age 18 he will avoid being drafted as a delinquent ahead of his regular turn. Hammack reports.

Teachers Are Appreciated

It is Back to School time again. Whether or not the children are ready to get back to their books and studies, we suspect there are a great many parents who will rejoice at the resumption of school activities.

Fortunately the Jacksonville schools have been refurbished during the summer, construction is well under way on the new High School Vocational Education building, and thanks to the favorable school referendum last year the financial condition of the district is better than it has been in several years.

Fortunately also the local system still has many dedicated teachers who comprise the intellectual heart of our schools. Of the 366 persons employed by District 117 there are 241 certificated teachers. We believe that most mothers and fathers of school-age children genuinely appreciate their efforts.

Recently a grade school teacher showed us a letter which she received from one mother at the close of school last year. We quote from it because we think it reflects the general feeling of the community:

"Dear (Name of teacher omitted)

Buddy finally finished his paper but what a time I had with him. I made him do it by himself with a lot of force. I do believe I would rather work a 10 hour a day job than go through that! How in the world can you stand it? All of the pressure and everything. I'm afraid I'd be in the State Hospital in less than a week if I had as many children to try to teach as you have.

"I didn't realize what you teachers have to go through. It is wonderful God put people like you on this earth. Here I gripe about how hard I have to work but believe me I don't think I will ever do that again.

"You earn every penny you make plus 8 or 4 times more. I really don't envy you one bit. God Bless all of you. Thank you for being so wonderful."

Omnipresent Tomato

In summer it is impossible to escape the tomato — and who would want to? This succulent vegetable is everywhere — on lunch counters and dinner tables, in picnic baskets and lunch boxes. And small wonder. Its versatility fits it for all types of menus and a great variety of concoctions.

The tomato asserts its individuality by being a fruit as well as a vegetable. It eats well hot, cold or at room temperature — salted, sugared or plain — dressed or undressed, or reduced to the juicy essence. One can stuff it, slice it, stew or pickle it, fashion it into a rosette, bury it in a sandwich, or eat it whole drippingly over the sink.

Not the least of the tomato's attractions is the fact that it is economical and easy to grow. The rankest back yard amateur can supply his table with home grown jewels. Anyone with a modicum of green on his thumb can produce giant globes. On top of all this, the tomato has the audacity to be both pretty and good for us. Bursting with vitamins A and C, it lends glamour to other foods by its colorful presence.

One does not brag if one belongs to the small group that doesn't relish tomatoes. One admits disliking them almost as hesitantly as one would admit disapproving of home and mother. Tomato non-eaters are a minority group without a champion, ignored even by the Great Society. We defend their rights — but we think they're wrong. We consider the tomato one of Nature's best gifts to

Dear Ann:

Leaning Toward Wife's Family Puzzling

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Will you please tell me, why, when a couple gets married, the bride takes her husband's name? After the wedding the groom's family may just as well disappear from the face of the earth because they are never heard from again. Why doesn't the groom take the bride's name and be done with it?

Sunday suppers are always with the wife's family. When the grandchildren have birthdays, it is always the wife's mother who is right in the front with HER cake, HER gift, HER party favors and HER camera.

This is not a letter from a bitter mother, although I admit it has happened to me three times. I am speaking for at least a dozen friends who are also mothers of sons. —PUZZLED, HURT AND DISGUSTED

Dear P.H. and D.: What you say is true enough, although each of us knows exceptions.

Perhaps the newly-married couple lean toward the wife's family because the wife makes the social plans and she is closer to her mother than to her mother-in-law.

If anyone knows a better answer please send it on. I'd like to hear it.

Dear Ann Landers: Can anything be done about a husband who refuses to keep his part of a bargain? After ten years of marriage we found ourselves up to our ears in debt. I agreed to go back to work if my husband would help me out around the house.

I really loved being home and considered it a sacrifice to go back to an office job, especially since it meant enlisting my mother's help with our three children.

Now my husband parks himself in the big chair the minute he comes home from work. He refuses to budge. His Lordship won't even take out the garbage. I'm knocking myself out from dawn till dusk, while he relaxes.

Yesterday I learned he bought himself $140 worth of fishing equipment because we are in better financial shape than we've been in for a long time. I am burning. What do you suggest? —SPARKY

Dear Sparky: Tell His Lordship to get off his throne and give Her Ladyship a hand or she will quit her job. If he doesn't straighten out and fly right, make good your threat.

Dear Ann Landers: I went with Dean for three years. We were in college and stone broke. No mention was made of marriage which suited me fine because I was dating others and Dean was never a guy who pushed for heavy romance. He was the tried and true type that I kept on the back burner in case of emergency.

I'm 23 now and still playing the field. Last night I heard that Dean and a mousy little blonde have announced their engagement. This news knocked me out. I realize I care for Dean more than I thought. I'm sure if he knew he stood a chance with me he'd break off with the Mouse.

Would I be making a fool of myself if I let him know that I want him for my own? —TORCHING

Dear Torching: It's funny how some fellows never look good until they get engaged — to someone else. There's something about a "Not Available" sign that makes the property seem twice as valuable.

Use that torch to light the way to another romance and forget about Dean.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The word gladiator means "swordsmen" since it comes from the Latin gladius, or "sword." At exhibitions in ancient Rome as many as 300 pairs fought at one time before the Roman emperors. Contrary to the popular view, some historians hold that spectators who wanted the death of a defeated gladiator turned their thumbs toward their chests as a signal for stabling; those who wished mercy turned thumbs down as a signal to drop the sword.

Sitting In A Wartime Cell In Tokyo You Can Learn Folly Of Censorship

By COL. RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON (NEA)— President Johnson should think a long time before he orders censorship in the Viet Nam war.

Censorship doesn't always serve the best interests of the United States.

The enemy must not get information that would help him win the war. But censorship always gets out of hand. On Dec. 7, 1941, the Japanese in Tokyo put seven of us American correspondents in solitary confinement for six months. During their "softening up" attempts they flaunted photographs of the damage they'd done to the United States fleet at Pearl Harbor.

Nine months later, when we former prisoners arrived in the United States, we learned that the information the Japanese had shown us about the destruction at Pearl Harbor was still being kept secret from the American people in the name of censorship.

We never learned why.

Once censorship is adopted, it balloons. The idea is to keep things from the enemy that he can use against us. Soon every official realizes that any political, economic and military fact is helpful to the enemy. Information of political differences helps him. Knowledge of student demonstrations, strikes, economic inflation, steel production, civil rights marches or governmental mistakes in Saigon or Washington "obviously helps the enemy."

Does it help Hanoi to know that the Buddhists and Catholics are vying against each other in Saigon? Yes! Does it help Hanoi to know about the Los Angeles riots and youth attempts to stop tanks? Yes!

So where does censorship end? After six months of daily 12-hour interrogations by three-man police "investigator" teams in a cell at Nishi Sugamo Prison in Tokyo, the Japanese convicted me of "sending information to the United States which could be used against the national defense of Japan."

The evidence consisted of news dispatches sent the Wall Street Journal in New York.

The Japanese argued that these (primarily economic) articles sent before Pearl Harbor gave information to the American people that would be helpful in fighting Japan.

It did no good to say to the Japanese Justice Department prosecutor that by his definition any accurate news report on economic or political matters would be "useful" in time of war.

When I suggested the law was so written that even the prime minister of Japan could be put into jail because information in his public announcements would be "useful" to the United States in war, the prosecutor said: "You are quite right."

Viet Nam is a political-economic propaganda military struggle.

No human being could write precise rules for this situation. Censors would gradually have wide latitude. They could censor more rather than less to be "safe."

Our mistakes — and "embarrassing incidents" — soon would come under censorship. Americans then would have little knowledge on which to base decisions on Viet Nam.

MOTHER COULDN'T WIN

NEW YORK (AP) — Ellen's Best never won a race in her two seasons on the track but she should be proud of Hail to All. Mrs. Ben Cohen's 3-year-old colt that won the Jersey Derby and Belmont Stakes within six days.

In 14 races, Ellen's Best started 14 times and earned only $250.

Hail to All is her fourth foal, third winner and first stakes winner.

Ellen's Best now is 13 years old.

A GLANCE Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

The Western Illinois Square Dance Jamboree will be held at Nichols Park Wednesday evening. There will be guest callers from Springfield, Taylorville, Decatur and Lincoln.

The Joe P. Hennessey Co. of Jacksonville has been awarded the contract for the renovation of the heating system of Schmitt Memorial hospital, Beardstown. It is estimated 15,000 persons gathered at Nichols Park Sunday for the 50th anniversary of its establishment.

20 YEARS AGO

NESCO is converting from its wartime pattern and will begin the manufacture of electric roasters in six weeks. About 500 men and women will be employed.

Ashland is putting up a bronze memorial for its veterans of the two World wars. There were 90 men of the community in the first war and 250 men and women in the second.

Gene Elchur has been engaged to teach music and direct the Jacksonville high school band and orchestra.

50 YEARS AGO

The steamer Columbia will run an excursion from Pearl to Beardstown Thursday. The excursion is given by the Odd Fellows lodge in Milton and the band from that place will accompany them.

John Reynolds is the proud possessor of a new 1916 model Stutz automobile. The car is the very latest in design, hauls seven passengers and has a 70 horse power engine. His son, Lloyd, is local agent for the Stutz.

The street car line took in $300 more in tariffs this year than it did at the same time last year, which means that the cars hauled 6,000 more passengers than in 1914.

75 YEARS AGO

Hog cholera has attacked the swine on the poor farm and is taking off several shoats every day.

Squire Henderson yesterday fined three Hibernians from the rural precincts of Buckhorn $3 and costs. They had been raising a general racket on the streets and were run in.

The funeral of the late John H. Mathews, which occurred Wednesday, was one of the largest ever seen in Morgan county, over 200 carriages and buggies being in line.

There are now 112 fire plugs in the city, a very commendable showing.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — New network, new cast, new hue. But "My Three Sons" promises the same chucklesome, male-oriented comedy for the coming television season.

"We'll be back in the same groove," assured Fred MacMurray, leader of the masculine household which provided ABC with a high-rated series for five years.

Come September, "My Three Sons" will be back at its same time slot, this time under the watchful eye of CBS. And in color, no less. There will still be three sons, but aging Tim Considine, 25, has been married off to Meredith MacRae; both will disappear into limbo.

The new son is Barry Livingston, 11, brother of the now-middle son, Stanley Livingston, 14. Don Grady, 21, has been promoted to No. 1 son.

"So we're back where we started," MacMurray reported. "Don carries the romantic interest, as Tim used to do. Now Stanley is starting to date girls, and Barry plays the kid."

William Demarest will continue as a replacement for Bill Frawley, forced off the show in midseason last year because of illness.

MacMurray takes the changes calmly, as he does everything else. He didn't even seem greatly upset over losing his summer vacation. He did 15 segments of the series, then reported to Walt Disney for the appropriately titled, "Follow Me, Boys." He'll return to the series directly afterward.

"The addition of color hasn't changed things much," he observed. "Oh, I've got to be a bit more careful about what I wear. And we had to spruce up the set a bit; we didn't realize how dowdy it looked until we saw it on color film. The scenes take a little bit longer to light, but otherwise we just keep rolling along."

COURSE IS SHORTENED

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — Golf courses usually are made longer for big championships these days, but the Pleasant Valley Country Club, site of the Carling World tournament here Aug. 19-22, has been shortened from 7,200 yards to 6,713 yards for the $20,000 event.

FINDING THE WAY

Tragedy of Compromise

By RALPH W. LOWE, D.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"If they pay, we'll dance."

This classic bit of cynicism was expressed by Richard Burton in the course of making a movie which seems to be bad from every point of view. He'd had a disagreement with the director. Being a dramatic artist, he does know good art. But there was that tune of jingling cash, $1.7 million for him and Elizabeth. So they danced. Is that the way it always is?

Unfortunately, that's true for too many. The flagrant willingness of men and women in any profession to do anything for publicity or power or money is too common to need documentation. We have all kinds of bands in our affluent society and many willing dancers.

Rebecca West, in her study of the meaning of treason, has analyzed this willingness to dedicate self to these false gods. The command to worship the one God and one god only demands a kind of single mindedness that these dollar-chasers cannot understand. The worship of false gods is not only the ceremony of bowing down before a golden calf; it is also any prostitution of self, of time or of talent for self-centered satisfaction.

In this same society there are the dedicated scientists who give themselves completely for a goal in research. There are scholars who continue to teach at a particular school or university because they have a sense of commitment. There are young clergymen who work in slum areas and among the underprivileged because they have a sense of vocation.

A few months ago, I tried to attract a young man to a certain position. Instead, he is working in a "store-front church" in Brooklyn, believing that that is his immediate and present vocation.

Vocation, in the finest sense of the word, is discovering the way by which our talents and energies can be used in the pursuit of excellence. We are called to be godly and that can be shared in a variety of ways. There is no sacred or secular calling. The will of God can be discovered in the job of the moment.

Centuries ago, St. Paul made an aside concerning his busy career. "For me to live is Christ," he said. He was identifying the tune!

That is what every man must do. We all share in some dance, but we can determine the beat. That's why it is a tragedy when a man of the artistic possibilities of a Richard Burton decides to do anything for the jingle of the coin.

It's as great a tragedy when any one of us compromises our values in the small decisions of every day. Before we know it, we are the trained seals barking for a fish.

Who calls the tune for your dance?

The Mature Parent

The Adopted Child

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: We adopted our daughter 15 years ago when she was one month old. This week she finally said what I've always known she would say. "We've been having arguments over late hours and when I told her she would have to keep her promises to be home from dates at the times we'd agreed on, she turned on me and said: 'You're not my real mother! Who are you to tell me what to do?'" Please help me. When I think of what I have given this girl . . .

ANSWER: You'd better do a lot more thinking about it. Because when we really know the value of what we've given a child, we don't mind if she calls us a "bad" mother, an "unreal" one or any other kind of mother. Though we may feel momentary hurt, the worth of that giving becomes instantly alive to us, so real that the hurt soon passes.

Of the adopted child who has called us her "unreal" mother, we can only think, "Oh, darling, that 'real' mother of yours housed you resentfully for only 9 months. But I, the 'unreal' one have housed you lovingly for 15 years. So, if it's 'unreal' I am to you, that's fine with me."

Then we'd be ready to say to the adopted child: "Have you been wondering about your real mother, wondering if I've told her to disappear?"

Suspicion of our reliability is characteristic of all adolescents. If we've an adopted daughter, 15, who is questioning our reliability with disparaging comparisons to her "real" mother, it is sensible to put her in touch with that adoption agency that can confirm our truthfulness.

What concerns me about your letter is what you say about "always" knowing that this girl would disparage you.

It tells us that you yourself have been living with a good deal of doubt of your worth of her. It's one thing to say: "When I think of what I have given this child who has hurt me." But it is quite another thing to so appreciate your giving that the whole world could call you an "unreal" mother and you wouldn't bat an eye. It's the absence of your own respect for the reality of the motherhood you have given this girl which is the true problem here. If it isn't real to you, it can't become real to the child. She can only do what you do-mother, wondering if I've told her to disappear.

Soft Margarine Makes Hit

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—A friend says there's a new soft-type margarine that comes in a little tub. Do you know anything about it?

A—Yes, there is such a new product. It contains a high percentage of liquid safflower oil and therefore has a soft consistency. It spreads readily on bread or toast right from the refrigerator or even the freezer. Unlike most margarines, this soft-type comes packed in little plastic tubes, two to a pound.

Editor's Note—Chiffon is the brand name of the product, manufactured in Jacksonville by the Foods Division of Anderson Clayton and Company. Chiffon is the first such margarine of its kind and now accounts for more than 50 per cent of the total margarine production at the Jacksonville plant.

Q—I have more tomatoes from my garden than I can use. Can I freeze them?

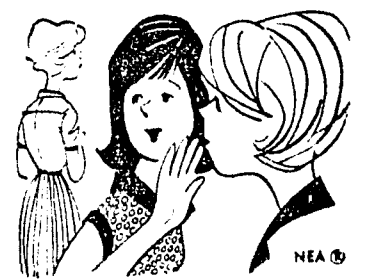

A—Freeze them as juice or stewed, not as whole, fresh, ripe tomatoes, which do not freeze well. Use these directions for freezing:

For Juice—Wash, sort and trim vine-ripened tomatoes. Cut in quarters or eighths, and simmer 5 to 10 minutes. Press through a sieve. Season with one teaspoon salt to each quart of juice. Pour into freezing containers with wide top opening, allowing one-inch space at top of each quart. Seal and freeze.

Stewed Tomatoes — Remove stem ends, peel and quarter ripe tomatoes. Cover and cook until tender (10 to 20 minutes). Place pan containing tomatoes in cold water to cool. Pack into wide-topped freezing containers, leaving one-inch head space per quart; ½-inch per pint. Seal and freeze.

Manners Make Friends

It's difficult to gossip without harming another.

BLASTED PLANT—Fires continued to smolder in the DuPont chemical plant at Louisville, Ky., long after explosions which claimed at least a half-dozen lives. Residents within a three-mile radius of the devastated plant were evacuated as a safety precaution. —NEA Telephoto Cookie Hootstein and Larry Weiss of Boston make up one of the best pairs in New England.

In the mixed pairs of the Southern New England championships at Norwich, Conn., they held the North and South cards on board one and proceeded to get to four spades on the bidding shown in the box.

Cookie's two heart bid on the second round was an absolute force and when she followed up by a jump to four spades Larry knew that she was very interested in a slam. He also knew that he had no slam interest at all and passed.

West opened a heart and Larry proceeded to make five odd. He couldn't do anything about the queen of trumps or ace of clubs, but he handled the two way finesse for the queen of diamonds correctly.

Top on the board was 12 and Larry modestly suggested that his score would be dead average or maybe one point above.

West felt otherwise and estimated a score of just above absolute bottom. In fact West complained that it was always his luck to pick up the bust hands against players who would get the maximum out of their cards. West suggested that several pairs would bid six and go down and that others would stop at four spades but misguess the location of the queen of diamonds and fall to make an over-trick.

We agreed with West even before the scores came out with North-South getting 11 match points out of 12 and poor West and East scoring only one match point.

FBFM Tour Features High Corn Yields, Forage Utilization

Nearly 500 visitors are expected at the north-central Illinois farm management tour of two farms in Stark and Marshall-Putnam counties Friday, Sept. 3.

University of Illinois farm management specialist D. F. Wilken has announced that the Lester and James Leigh farm near Sparland and the Gerald Kieser farm near Camp Grove have been selected for the 1965 tour. These farms have been chosen because they demonstrate high corn yields and maximum use of forages, Wilken says.

The morning stop will be at 10 a.m. on the Leigh farm seven miles west of Sparland on Illinois 17 and then one mile south. Farm Adviser Don McLaughlin and Farm Bureau Farm Management fieldman John Burns will lead the tour. Wilken will also be present to answer questions.

The 480-acre Leigh farm features the use of farm records to study performance of a 130-litter-per-year hog enterprise. The system includes central farrowing and pasture finishing for hogs.

Use SPF Hogs
"When feed costs began to creep up because of disease, the father-and-son partners changed the antibiotic level in feeds and began to use SPF breeding stock, Wilken says. "The fortified SBOM ration they use is mixed on the farm through a roller mill."

The Leighs also make a close check to find out which hybrid corn varieties do best for them. They emphasize varieties that perform well at high plant populations and on soils with high fertility levels. Their corn yields have consistently averaged more than 120 bushels per acre.

Visitors to the Leigh farm will also hear about their low-cost conversion of ear-corn storage to shelled-corn storage and their experiences with supplemental heat-drying.

Profit Level Raised
The combination of corn and hog production on the Leigh farm has increased production returns an average of $20 per acre per year with an increase of only $6 per acre a year in costs.

After lunch on the farm, the tour moves to the Kieser farm, located seven miles west of the Leigh farm, or two miles south and 3 1/2 miles west of Camp Grove. Stark County farm adviser John Ellis and Farm Bureau Farm Management fieldman Arthur Pille will lead this tour on 240 acres of top-quality land.

Since 1960 Kieser has averaged 25 percent more returns in his feeder cattle operation than the average of similar farms for each dollar of feed fed. His system puts to use six tons-per-acre alfalfa yields. A haylage program includes the use of Flemish varieties, a gas-

Each year Kieser uses the six hybrid corn varieties with the highest two-year average yields. During the past five years, his corn yields have averaged 125 bushels per acre, says the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service. All interested persons are invited to attend. Larry Martin In Running For State Team

Ralph Romig, assistant farm adviser, was trying to catch his breath late last week after putting in hectic days for a newcomer: the crowded 4-H fair, helping as ring assistant and dormitory supervisor at the state fair, and moving his family from Missouri to 1215 South Clay ave., Jacksonville.

He announced that Larry Martin of the North Side Seniors has a chance to win a spot on the state 4-H livestock judging team. In the semi-finals held at the state fair Martin jumped to ninth place, and the five man team that will represent Illinois at the American Royal Exposition and the Chicago Livestock Exposition will be chosen from the top 15.

More than 1,200 4-H boys and girls entered in this year's livestock judging contest. Romig also was pleased with Wayne Bloomfield, Berea Ag, who won an "A" rating in the public speaking contest.

"The boys did very well in both the junior and open swine shows," Romig went on to say. "They didn't win any blue ribbons, but they were always in the top 10 or better, which is often as good or better than winning the championship at a county fair."

Harold Hoagland's Durac barrow placed seventh in the carcass contest and Vernie Thomas' entomology and electrical entries placed ninth.

Romig is now receiving 4-H project books and these must be in the Extension office by Tuesday. The leaders of Morgan agriculture clubs and the members of the county committee will spend Sept. 7 going over the books to pick county winners. These names, with their books, will then be entered in regional and state contests which will be completed early in November.

CASS HOMEMAKERS UNIT HAS DINNER MEETING IN CITY

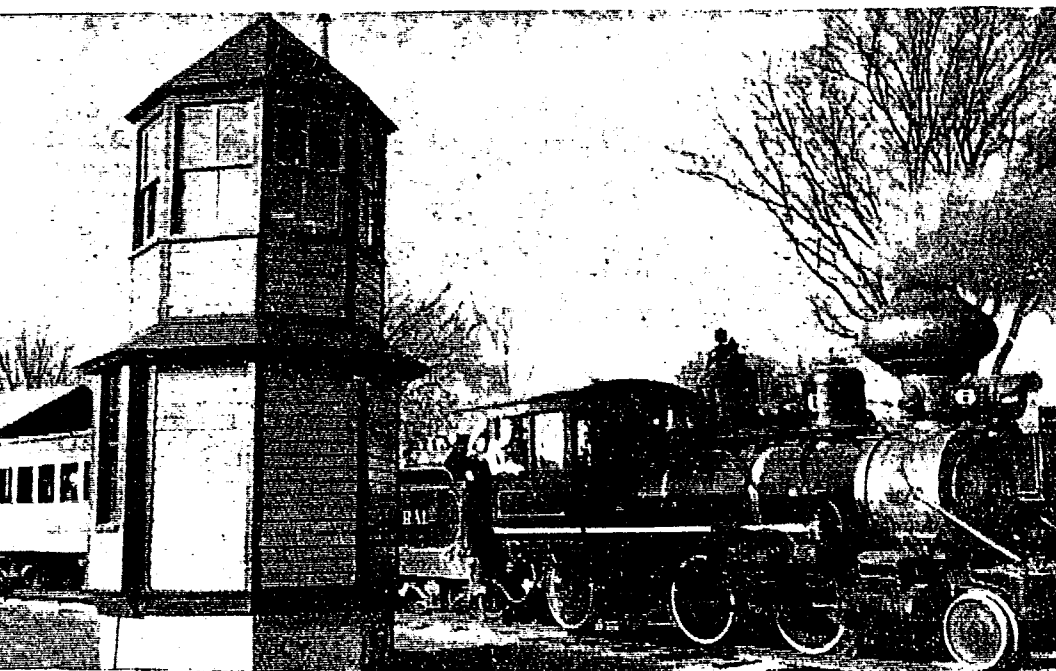

ARENZVILLE — The Arenzville Homemakers Extension Unit met for dinner at the Blackhawk restaurant in Jacksonville August 19.

Mrs. Don Wessler, chairman, conducted a short business meeting during which plans were completed for providing food and working at the food stand at the Cass County Fair.

Members present included Mrs. Milton Carls, Mrs. Myron Beard, Mrs. Ray L. Schnicker, Mrs. Gerald Beard, Mrs. Harold Kruse, Mrs. L. J. Wessler, Mrs. Don Wessler, Mrs. Richard Bartholomew, Mrs. Ray Luconic, Mrs. Melvin Schone, Mrs. David Carls, Mrs. Kenneth Roegge, Mrs. Wayne Zulaw, Mrs. Byron Gish, Mrs. Dean Stock, and Mrs. Robert Werries. Mrs. Rolland Nobis of Oak Lawn, Ill. and Mrs. Trudy Herlevsen of Jacksonville were guests.

There are about 2,000 species of rodents or gnawing animals.

'Steam Days' At Mt. Pleasant

'65 Reunion Opens Thursday

The 16th annual reunion of the Midwest Old Settlers & Threshers association will be held at the grounds at Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, Sept. 2 through Sept. 6.

The association's grounds have been considerably enlarged—33 acres—and much improved during the year. The committee says there will be over 100 steam engines in the parade each afternoon and evening, along with over 100 antique automobiles.

The famous narrow gauge Midwest Central R.R. (shown above) will haul passengers daily. The engine is No. 6, a Baldwin wood-burner built in 1891.

Rolling stock and other equipment consists of 2 locomotives, 3 coaches, 1 caboose, 3 flat cars, engine house, flagman's tower and depot.

The upper smaller picture shows part of the calvacade of old time traction engines puffing along in front of the grandstand and the lower photo depicts the show tent which presents entertainment along the old Chautauqua style every afternoon and evening, and part of the Pioneer Village, which now has authentic replicas, well equipped, of a blacksmith shop, school house, church, barber shop, country store, saloon and fire station.

Additions this year include a larger steam merry-go-round, an old time sorghum mill busy converting cane juice into molasses and a patent medicine wagon.

ILLINOIS OUTLOOK LETTER

CROP PROSPECTS ARE BEST EVER

Crops and crop prospects are the best ever throughout most of the nation. The all-crop production index was 116 on August 1. That's 9 percentage points better than the index for the same date two years ago. That was the best year before this one. Since August 1 most areas have had good rains, and temperatures were not excessive during the first half of the month.

But there are always some exceptions: The northeast is suffering from a long and severe drought. Lack of rain has also hurt crops in Ohio, Michigan and Wisconsin. It has also been a little dry in Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Mississippi and there are a few pockets even in Illinois.

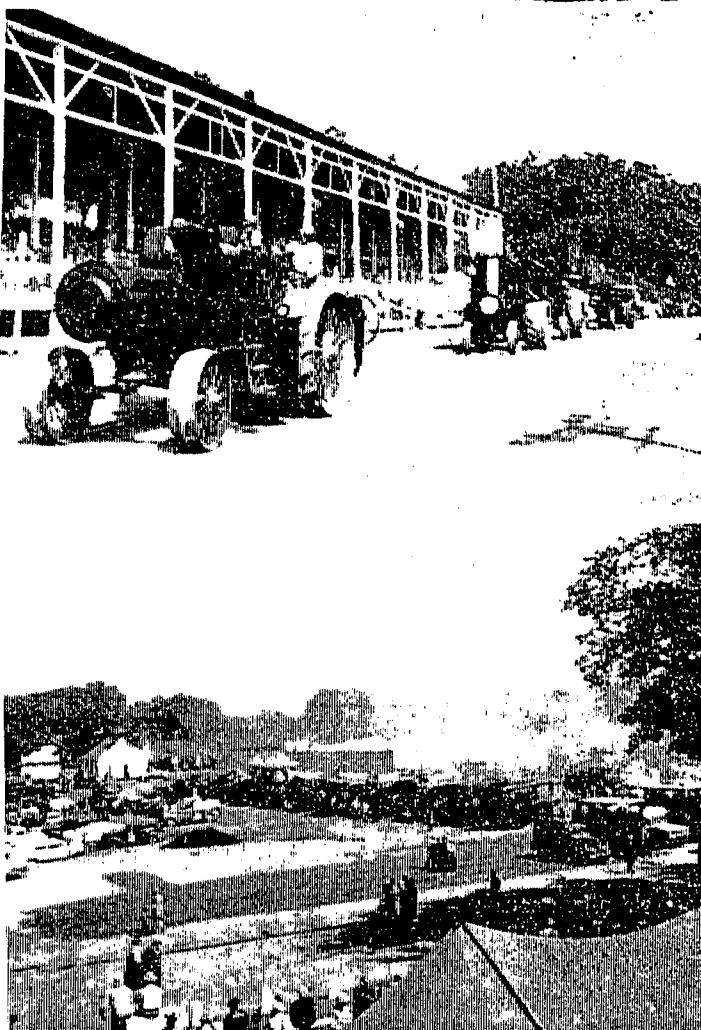

Record crop? On the basis of conditions on August 1, the USDA forecast U.S. corn production of 4,096 million bushels, practically equal to the record crop harvested two years ago. Average yield was calculated 71.6 bushels per acre, 9 1/2 bushels more than last year and 4 1/2 bushels over the previous record set in 1963.

The Illinois corn crop was a forecast at 834 million bushels, which would be 17 percent more than last year and 11 percent above the 1963 record. The Illinois average was forecast at 88.0 bushels per acre, which would be 10 bushels better than last year and 3 bushels better than 1963.

Super record soybean crop? The U.S. soybean crop was a forecast at 864 million bushels. This amount would be 24 percent greater than the previous record crop of 699 million bushels produced in 1963 and matched in 1964. Most of the increase is coming from added acres. Average yield is forecast at 24.9 bushels per acre only 7/10 bushel more than the five-year 1959-1963 average.

The Illinois soybean crop is forecast at 175 million bushels. This total would be 21 percent more than last year, but only 6 percent more than two years ago. At 29.0 bushels per acre, which is 4 bushels more than in 1964, but 1/2 bushel less than in 1963.

Wheat production up — and down. The U.S. wheat crop is estimated at 1.376 billion bushels, up 7 percent from a year

Wood Duck Now Standing Up To The Starlings?

The pesky starling long has been an enemy of the wood duck, often bringing about the loss of an entire brood by taking over the duck's nest. But this year the shoe has been on the other foot, says an article in the current issue of The Illinois Natural History Survey Reports.

The wood duck has always been cherished by Illinoisians. When its numbers and nesting sites on the Illinois river dropped to a low point in the 1930's the Survey Biologist Frank Bellrose of Havana began one of his first waterfowl studies. He found that half the wood duck nests—made in natural cavities in trees—were destroyed by raccoons, fox squirrels, and bull snakes. One of the keys to greater wood duck numbers was apparent: safer nesting sites would produce more young.

Try Nesting Houses
The first efforts revolved around making nesting houses of rough-cut lumber. The wood ducks used these as readily as natural cavities, but unfortunately the predators could and did enter them just as easily.

Because raccoons were the most important nest predators, attempts were next made to design houses that would exclude these mammals. After several years of experimentation an elliptical entrance four inches across and three inches high was found that permitted wood ducks to enter but excluded raccoons weighing ten pounds or more. (At the time of wood duck nesting most raccoons were at least this large.)

Production of sorghum grain is forecast at 824 million bushels, a whopping 27 percent more than last year.

Less barley! The nation's barley crop is forecast at 398 million bushels, 1 percent less than a year ago. Expected average yield is up 4 bushels per acre, but the acreage is down. More oats. U.S. oat production is estimated at 961 million bushels, 9 percent more than in 1964. The Illinois oat crop is figured at 50 million bushels, down 12 percent from the previous year. This reduction was caused by a big slash in oat acreage. The average yield in Illinois is listed at 56 bushels per acre, 6 bushels more than in 1964.

U.S. hay production is up about 3 percent from last year. The Illinois crop is a little smaller because of reduced acreage.

On August 1, U.S. average pasture condition was listed at 78 percent, 9 percentage points better than the year before. The condition of Illinois pastures was listed at 81 percent, 6 percentage points better than last year.

Fertilizer—104 Tons Used In Corn Fields For Picker Contests

ADRIAN, Mich. — Vic Knierim's got a problem that might be compared with the young bride who must prepare Sunday dinner for her new in-laws.

A key difference is that the bride's efforts may be judged by a handful of relatives. Knierim's work will be judged by 100,000 critics later this year.

Knierim's no cook. He's concerned with growing corn — lots of it — to support a 5,000 cattle feeding program on 600 acres near here. And those 100,000 experts who will drop in on Knierim are the expected audience for the 1965 National Corn Picking Contest, scheduled to be held on his farm Oct. 21-22.

Does the prospect of playing host to 100,000 farmers, agribusinessmen and newsmen worry Knierim?

"We are looking forward to having a personal role in this national event, especially since it is being held in Michigan for the first time," explains Knierim, a husky man who has farmed here since 1943.

"Naturally, the task of growing 300 acres of high-quality corn that will provide uniform stands for the competition caused some concern for the sponsors—the Kiwanis clubs of Lenawee county — but a crop was developed that we believe will meet the challenge unless some unusual problem arises between now and fall."

Following the selection of the Knierim farm earlier this year, specialists in various fields were asked to build a corn program to suit the standards of the national event.

Aim: 150 Bushels
Using soil test analyses which had been taken by Knierim's fertilizer supplier as part of his regular soil fertility program, agronomists of the Cooperative Extension Service of Michigan State University developed recommendations on plant population, pest controls and plant food requirements.

Their goal was a yield of 150 bushels an acre, with all the characteristics of a top quality stand to minimize differences that may affect a contestant's performance.

"When the recommendations were made, we found Knierim's own program was nearly exactly the same," according to Ken Smith, agronomist. "He had learned years ago that a complete cropping program was the best way to provide the high corn yields for his large feeder operation."

On some of his best fields, Knierim was following even more intense programs than the plan for the contest acreage. Single-Cross Hybrid

Ag Instructors Of This Area Map Program

The vocational agriculture instructors of Section 15, Future Farmers of America, met at the Jacksonville Holiday Inn Monday for their annual business meeting and to prepare the schedule for the year's meetings, shows and contests.

Stanley Klaus of Carlisleville is serving as section chairman this school year, with Bernard Goetz of Bluffs the secretary. Schools represented were Bluffs, Carlisleville, Southwestern (Piasa), Franklin, Jerseyville, Waverly, Gillespie, Girard, Brussels, Calhoun Unit 40, Staunton, Bunker Hill, Carrollton, Virden, Meredosia, Winchester, Northwestern (Palmyra) and Jacksonville.

William Fortschneider of Jacksonville was the host teacher.

The first event will be the F.F.A. leadership training school to be held at Jacksonville high school Wednesday, Sept. 8, beginning at 4 p.m. Tom Hembrough of Jacksonville, Section 15 chairman and District III director, will organize the school.

The sectional grain show will be held Oct. 20 at Palmyra and the livestock judging contest at Bluffs Oct. 30.

Events to be held in 1966 include the prepared and extemporaneous speaking contest at Franklin, parliamentary procedure contest at Bluffs, farm mechanics skill contest at Waverly and the land use selection contest at Carrollton.

H. W. Homann, state supervisor of agricultural education, met with the instructors to give them the latest details and information of state reimbursement for accredited high school agriculture programs. Last year Illinois reimbursed the schools at the rate of $7.55 for full time programs.

John Matthews, professor of agriculture education at the University of Illinois, was also present and told of the many teaching aids now available upon application to the university.

Findley Assails 'Discrimination' On Soft Wheat

Rep. Paul Findley last week charged that "discriminatory policies of the U.S. Department of Agriculture in fixing wheat export subsidies are contributing to our balance of payments deficit."

Findley, a member of the House Agriculture committee, explained it this way:

"Soft red winter wheat, grown extensively in Illinois and other Midwestern states, has won a large dollar market abroad in recent years. While many sales of other classes of wheat are made under P. L. 480 programs which bring little or no dollar return to the United States, soft red winter wheat exports are largely paid for in hard currencies. In fact, soft red wheat is generally excluded by the Agriculture Department from P. L. 480 purchase authorization."

"A few months ago, the Agriculture Department subsidy payment to exporters was exactly the same for spring wheat shipped from Duluth, hard winter wheat shipped from Gulf of ports and soft red winter wheat shipped from Baltimore. Now these subsidies have been arbitrarily revised so that the export payment rate on hard port.

winter wheat is 7 cents per bushel higher than for soft red winter and 6 cents higher than for hard spring. This obviously gives wheat produced in the Southwest a great competitive advantage in the export market over wheat grown in the Midwest and in the Northern Great Plains area. At the same time, the unfavorable export payment on soft red wheat has given France, the only large exporter besides the United States of this class of wheat, an opportunity to move into markets which we might otherwise supply.

"Result: France adds to her favorable trade balance — we lose the opportunity to improve ours."

"The Agriculture Department has ignored inquiries I made earlier this year for an explanation of its constant juggling and re-juggling of wheat subsidies. This business of playing off one group of wheat producers against another constitutes not only rank discrimination but it is also working against the President's announced objective of improving our balance of payments position."

Let's Go Birding

Time For Bluebird

By Emma Mae Leonard

One of the most frequent questions asked us is "How can I find Bluebirds?" This question comes not only from visitors to our area but from local residents as well. We can assure the questioners that Bluebirds are here, but we can't guarantee that they will be seen; we don't find them on our bird hikes.

Although we are always hungry for the first sight of the Bluebird in the spring and listen for that simple plaintive musical "chur-wi" and the soft gurgling notes of its early spring greeting, we don't always find satisfaction then.

During the nesting season we find it even more difficult to locate the hole in the post or the dead tree where the Bluebirds' babies are concealed. If we have a Bluebird box and are lucky enough to have this bird find it and use it, we are guaranteed a daily experience with this home-loving bird.

Fall is the ideal time to find Bluebirds, not just one or two Bluebirds, but Bluebirds. Now Bluebirds are gathering together, families of young and old. They sit on fences, on telephone wires, on dead branches of trees. First of all, we notice that they appear round-shouldered when they are perching. Even amateurs can soon recognize this characteristic unique posture.

At first this string of birds on the wire may look like any dull gray birds: sparrows, starlings, or swallows. Soon, however, one or more may drop down to the ground like blue feathers and then return with some morsel to eat. As we drive along the highway, this string of bluebirds may move on in front of us. There will be a few bright-blue males, more duller blue females; most of them will undoubtedly be the speckle-breasted grayish young birds with always some telltale blue in the wings. Only the mature ones have red breasts.

We don't want to mislead anyone. We shall not find Bluebirds in as many places as we find swallows or starlings; along a woods full of dead trees punctuated with holes is a good place. We shall not find as large flocks as those of starlings or swallows; Bluebirds are far fewer in number. We can, however, promise eight or ten in a favorable spot. We know; we saw as many on a telephone wire near Crane Lake on August 14. Now's the time to look for Bluebirds.

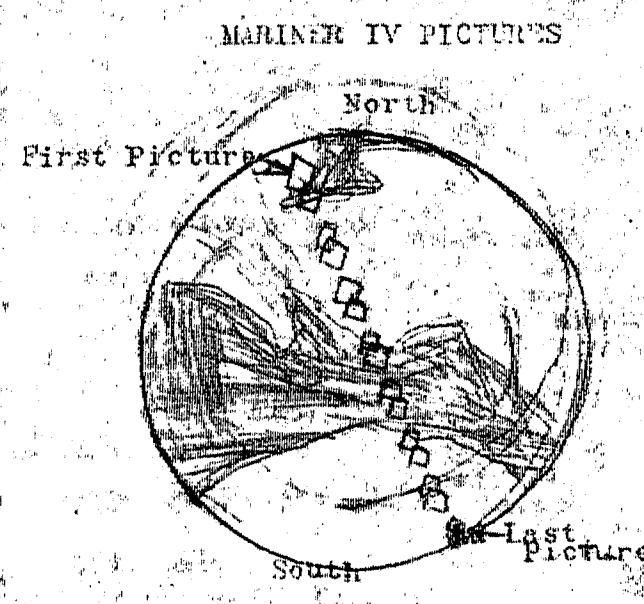

TRAIN ROBBERY FILMS

LONDON (AP) - Columbia has announced plans to make a movie called "The Great Train Robbery," with Anthony Mann directing. This is the second movie inspired by the train robbery in 1963 in which British crooks got away with more than 2,600,000 pounds ($7,280,000). Richard Burton and his wife, Elizabeth Taylor, are planning a similar project.

Mariner IV Meets

By Walter B. Hendrickson, Jr.

For 10 days as Mariner IV neared Mars the Deep Space Instrumentation Facility (DSIF) of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) tracked it carefully. With this effort the NASA scientists were able to measure the 134 million mile distant space probe's speed to within 2 of an inch per second. This careful tracking continued for another 10 days after Mariner IV's flyby of Mars.

Mariner IV began snapping pictures of Mars when it was within 1,000 miles of the planet at 5:20 p.m. PDT on July 14, 1965. For 25 minutes Mariner IV's television cameras snapped pictures as the probe passed within 5,600 miles of Mars.

The scientists back on earth had a few anxious moments when the probe reported that its tape recorder was running continuously instead of shutting off after each picture. This would have caused the tape to run out faster than expected. The scientists feared that they had lost from 7 to 13 of the 21 pictures they had hoped to take. They had to wait until Mariner IV passed behind Mars and then relayed its pictures back to earth to find out if they were right.

No Radiation Belt. Meanwhile Mariner IV's other instruments were reporting on conditions on and around Mars. They showed that Mars has no radiation belt and a magnetic field only .1 per cent as strong as that of earth. However, the planet does have an ionosphere, layer of electrically charged air, as strong as earth at about 98 miles above its surface. This ionosphere is as strong as earth's is at night.

At 7:12 p.m. PDT Mariner IV slipped behind Mars reappearing on the other side 53 minutes later. The probe's radio signals faded out at the start of this occultation (passage behind Mars) and faded in again at the end. This showed that even the dense lower part of Mars atmosphere, which extends 4 to 5 miles above the surface, is only as thick as earth's is at 100,000 feet (about 20 miles) altitude.

Pictures Held Up. The Broadcast of Mariner IV's pictures was held up, as planned, until 9 hours and 35 minutes after it came out from behind Mars. To make sure as

Surprises For Doc

By John Rankin

It was only eight o'clock of a summer morning when Doctor Levine, veterinarian and surgeon, stopped his car in the drive back of his animal hospital and got out. He paused a moment, a heavyset man of middle age and deep suntan, and then walking with a leisurely, sloping gait went inside. His assistant, a tall young man wearing glasses and a crew cut came in from an outer office. "Looks like another busy day, Doc," he said reflectively. "Lots of calls coming in already."

Busy Day. "Saturday is always a busy day, Bob," the doctor nodded. "Who called?" "Those folks that had the funny looking dog in here last week are bringing him back for a checkup," Bob began in routine fashion. "And Mrs. Winkle-

man is bringing her cat in, Mrs. Maynard wants you to look at her canary, and Jim McCord is bringing in a couple of horses."

Doc filled his pipe and lit in a leisurely fashion, threw the match on the floor and then looked thoughtfully at the younger man a moment. "Yeah, Jim McCord," he nodded finally. "He's a lawyer over at Clarksville that runs a Quarter Horse ranch on the side. Anybody else call?"

Donovan's Horse. "Yeah, some fellow named Donovan or something that nearly talked my leg off," Bob added with an amused grin. "Seems he's something of a veterinarian in his own right but he's bringing his sister's cat in for you to look over."

The doctor's mouth flew open and his pipe fell to the floor as he stared with alarm at his assistant. "Sam Donovan!" he gasped. "Don't tell me that eccentric old coot is back in town."

Bob turned from the medicine cabinet where he was arranging bottles on a shelf to flash the frustrated vet a wide grin. "Seems he is, Doc. Got in last night and he's spending the summer with his sister up the street. Why? Is he a little off his rocker or something?"

Doc recovered his pipe from the floor, lit it again and threw the match from him with a grimace when the flame singed his fingers. "He's an oddball all right," he nodded slowly. "But he was a pretty bright fellow in his younger days... and was making good grades in veterinary college when he ran into his allergy and was dropped from the class."

Bob looked around quickly. "An allergy, eh? What was he allergic to? Blood, maybe?" "Doc shook his head. "No. Snakes, turtles, frogs and the like, and even now the sight of almost any wild creature will throw him into a dither. But he still thinks he's a top vet and he drives me to distraction when he comes in here trying to prescribe for every animal that's brought in."

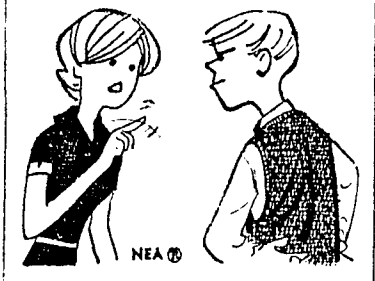

Impish Eddie. Just then the patter of footsteps came from outside and the doctor's young son, Eddie, a little fellow with a freckled nose and impish grin, popped in with a comic book in one hand and a wad of bubble gum in the other. "Hi, Dad," he beamed. "Mom dropped me off here while she does the shopping."

Doc studied the cheerful youngster a moment with mixed emotions. "Okay, old fellow, stay out of trouble and don't put your pet frog in the water cooler again," he said with a good-natured grin. When turning to the assistant he added in a serious tone. "Bring that dog with the broken leg in and maybe we can at least get him fixed up before old Sam storms in with that creepy cat!"

Bob nodded and turned away. At the door he paused and looked back with an amused glint in his eye. "I'm afraid not, Doc," he grinned. "I think this must be the old boy heading in here right now."

Matter of Fact

The game of golf, as it is known today, originated in Scotland, though the time and place are obscure in history. However, it was once so popular in the 15th century that the 14th parliament of King James II of Scotland decreed in 1457 that "fute-ball and golfe be utterly cryed downe, and not to be used" because they interfered with the practice of archery, an essential element in the defense of the realm. This legislation provided the first written reference to the playing of golf.

American Takes Decathlon First

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

BUDAPEST (AP) — Bill Toomey, shot with novocaine to deaden the pain of an injured elbow, rallied in the final event Friday and scored a gold medal victory for the United States in the World University Games decathlon.

The 26-year-old school teacher from Laguna Beach, Calif., won the demanding 10-event competition with a sprinting burst in the stretch of the 1,500-meter run that carried him to first place.

Toomey totaled 7,566 points in the two-day test of stamina, speed and strength, to 7,443 for runner-up Jozsef Bakai of Hungary. Manfred Pflugbeil of West Germany took the bronze medal with 7,413 points.

It was a three-man battle among the top finishers. Toomey took a slight lead into Friday's five events and held first through the 110-meter hurdles, won by Pflugbeil, and the discus, won by Bakai.

But the American injured his right elbow during the pole vault, in which he did only 12-5 1/2 to 13-1 1/2 for Bakai, and the Hungarian went ahead.

At the start of the javelin competition, Toomey was given an injection of novocaine.

"I didn't think I could move my arm," he said. "I threw once and the arm was completely dead. It was a combination of the injury and an old burr condition. The pain was intense."

He did well in the javelin, but still was 19 points behind Bakai through the first three laps. But he started to move up on the last lap, and in the stretch he tore past the tiring German and beat him by 20 meters.

Toomey's time of 4:26.7 brought him 612 points, more than enough to offset Bakai's lead.

America's unbeaten basketball team romped to its sixth straight victory, 83-44, over France, with Lou Hudson of Minnesota scoring 27 points.

Russia won two gold medals in track, with Canada, Sweden, Japan and Italy taking one each as well, raw weather once again marred performances.

The United States, with only 11 men and no women participating in track and field, added a silver and a bronze to Toomey's gold.

Fighting Illini Set At Quarterback Slot

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Illinois' football team apparently will have solid quarterbacking this season — and for at least two additional campaigns. There are three reasons: Fred Custardo, Rich Erickson, and Dean Volkman.

Custardo, 6-0, 197-pound Melrose Park (Proviso East) senior, is slated for the number-one job this fall. He was the regular quarterback last year, and alternated with Mike Taliaferro on the 1963 Big Ten championship and Rose Bowl team.

Statistics indicate Custardo may be underrated among Big Ten signal callers. His 520 conference pass percentage ranked second, and he also finished fifth in the league in total offense and sixth in scoring. He ranked 23rd nationally in number of pass completions.

For the season, Custardo completed 96 of 159 for an excellent 54.7 percentage. He carried the ball 125 times, more than anyone on the squad except fullback Jim Grabowski.

He has a strong, quick arm, and throws a hard, fast pass. He handled Illinois' extra point and field goal kicking last year, although he lacks the range to become an outstanding field goal kicker. Sophomores Erickson and Volkman have shown enough potential to push Custardo for the number-one job as they gain college experience.

Erickson, 6-1, 186-pound Naperville product, has strong wrists and forearms, and can throw the "bomb" as well as complete shorter passes. He also is an excellent runner on the option play — his total of 66 yards gained in 10 carries was second best in the spring intrasquad game.

Volkman, 6-0, 185-pound newcomer from Evansville, Ind. (North), also was a standout in the spring game. He completed six of 11 attempts for two touchdowns and 109 yards. He's an excellent ball handler and a hard worker.

Probable early practice alignment will be Custardo as number-one quarterback, Erickson number two, and Volkman number three.

Rounding out the quarterback corps are Jay Walters, Bourbonnais (Bradley-Bourbonnais) sophomore, and Bruce Sullivan, Watseka Junior. The He handled Illinois' extra point and field goal kicking last year, although he lacks the range to become an outstanding field goal kicker. Sophomores Erickson and Volkman have shown enough potential to push Custardo for the number-one job as they gain college experience.

Rogers' Bat Leads Bucs Over Astros

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Andre Rodgers, who drove in two runs as Pittsburgh rallied for six runs in the ninth inning, singled in Al McBean in the 11th inning as the Pirates edged Houston 10-9 for their seventh straight victory Friday night.

The victory kept the fourth-place Pirates 4 1/2 games behind the National League-leading Los Angeles Dodgers, who defeated Philadelphia 9-4.

Bob Bailey led off the 11th with a single against Mike Cuellar. Al McBean bunted but forced Bailey at second. McBean then raced to second on Cuellar's wild pitch and remained there as Roberto Clemente was walked intentionally.

Chisox, Bosox Split Twin Bill By 3-2, 6-1

CHICAGO (AP) — Dennis Bennett posted his first complete-game victory of the season Friday, pitching the Boston Red Sox to a 6-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox in the second game of a two-night doubleheader.

Chicago won the opener 3-2. The split dropped the second-place White Sox nine games behind American League-leading Minnesota.

Bill Skowron singled in the White Sox run in the eighth. John Buzhardt took the loss.

He was hammered for two runs in the third on singles by Carl Yastrzemski, Tony Conigliaro, Lee Thomas and Frank Malzone. A double by Malzone and a single by Bennett in the sixth gave Boston another run before Lee Thomas' two-run homer capped a three-run ninth-inning uprising.

Ken Berry delivered the winning blow for Chicago in the first game when he doubled Ron Hansen across with two out in the eighth to break a 2-2 tie. Both Boston runs in the game were on homers, by Thomas and Conigliaro. Dick Radatz was the loser.

A's Announce Dark To Take New Position

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Owner Charles O. Finley announced Friday night that Alvin Dark, now a coach with the Chicago Cubs, would become his administrative assistant for the Kansas City Athletics baseball club.

Finley said he would have no further comment about the appointment until a news conference scheduled for 4 p.m., EST, Saturday.

The announcement was made at the baseball park during a game between the Athletics and the New York Yankees.

The announcement came after reports from several sources that Dark, released as manager of the San Francisco Giants at the end of the 1964 season, would become field manager of the Athletics.

Dark, with the Cubs in Milwaukee, had told reporters that such a report was false, but when asked if he would take a job in another capacity with the A's he replied that he had nothing to say and that "any announcement would have to come from the management of the Athletics."

Grant Hurls 2 Hitter For 7-0 Margin

MINNEAPOLIS — ST. PAUL (AP) — Jim (Mudcat) Grant pitched a two-hitter for his 17th victory and drove in four runs, leading the American League-leading Minnesota Twins to a 7-0 triumph over Cleveland Friday night.

Grant, who has lost four games, became the league's winningest pitcher with his fourth shutout of the season.

His two-run single to center field off Sam McDowell in the fourth inning broke a scoreless tie. He knocked in a pair in the eighth with another single and scored as Rich Rollins singled.

The only hits off Grant were singles by Jedro Gonzalez in the fourth and Fred Whitfield in the seventh.

Mays' 40th Ties Record In 9-2 Giants Victory

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Mays hit his 40th home run, setting one National League record and tying a second, while Willie McCovey connected twice as the San Francisco Giants whipped the New York Mets 9-2 Friday night.

A crowd of 56,167, largest single game attendance in Shea Stadium history, saw the Giants end their losing streak at four games and the Mets' winning string at three.

Mays' two-run homer, off Tom Parsons in the eighth inning, was the 493rd of his career, tying him with Lou Gehrig as the fifth-greatest home run hitter in the major leagues. The blow also was Mays' 16th of 16 homers in September, 1949.

Map 40 Day Duck Season In Illinois

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A 40-day Illinois duck season from Oct. 30 through Dec. 8 was announced today by state conservation director William T. Lodge, director of the Illinois Conservation Department.

The daily bag limit of four ducks may not include more of the following species than: 2 wood ducks, 2 canvasbacks, 1 mallard and 1 pintail.

Possession limits may not include more of the following than: 2 wood ducks, 2 canvasbacks, 2 mallards and 2 pintails.

The limits on American red-breasted and hooded Mergansers, in the aggregate of these species, are 1 daily and 10 in possession, of which not more than 1 daily and 2 in possession may be hooded Mergansers.

The daily bag limit on coots is 10 and the possession limit 20. Lodge said the goose season will open statewide, with the exception of Alexander, Jackson, Union and Williamson counties, on Oct. 15 and close at sunset Dec. 8.

The goose season in Alexander, Jackson, Union and Williamson counties will open Nov. 8 and close at 3 p.m. Dec. 22. However, the goose season in the four counties may be closed before Dec. 22 if the harvest quota of geese, as established by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, is reached.

The daily bag and possession limits of 1 geese may not include, in the alternative, more of the following species than: 2 Canada geese or subspecies, 2 white-fronted geese, or 1 Canada goose or subspecies and 1 white-fronted goose.

The loss was the fourth straight for the frustrated Phillies, who blew a 4-1 first-inning lead.

Short Pins Sox Hopes On Sept.

CHICAGO (AP) — Baseball's 14-1. So that's 24-3 and Boston those two clubs and we have to hope that the law of averages will catch up with the Twins in their remaining six with Washington and three with Boston.

Short noted that the second-place Sox 72-52 have three more games left then the pace-setting Twins 80-47.

"That means by winning all three, we can pick up 1 1/2 games on our own," he said, adding, "and don't forget we are only five games down to the Twins in the loss column at the moment."

"So it's pretty obvious how important our five remaining games with Minnesota Sept. 3-5 and Sept. 8-9 will be."

In the last 15 days, the White Sox mainly on a 10-game winning streak-whittled their lag behind the Twins five games from 11 1/2 to 6 1/2.

"All I can say, is that you don't win the pennant on Sept. 1," said Short. "Everybody knows what happened to the Philadelphia Phils with a 6 1/2 game lead and two weeks left last year."

"Closer to home, last year at this time the Yankees were third, five games behind the Baltimore Orioles and we were second 1 1/2 behind. So the Yankees won by one over us and by two over Baltimore."

The loss was the fourth straight for the frustrated Phillies, who blew a 4-1 first-inning lead.

For Drysdale, now 18-11, it was his first victory over Philadelphia since June 1, 1962. But he needed help at the end. Howie Reed taking over at the start of the eighth.

Drysdale gave up nine hits, including homers by Tony Gonzalez in the first and John Callison in the sixth.

Mays' 40th Ties Record In 9-2 Giants Victory

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Mays hit his 40th home run, setting one National League record and tying a second, while Willie McCovey connected twice as the San Francisco Giants whipped the New York Mets 9-2 Friday night.

A crowd of 56,167, largest single game attendance in Shea Stadium history, saw the Giants end their losing streak at four games and the Mets' winning string at three.

Mays' two-run homer, off Tom Parsons in the eighth inning, was the 493rd of his career, tying him with Lou Gehrig as the fifth-greatest home run hitter in the major leagues. The blow also was Mays' 16th of 16 homers in September, 1949.

Mays also set National League records with his sixth 40-homer season.

To vary the popular sliced orange and onion-ring salad, add chopped fresh mint. Arrange the orange slices and onion rings on salad greens, drizzle with French dressing (oil and vinegar) and sprinkle with the mint.

Acres - Carls

VIRGINIA — Miss Linda Lou Carls of Virginia and Alfred Hubert Acres of Jacksonville were united in marriage at two o'clock Sunday afternoon, August twenty-second at the local Methodist church.

The Reverend Rusby Slinkard officiated for the ceremony at an altar adorned with white glads, tapers in candelabra and greenery. Mrs. Jeff Knight was at the organ and accompanied the soloist Leland Herzberger.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Floyd Carls of Virginia and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Acres, 348 West Douglas avenue, Jacksonville.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor length gown of Chantilly lace with bouffant skirt worn over hoops. Her silk illusion veil fell from a jeweled organza headpiece and she carried white roses and turquoise carnations with ivy.

Miss Mary Lou Dudley was maid of honor and Miss Bonnie Sue Williams the bridesmaid. They wore identical gowns, floor length, of turquoise silk organza over taffeta. Matching veiled headpieces were embroidered with sequins and each carried a nosegay of turquoise and white carnations.

Cindy Acres, niece of the groom, was flowergirl. She wore white and turquoise with a matching headband. Jeff Lyons, cousin of the bride, was ringbearer.

George Acres attended his brother as best man and Robert Acres, another brother of the groom, was groomsman. Ushers were Lanny Simmons, Larry Carls and Terry Carls, brothers of the bride, who also lighted tapers at the altar.

The bride's mother wore pink embroidered linen with matching color accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations. The groom's mother wore pastel blue with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

A reception was held at the Rossi restaurant here following the ceremony. Assisting were Miss Barbara Fanning, Miss Diane Sutherland, Mrs. Randall Eskew, Miss Cheryl Simmons, Mrs. Fred Reither, Miss Janet Griffin, Miss Joan Crain, Miss Chere Pettit.

After a wedding trip to the Ozarks the couple will reside at 228 West Adams street in Springfield. The bride is employed in the Secretary of State's office and the groom by Standard Oil Company in that city.

BEVERLY SANDIDGE HIBBETT GETS DEGREE

Mrs. Beverly Sandidge Hibbett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Sandidge of Pittsfield, former Jacksonville residents, received a B. S. in Education degree at summer commencement exercises Friday, August 20, at Memphis State University in Memphis, Tennessee.

Mrs. Hibbett attended Freed-Hardeman College for two years and Middle Tennessee State College for one year prior to her enrollment at Memphis.

She is a 1961 graduate of Jacksonville High school.

Mrs. Robert Fearneyhough

Granddaughter Of Mrs. Achenbach Will Be Bride

CARROLLTON — Mrs. P. J. Achenbach of Carrollton has received word of the engagement of her granddaughter, Marshall Lea Metcalf and Lt. Jack Murray Seymour Jr., of the U. S. Army Reserve.

The announcement was made at a garden party given by the bride elect's parents, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Ralph Marion Metcalf USN (ret) of Saratoga, California.

A winter wedding is being planned.

Marshall Lea Metcalf

Miss Metcalf attended Monticello College at Alton and was graduated in 1964 from Sweet Briar College Phi Beta Kappa with "highest honors" in French. She attended the University of Paris and the Ecole du Louvre during her junior year. She is completing her master's degree in French at Stanford University.

Her fiancé is the son of Captain and Mrs. Jack Murray Seymour, USN (ret) late of London, England. He is a graduate of Dartmouth College, 1962, cum laude with a major in international relations. He was a member of the Dartmouth Outing Club and Phi Tay fraternity. Commissioned upon graduating, Lt. Seymour attended the infantry school at Fort Benning, Ga., and the army language school at Monterey. He is now serving in Berlin.

Pilot Club Picnic Held At Young Home

The Pilot Club picnic was held at Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Young's home. Our most gracious hostess, Louella Young, shared her home and yard with her Co-Pilots. Charcoal broiled hamburgers were served along with salads and potato chips. Home made ice cream and cake was a special treat.

Special guests were Vida Sloan, sister of the hostess, Marie Hays, and Eve Huey—all from Springfield. The latter two are sister Pilots.

A prize brought from Haiti by Catherine Rowe was raffled off. The benefits go to "Meals for Millions."

Two Jacksonville Pilots have recently won International recognition: Catherine Rose, for a cake recipe accepted in the "Pilot International Cake Cook Book," and Flo Lasley's co-worker Ned Williams for a cover he designed. The cover will be used for the "International Founder's Day Program."

ROODHOUSE COUPLE MARRIED 62 YEARS

ROODHOUSE — Mr. and Mrs. Pearl (Pete) W. Stansbury celebrated their 62nd wedding anniversary quietly, Aug. 24 at their home here. Mrs. Stansbury is the former Lillian Jean Filson. Mr. Stansbury is a retired railroad.

They have three children: Mrs. Harold (Lillian) Beauchamp, Gail Stansbury, Roodhouse; and Ralph Stansbury and Lynn Stansbury, St. Louis Mo. There are ten grandchildren and twelve great-grandchildren.

Friends called during the day with gifts and greetings as well as members of the family.

Mrs. Beauchamp was active with the youth work in the Christian church until she underwent surgery last November. She is now confined more to her home.

Fearneyhough Peaks Rites

Miss Veronica Peaks of Cheyenne, Wyoming and Robert G. Fearneyhough, son of Mrs. Fern Fearneyhough, 915 West Chambers street, Jacksonville, Illinois, were united in marriage Saturday evening, August twenty-first, in Chappell, Nebraska.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Peaks of Chappell.

The Reverend L. R. Reinemann of Duluth, Minnesota and the Reverend John Bundschuh of Chappell officiated for the double ring ceremony performed at the Zion Lutheran church.

Mrs. Ralph Hicks of Grand Prairie, Texas was matron of honor and Miss Judy Connell of Riverton, Wyoming was bridesmaid.

Robert Bernhardt of Cheyenne, Wyoming was best man. Ushers were Gordon Peaks and Barry Bruns of Chappell. Ted Peaks, brother of the bride, was soloist.

Candles at the altar were lighted by David and Kathleen Miller, niece and nephew of the bride. Brian Bernhardt of Cheyenne was ringbearer. Rebecca Reinemann, niece of the bride, was the flowergirl.

Following a visit in Jacksonville with the groom's mother and family the newlyweds will make their home in Cheyenne, Wyoming where both teach in the public schools.

To Be Bride

Patricia Sue Carlton

WINCHESTER — Mr. and Mrs. John D. Carlton announce the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Sue, to Robert Edward Frost, son of Mrs. C. R. W. Frost and the late Mr. Frost. An early fall wedding is planned.

Patricia is a graduate nurse and employed in the office of Dr. A. G. Schultz in Jacksonville. Edward attended Ottawa University. He has extensive farming interests, manages the Big Swan Farm and is employed in the First State Bank here.

For a combination salad and dessert, pare fresh pears, halve and remove the seed and stem structure. Fill the pear cavities with small seedless grapes and top with commercial sour cream. Garnish with tiny inner leaves of romaine, watercress sprigs or the inner yellow leaves of escarole or chicory.

Bivin-Molen

A ceremony at the Modesto Baptist church on August first united in marriage Miss Sandra Lee Molen of Modesto and Larry Hersel Bivin of Palmyra. The Reverend William Loafman performed the double ring ceremony at the candlelighted altar adorned with pink and white gladioli.

Mrs. William Loafman sang and Mrs. Sandra McKinney was at the organ.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Molen of Modesto and the groom is the son of Hersel H. Bivin and Mrs. I. C. Watkins.

Guests were seated by Jay Dun, uncle of the bride Leon Turner and Bill Dunn of Decatur and Steven Dunn, Buffalo, cousins of the bride.

Miss Vicki Krec of Livingston, Illinois was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. Linda McNeeley, Waverly and Mrs. Kathy Grimmer of Springfield.

Harvey Bivin attended his brother as best man. Carl Weller, Palmyra and James Launer of Modesto were groomsmen.

Debbie Dunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dunn, Buffalo, was flowergirl and Roger Thursby, son of the Howard Thursbys, was ringbearer.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of silk organza and French lace with pearl and sequin adornment. Her veil of illusion was attached to a forward cluster of illusion petals and sprays and she carried pink rosebuds, stephanotis and ivy with her white lace covered Bible.

Attendants to the bride were gowned identically in pastel pink floor length silk organza over satin. Veiled cluster headpieces carried their gowns and each carried a nosegay of white carnations and pink rosebuds.

The little flower girl wore a costume identical to those worn by the adult attendants.

The bride's mother wore poudre blue French lace with blue accessories. The groom's mother was in navy blue with white accessories. Both wore corsages of pink carnations.

A reception was held in the community building as Modesto to after which a buffet supper was served at the home of the bride's parents.

The newlyweds will make their home west of Modesto. Mr. Bivin is a faculty member in the Franklin school district and the bride attends Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Guests attended from Normal, Edwardsville, Green Valley, Long, Shipman, Decatur, Livingston and Hannibal, Mo.

Dress for the Sea-Side

Something like a tendency to return to modes of a more simple description characterizes the Paris fashions for the month of September. Whether this gratifying symptom be owing to the severe castigation of the eccentricities and extravagance of ladies' toilets inflicted by M. Dupin (who has been vigorously seconded by many of the French journalists), or to the absence of the Court and aristocracy from Paris, is a question that can only be resolved after the return of the high-life folks to their habitual quarters. Whatever may be the solution, it is to be remarked at this season that the dresses at least have returned to a style of simplicity that can not fail to be approved by the paymaster of the house. Plain materials, the employment of little or no ornament, a diminution in the ampleur of the robes, indicate, at any rate, a short interval of sobriety in the taste of the Parisians.

— HARPER'S WEEKLY

News, Views Century Ago

From the Jacksonville Sentinel:
VILE CHARACTERS — During the influx of strangers and people from the country, in attendance at our county fair, a rich harvest was enjoyed by thieves, gamblers and pickpockets. Several of these gentry, however, while in the practice of their profession, fell into the hands of our city police.

R. R. — The St. Louis, Jacksonville & Chicago railroad was opened to Carrollton on last Saturday. The work on the road south of Carrollton is, we understand, being prosecuted with energy. The completion of this road to St. Louis will confer invaluable benefit upon the agricultural interests of this section.

ATTEMPT TO BREAK JAIL — We learn that an attempt of the prisoners confined in our county jail to make their escape was frustrated this week by Sheriff Palmer. Mr. Palmer in examining the hall in which the prisoners remain during the day when let out of the cells, discovered that some of the rivets of the iron plating of the hall had been nearly sawed off, leaving only a thin brick wall to perforate. He thus, by his vigilance, frustrated the projected escape on the eve of its accomplishment.

There are now twelve prisoners confined in the jail awaiting trial at the coming term of the Circuit Court. Sheriff Palmer is determined that they shall be kept safe to wait the action of the law in their several cases.

From the Carrollton Gazette:
The train every day brings a large amount of freight to this place, which is considerable of a saving in time and money over the old plan of hauling by wagons.

The executors of the estate of Luther Tunnell, deceased, propose to sell at private treaty a lot of real estate situated in Greene, Jersey, Macoupin and Montgomery counties.

It is a noted fact that all eyes through this part of the state are turned to our county fair, which is deemed second in importance only to the state fair, which just closed at Chicago.

It is gratifying fact that all our carpenters and builders are busily engaged, and that new buildings are going up, and that other substantial improvements are being made in every direction. Verily, the new era has come, and old things have passed away.

DOMESTIC

August, 1865
In 1654 a trial took place in Connecticut, under the section of the blue laws prohibiting kissing. The offenders were Sara Tuttle and Jacob Newton. It appears that Sarah dropped her gloves and Jacob found them. When Sarah asked for them Jacob demanded a kiss for pay and as the demand did not seem extravagant, she adjusted it forthwith. The facts were clearly proved, and the parties were each fined twenty shillings.

The latest estimates of the Kentucky elections give five members of Congress in favor of the abolition of slavery as positively elected out of the entire nine.

A theatre, said to be the only one now in Texas, has been lately opened at Galveston.

The Army of the Tennessee proposes to erect a suitable monument over the grave of their former commander, Major-General James B. McPherson, one of the most accomplished soldiers and truest heroes of the war. Major-General John A. Logan is the chairman of the Committee on Correspondence.

FOREIGN

August, 1865
The result of the municipal elections in France are thought on the whole to have been favorable to the government.

A new Austrian cabinet has been formed, with Count Mensdorff for President of the Council. Austria and Prussia appear to be unable to come to an agreement on the subject of Schleswig-Holstein.

The cholera, which has almost disappeared at Alexandria and Cairo, had at recent accounts advanced westward to Italy.

The war between Brazil and Paraguay still continues to be prosecuted with great vigor.

The Great Eastern arrived at Crookhaven August 17. The Atlantic cable prospects are considered hopeful and it is thought that an attempt would be made to recover the cable.

The famous rose tree planted a thousand years ago by the Emperor le Debonnaire, in the eastern choir of the cathedral at Hildersheim, has been in particularly fine bloom this season, and looks fresher and greener than ever.

A fleet of fifty sail, mostly French, lies off the Rio Grande. Maximilian's forces are estimated at 16,000 to 20,000.

The number of the Army of the Rio Grande increases every week. Troops are rapidly arriving and are marched into the interior and along the Rio Grande. The remainder of Weitzel's artillery is leaving New Orleans.

JHS Student Checklist

On Monday Jacksonville High School freshmen will report to the David Prince gymnasium where student council members will serve as guides to home-rooms. Upperclassmen will find home room assignments posted on a bulletin board in the front hall.

Students are expected to be in the building before 8:45 a.m., classes will be dismissed at 11 a.m. and buses will leave the high school at 2:30 p.m.

Fees may be paid to home room teachers between 1 and 3 p.m. The book rental fee is $8, insurance, $3.25 and an activity ticket will cost $5.

Students taking four subjects will need $16.25 to cover fees. Correct change should be given and checks made payable to Jacksonville High School.

GREENFIELD LEGION ELECTS OFFICERS

GREENFIELD — The Greenfield American Legion has elected the following officers: commander, Clarence Tudy; senior vice commander, Frank Langley; junior vice commander, Hal Plogger; finance officer, William C. Meng; chaplain, Charles E. Burroughs; sergeant-at-arms, Warren Cook; historian, W. J. Chambers; service officer, Claude Gustine; adjutant, Francis Kuhnline; past commander, Rolland Schild.

The American Legion building will be available to organizations and family groups for a fee of $10 and reservations to be made with Commander Tudy. Mrs. Lynn Kinser will be hostess.

Less to the Mary Martha Circle of the Baptist Church at a coffee hour beginning at 9 a.m. at her country home Thursday, Sept. 2. She will be assisted by Miss Pearl Bermes.

Mrs. T. E. VanBebber will lead the devotions and Mrs. Edwin Heber will present the lesson. A gift offering will be received. I and II Timothy are Bible books of the month.

Miss Cheri Bowman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Bowman, and Miss Mary Roller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Drayton Roller, all of Greenfield, were graduated from St. Luke's Hospital School of Nursing in St. Louis Thursday night.

Miss Bowman and Miss Roller graduated from Greenfield High School in 1962. Their parents attended baccalaureate services in Webster Groves Sunday night.

COULD THIS BE YOUR HOME?

Everything electric is bigger and better — except the wiring!

Let us help you plan for modern living—electrically—in your present home. If yours is an older home, its original wiring was never intended for the many new electric conveniences we enjoy today. When lights flicker, TV picture shrinks, or the iron or toaster is slow to heat, it means your home has inadequate wiring for today's needs. Now's the time to make your wiring as up-to-date as the rest of your electric living. For a professional recommendation, call your electrical contractor.

JUST ONE MORE WAY WE'RE AT YOUR SERVICE

The Reddy 100 amp Award is given to older homes which meet modern standards for adequate wiring. For information on how your home can qualify, ask at Illinois Power.

AWD Auxiliary
Elects Slate,
Names Delegates

Mrs. Mildred Smith, president, presided over the business session of the American War Dads Auxiliary Unit 28 at the meeting held Aug. 24th at the Legion Hall, in conjunction with the War Dads meeting.

The Auxiliary's Past President's club reported a party at the Jacksonville State Hospital, under the Volunteer Services department when 45 men were served cupcakes and coffee and games were conducted. Helping were Mrs. Nina Abbott, Mrs. Bernice Ruby, Mrs. Lena Wyatt, Mrs. Eula Bland and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Newberry.
Officers elected at this meeting included: president, Mildred Smith; first vice president, Essie Smith; second vice president, Ollie Proffitt, treasurer, Lucile Newberry; historian, Margaret Coraor; chaplain, Eula Bland and sergeant-at-arms, Lena Wyatt.

Delegates for the National convention, to be held Oct. 16-17 at Topeka, Kansas, were also named. Delegates are Lena Wyatt, Amelia Losch, Zella Ingram, Opal Bends and Mildred Smith. Alternates are Lucille Cox, Ruth Hicks, Essie Little, Jessie McIlrath and Bernice Heimlich.
Oliver McIlrath and Wallace Hemmrough presented the program for the Chapter and Auxiliary on World Affairs, with the former speaking and making comparisons of the world of today as opposed to that of yesterday.

The social committee, Mrs. Ruth Hicks and Mrs. Lucille Cox, served lovely refreshments.

Failure To Sign
For Draft May Cause Induction

A few young men are failing to register with the draft within five days after their 18th birthday as required by federal law, according to John H. Hammack, state director of Selective Service for Illinois.
Such men are usually reported to draft authorities by persons with knowledge of their violation of the law. They are then registered by a local board after which the board may declare them delinquent for failure to register on time and order immediate induction into the Armed Forces.

If a youth registers promptly at age 18 he will avoid being drafted as a delinquent ahead of his regular turn, Hammack reports.

Chop anchovy fillets and mix with cream cheese; use this as a stuffing for small wedges of celery. Serve as a before-dinner appetizer with tomato juice.

Cookie Hoolstein and Larry Weiss of Boston make up one of the best pairs in New England.

In the mixed pairs of the Southern New England championships at Norwich, Conn., they held the North and South cards on board one and proceeded to get to four spades on the bidding shown in the box.

Cookie's two heart bid on the second round was an absolute force and when she followed up by a jump to four spades Larry knew that she was very interested in a slam. He also knew that he had no slam interest at all and passed.

West opened a heart and Larry proceeded to make five odd. He couldn't do anything about the queen of trumps or ace of clubs, but he handled the two way finesse for the queen of diamonds correctly.

Top on the board was 12 and Larry modestly suggested that his score would be dead average or maybe one point above.

West felt otherwise and estimated a score of just above absolute bottom. In fact West complained that it was always his luck to pick up the bust hands against players who would get the maximum out of their cards. West suggested that several pairs would bid six and go down and that others would stop at four spades but misguess the location of the queen of diamonds and fall to make an over-trick.

We agreed with West even before the scores came out with North-South getting 11 match points out of 12 and poor West and East scoring only one match point.

FIRE BOMBED—Violence again hits Elizabeth, N.J., scene of one of last summer's race riots. This store was one of several in the same waterfront area as last year's clashes damaged by Molotov cocktails in a night of hit-and-run attacks by Negro youths. —NEA Telephoto

Findley Assails 'Discrimination' On Soft Wheat

Rep. Paul Findley last week charged that "discriminatory policies of the U.S. Department of Agriculture in fixing wheat export subsidies are contributing to our balance of payments deficit."

Findley, a member of the House Agriculture committee, explained it this way:

"Soft red winter wheat, grown extensively in Illinois and other Midwestern states, has won a large dollar market abroad in recent years. While many sales of other classes of wheat are made under P. L. 480 programs which bring little or no dollar return to the United States, soft red winter wheat exports are largely paid for in hard currencies. In fact, soft red wheat is generally excluded by the Agriculture Department from P. L. 480 purchase authorization."

"A few months ago, the Agriculture Department subsidy payment to exporters was exactly the same for spring wheat shipped from Duluth, hard winter wheat shipped from Gulf ports and soft red winter wheat shipped from Baltimore."

"Now these subsidies have been arbitrarily revised so that the export payment rate on hard winter wheat is 7 cents per bushel higher than for soft red winter and 6 cents higher than for hard spring. This obviously gives wheat produced in the Southwest a great competitive advantage in the export market over wheat grown in the Midwest and in the Northern Great Plains area. At the same time, the unfavorable export payment on soft red wheat has given France, the only large exporter besides the United States of this class of wheat, an opportunity to move into markets which we might otherwise supply."

"Result: France adds to her favorable trade balance — we lose the opportunity to improve ours."

"The Agriculture Department has ignored inquiries I made earlier this year for an explanation of its constant juggling and re-juggling of wheat subsidies. This business of playing one group of wheat producers off against another constitutes not only rank discrimination but it is also working against the President's announced objective of improving our balance of payments position."

ECUADOR TO GET STATUE OF COLUMBUS — A 3.85-ton marble statue of Christopher Columbus is en route by ship to Ecuador to be placed in front of the Italian Embassy in Quito on a square to be called Piazza Italia. It was donated by industrialists of Columbus' home port.

American Takes Decathlon First

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer
BUDAPEST (AP) — Bill Toomey, shot with novocaine to deaden the pain of an injured elbow, rallied in the final event Friday and scored a gold medal victory for the United States in the World University Games decathlon.

The 26-year-old school teacher from Laguna Beach, Calif., won the demanding 10-event competition with a sprinting burst in the stretch of the 1,500-meter run that carried him to first place.

Toomey totaled 7,566 points in the two-day test of stamina, speed and strength, to 7,443 for runner-up Jozsef Bakai of Hungary. Manfred Pflugbeil of West Germany took the bronze medal with 7,413 points.

It was a three-man battle among the top finishers. Toomey took a slight lead into Friday's five events and held first through the 110-meter hurdles, won by Pflugbeil, and the discus, won by Bakai.

But the American injured his right elbow during the pole vault, in which he did only 12-5 1/2 to 13-1 1/2 for Bakai, and the Hungarian went ahead.

At the start of the javelin competition, Toomey was given an injection of novocaine. "I didn't think I could move my arm," he said. "I threw once and the arm was completely dead. It was a combination of the injury and an old bursitis condition. The pain was intense."

He did well in the javelin, but still was 19 points behind Bakai through the first three laps. But he started to move up on the last lap, and in the stretch he tore past the tiring German and beat him by 20 meters.

Toomey's time of 4:28.7 brought him 612 points, more than enough to offset Bakai's lead.

America's unbeaten basketball team romped to its sixth straight victory, 83-44, over France, with L. O. Hudson of Minnesota scoring 27 points.

Russia won two gold medals in track, with Canada, Sweden, Japan and Italy taking one each as wet, raw weather once again marred performances.

The United States, with only 11 men and no women participating in track and field, added a silver and a bronze to Toomey's gold.

ey's gold. Americans have won 12 gold medals over-all in the 10-day student Olympics, which end Sunday.

Bill Crothers brought Canada its first gold medal of the games, winning the 800 meters in 1:47.7. George Germann of Port Crane, N.Y., won the silver, trailing the winner by five meters at the finish. Rudolf Klamban of Austria was third.

Valery Skvortsov of Russia took the men's high jump at 7-1 1/2 and the Soviet Union's Tatiana Sceskanova won the women's broad jump with a leap of 21 feet.

Allen Fox of Los Angeles, topped in men's tennis singles, salvaged a bronze medal with a 6-3, 6-3, 6-3 victory over Isao Watanabe of Japan.

He did well in the javelin, getting off a toss of 194 feet, 9 inches on his only throw, but still was 19 points behind Bakai.

Then in the closing heat of the 1,500, Toomey trailed Pflugbeil through the first three laps. But he started to move up on the last lap, and in the stretch he tore past the tiring German and beat him by 20 meters.

Williams Powers Cubs To 5-3 Win Over Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Billy Williams socked the fourth grand-slam home run of his career Friday night as the Chicago Cubs dealt the Milwaukee Braves their fourth straight defeat 5-3.

Williams' slam climaxed a five-run fifth-inning outburst against Ken Johnson.

The Braves rallied and knocked out starting pitcher Bob Buhl in the eighth after home runs by Felipe Alou and Mack Jones narrowed the Cubs' lead to two runs. Ted Abernathy came on and preserved the victory.

Rogers' Bat Leads Bucs Over Astros

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Andre Rodgers, who drove in two runs as Pittsburgh rallied for six runs in the ninth inning, singled in Al McBean in the 11th inning as the Pirates edged Houston 10-9 for their seventh straight victory Friday night.

The victory kept the fourth-place Pirates 4 1/2 games behind the National League-leading Los Angeles Dodgers, who defeated Philadelphia 9-8.

Bob Bailey led off the 11th with a single against Mike Cuellar. Al McBean bunted but forced Bailey at second. McBean then raced to second on Cuellar's wild pitch and remained there as Roberto Clemente was walked intentionally.

Chisox, Bosox Split Twin Bill By 3-2, 6-1

CHICAGO (AP) — Dennis Bennett posted his first complete-game victory of the season Friday, pitching the Boston Red Sox to a 6-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox in the second game of a two-night doubleheader.

The split dropped the second-place White Sox nine games behind American League-leading Minnesota.

Bill Skowron singled in the White Sox run in the eighth.

John Buzhardt took the loss. He was hammered for two runs in the third on singles by Carl Yastrzemski, Tony Conigliaro, Lee Thomas and Frank Malzone. A double by Malzone and a single by Bennett in the sixth gave Boston another run before Lee Thomas' two-run homer capped a three-run ninth-inning uprising.

Ken Berry delivered the winning blow for Chicago in the first game when he doubled Ron Hansen across with two out in the eighth to break a 2-2 tie.

Both Boston runs in the game were on homers, by Thomas and Conigliaro. Dick Radatz was the loser.

A's Announce Dark To Take New Position

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Owner Charles O. Finley announced Friday night that Alvin Dark, now a coach with the Chicago Cubs, would become his administrative assistant for the Kansas City Athletics baseball club.

Finley said he would have no further comment about the appointment until a news conference scheduled for 4 p.m., EST, Saturday.

The announcement was made at the baseball park during a game between the Athletics and the New York Yankees.

The announcement came after reports from several sources that Dark, released as manager of the San Francisco Giants at the end of the 1964 season, would become field manager of the Athletics.

Dark, with the Cubs in Milwaukee, had told reporters that such a report was false, but when asked if he would take a job in another capacity with the A's he replied that he had nothing to say and that "any announcement would have to come from the management of the Athletics."

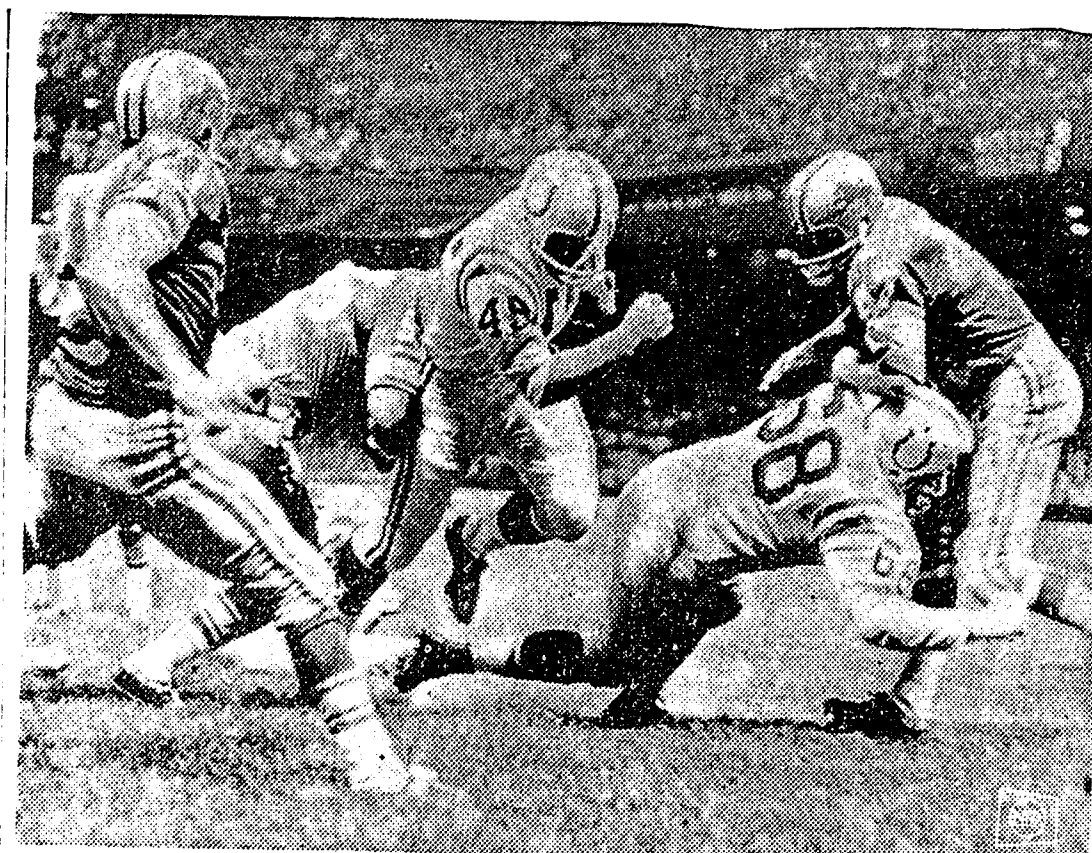

EXHALING ADDS DISTANCE
NEW YORK (AP)—Would you like to add 5 to 10 yards to your golf tee shots?

Well try exhaling just before you swing, advises Dr. Peter Cranford, Atlanta psychiatrist, in the July issue of Golf Digest.

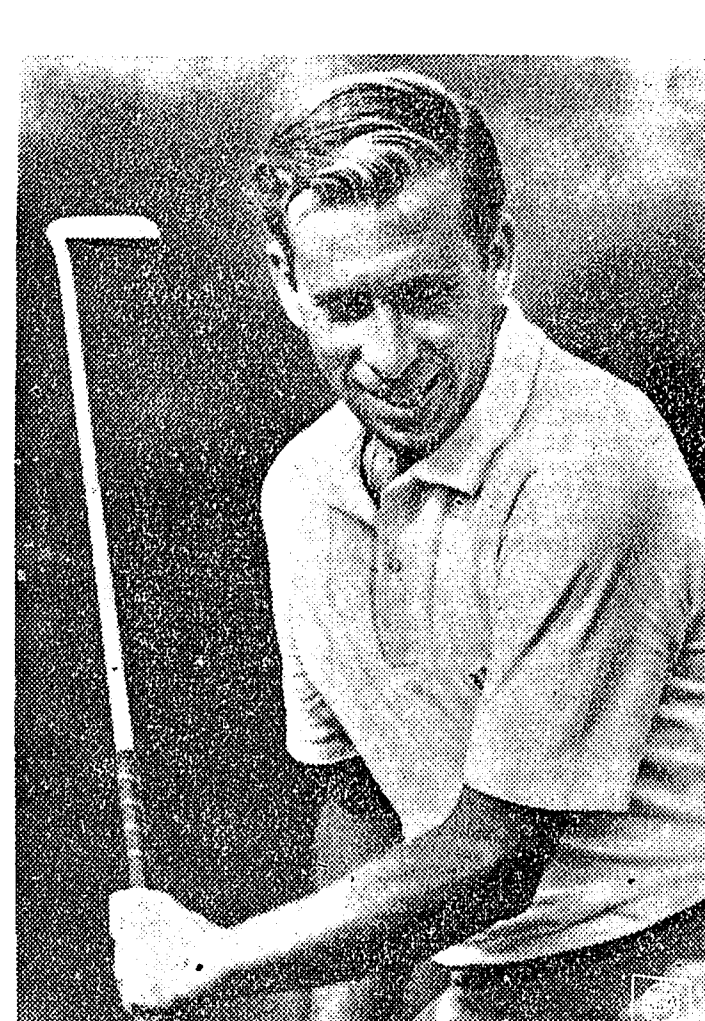

He explains that strenuous exhaling accompanies speed and strength in many common activities.

King's Single Gives Senators Edge Of Birds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jim King lashed a single off the right-field fence with two out in the 10th inning, giving Washington a 2-1 victory over Baltimore Friday night.

Ken Hamlin started the Senators' winning rally with a lead-off single and moved to second on Ken McMullen's sacrifice.

Willie Kirkland then was intentionally walked and Woodie Held took a third strike before King stroked his game-winning.

Mike McCormick, fifth Washington pitcher, got the victory while the loss went to Stu Miller.

The Senators scored off Steve Barber in the third inning on a two-out double by Hamlin and McMullen's bloop single to right.

$1.5 Million Loss Expected In Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Even if the pennant-contending Milwaukee Braves should win the World Series, they already have been mathematically eliminated from the race to get out of the red this year.

Braves Board Chairman William Bartholomay, who recently told stockholders he anticipated a $1.5-million loss in the team's lame-duck season here, said Thursday not even a World Series would make up the deficit.

"The club itself will profit as a host club," he said, but noted, "the income from the World Series is primarily directed to the players for the first four games."

The Braves have drawn only 419,304 at home so far in their final season here before a league-approved move to Atlanta in 1966 now under challenge in the courts. Attendance at the same stage last year stood at 790,992.

Bartholomay reaffirmed the World Series would be played in Milwaukee should the Braves take the National League flag.

Grant Hurls 2 Hitter For 7-0 Margin

MINNEAPOLIS — ST. PAUL (AP) — Jim (Mudcat) Grant pitched a two-hitter for his 17th victory and drove in four runs, leading the American League-leading Minnesota Twins to a 7-0 triumph over Cleveland Friday night.

Grant, who has lost four games, became the league's winningest pitcher with his fourth shutout of the season.

His two-run single to center field off Sam McDowell in the fourth inning broke a scoreless tie. He knocked in a pair in the eighth with another single and scored as Rich Rollins singled.

The only hits off Grant were singles by Jedro Gonzalez in the fourth and Fred Whitfield in the seventh.

Mays' 40th Ties Record In 9-2 Giants Victory

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Mays hit his 40th home run, setting one National League record and tying a second, while Willie McCovey connected twice as the San Francisco Giants whipped the New York Mets 9-2 Friday night.

A crowd of 56,167, largest single game attendance in Shea Stadium history, saw the Giants end their losing streak at four games and the Mets' winning string at three.

Mays' two-run homer, off Tom Parsons in the eighth inning, was the 493rd of his career, tying him with Lou Gehrig as the fifth-greatest home run hitter in the major leagues.

The blow also was Mays' 16th of 16 homers in September, 1949.

Mays also set National League records with his sixth 40-homer season.

Dodgers Still Hold Top Odds

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers remained pennant favorites Friday in the eyes of an important group of fans — Las Vegas bookies.

The Dodgers were posted at 9-5 to take the National League crown, while the Minnesota Twins were off the board — no bets — to win in the American League.

Close behind the Dodgers were Cincinnati and Milwaukee at 2-1, San Francisco at 5-2, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh at 6-1. Rounding out the National League are St. Louis at 15-X, and Chicago and Houston at 500-1.

In the American League, Chicago was the second at 5-1, followed by Baltimore at 8-1, and the Yankees, Detroit and Cleveland at 20-1. Boston, Washington and Kansas City were rated at 500-1.

Like Minnesota, the New York Mets were off the board — no bets. They already have been eliminated mathematically.

Map 40 Day Duck Season In Illinois

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A 40-day Illinois duck season from Oct. 30 through Dec. 8 was announced today by state conservation, director William T. Lodge, director of the Illinois Conservation Department.

The daily bag limit of four ducks may not include more of the following species than: 2 wood ducks, 2 canvasbacks, 1 mallard and 1 pintail.

Possession limits may not include more of the following than: 2 wood ducks, 2 canvasbacks, 2 mallards and 2 pintails.

The limits on American red-breasted and hooded Mergansers, in the aggregate of these species, are 1 daily and 10 in possession, of which not more than 1 daily and 2 in possession may be hooded Mergansers.

The daily bag limit on coots is 10 and the possession limit 20.

Lodge said the goose season will open statewide, with the exception of Alexander, Jackson, Union and Williamson counties, on Oct. 15 and close at sunset Dec. 8.

The goose season in Alexander, Jackson, Union and Williamson counties will open Nov. 8 and close at 3 p.m. Dec. 22. However, the goose season in the four counties may be closed before Dec. 22 if the harvest quota of geese, as established by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, is reached.

The daily bag and possession limits of 1 geese may not include, in the alternative, more of the following species than: 2 Canada geese or subspecies, 2 white-fronted geese, or 1 Canada goose or subspecies and 1 white-fronted goose.

Drysdale Leads Dodgers To Win Over Phils 9-8

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Right-hander Don Drysdale shattered a three-year jinx and won his 18th game Friday night as Los Angeles defeated Philadelphia 9-8, ending a three-game losing streak for the National League leaders.

The loss was the fourth straight for the frustrated Phillies, who blew a 4-1 first-inning lead.

For Drysdale, now 18-11, it was his first victory over Philadelphia since June 1, 1962. But he needed help at the end, Howie Reed taking over at the start of the eighth.

Drysdale gave up nine hits, including homers by Tony Gonzalez in the first and John Callison in the sixth.

Ninth Inning Single Gives K. C. 1-0 Edge

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Dick Green's run-producing single in the ninth inning broke up a pitchers' duel between Kansas City's John O'Donoghue and Whitey Ford, giving the A's a 1-0 victory over the New York Yankees Friday night.

Ford, taking his ninth loss against 13 victories, had allowed only two infield hits until the ninth when Wayne Causey led off with a single and Joe Tartabull followed by pushing a bunt past third baseman Clete Boyer.

Ken Harrelson moved the runners up with a sacrifice bunt and, after Jim Landis was intentionally walked, Green lashed a liner between short and third.

O'Donoghue, who checked the Yankees on four hits, brought his record to 7-17.

GAL GOLFERS BUSY

NEW YORK (AP)—The girls on the Ladies' PGA tour face a busy fall. Ten tournaments have been set between Sept. 9 and Nov. 25.

The richest of these will be the Scotch Mixed Foursome at Encinitas, Calif., Oct. 14-17. It will be worth $50,000. The Ladies' PGA championship will be played for $16,500 at Las Vegas, Sept. 23-26.

The Titleholders, at Augusta, Ga., will end the tour Sept. 25-28.

When Noble Victory won the Yonkers, N.Y., Futurity Trot, it marked the colt's 17th straight victory.

Short Pins Sox Hopes On Sept.

CHICAGO (AP) — Baseball's sides of September may bring ill fortune to the Minnesota Twins' bid for the American League Pennant, Ed Short, general manager of the second-place Chicago White Sox, hoped Wednesday.

As the Pale Hose, trailing by 6 1/2 games, moved into a night fray with the Baltimore Orioles, Short gleaned great comfort from the schedule makeup of his league's stretch run.

"We're in a different position from our September campaign last year when we wound up one game behind New York," said Short, who was quite a figure for Sox publicity director before becoming front office boss.

"By the end of August last year, we had finished play with the two strongest rivals—the Yankees and Orioles. The best way to make up ground is to beat the tough teams. We still have five left with Minnesota in September."

Reminded the lowly Washington Senators dealt the Sox a September death blow last season, Short easily shifted statistical gear.

"That's another thing," he countered. "In our remaining 38 games, we are finished with Washington at 13-5. Last year, we wound up 12-5 against Washington, but those last half dozen September games with the Senators really killed us."

"All I can say, is that you don't win the pennant on Sept. 1," said Short. "Everybody knows what happened to the Philadelphia Phils with a 6 1/2 game lead and two weeks left last year."

"Closer to home, last year at this time the Yankees were third, five games behind the Baltimore Orioles and we were second 1 1/2 behind. So the Yankees won by one over us and by two over Baltimore."

Most Pro Clubs Set For Season

Pro Football Roundup
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Spectators at pro football exhibitions this weekend can get a pretty good idea what the lineups will be when the regular season starts. But the ideas won't necessarily include quarterbacks.

Clubs in both the National and American leagues already have played at least three exhibitions each. Experiments with new talent have been carried out and the first squad cuts have been made. From now on coaches will be trying to shape the survivors into teams that can win in serious competition.

There's a catch in it for the fans, however. Only two games will be played before hometown crowds. The Dallas Cowboys are at home to the rugged Green Bay Packers Saturday night and the Detroit Lions host the NFL champion Cleveland Browns Sunday afternoon.

The rest of the NFL program sends the Chicago Bears against the Los Angeles Rams at Nashville, Tenn., and the New York Giants against the Philadelphia Eagles at Princeton, N.J., Saturday afternoon. The Baltimore Colts play the Pittsburgh Steelers at Atlanta, Ga., and the Minnesota Vikings play the Washington Redskins at Charlotte, N.C., in Saturday night games.

The Chicago-Los Angeles and Cleveland-Detroit games will be televised nationally by CBS.

The NFL weekend program opened Friday night when the San Francisco 49ers' played the Cardinals at St. Louis.

All eight American League clubs are scheduled for Saturday night action. Its champion Buffalo Bills vs. the Kansas City Chiefs at Wichita, Kan., the San Diego Chargers vs. the Oakland Raiders at Portland, Ore., the New York Jets and Boston Patriots in their second meeting at Norfolk, Va., and the Denver Broncos vs. the Houston Oilers at San Antonio, Tex.

Quarterback problems continue to trouble several teams, including both New York clubs, Pittsburgh, Detroit, and even Cleveland.

Sophomore Henry Schlichtle, who spent most of last season mauling the telephone on the bench, gets a shot at the Giant quarterbacking chores Saturday with rookie Bob Timberlake as his back-up man. The Eagles, who have a pair of pretty good ones, in Norm Snead and King Hill, likely will give Jack Conannon a shot at signal calling. Injuries prevented his getting an earlier test.

For the Jets, Joe Namath gets the starting call, probably with John Huarte in reserve. Sophomore Mike Taliaferro still is troubled by injured ribs.

CARNIVAL

By Dick Turner

Bertha Adkins, Rural Ashland Resident, Dies

ASHLAND — Mrs. Bertha A. Adkins of Ashland route one, died at 10:15 a.m. Friday at Memorial hospital in Springfield.

She was born in Detroit, Ill., April 28, 1887; daughter of David and Flora Williams Allen. She was married to Walter Adkins at Pittsfield. He died several years ago.

Survivors include the following children: Mrs. Mary Grimes of Rosamond, Mrs. Ruth Walraven of Seabrook, Texas, Walter Adkins of Ashland and John D. Adkins of Los Angeles; 16 grandchildren and a brother, Stanley Allen of Portland, Oregon.

Mrs. Adkins was a member of the Ashland Methodist church, the church's Martha class and the Ashland Woman's club.

The body was taken to the Gainer Funeral Home.

Friends may call at the Adkins residence this afternoon and evening until 11 a.m. Sunday.

The body will lie in state at the Ashland Methodist church from 11 a.m. Sunday until time of services at 2 p.m. Reverend Kenneth Goodell will officiate and burial will be in Ashland cemetery.

Knudsen Rites Held In Scott

BLUFFS — Funeral services for Mrs. Kenneth Knudsen were held at 2 p.m. Friday at St. John's Lutheran church, Bluffs, with Rev. Kenneth Lein officiating. Mrs. John Schofield and Melvin Dalhaus sang "Abide With Me" and "In The Garden," accompanied by Mrs. Dalhaus.

Flowers were arranged by Mrs. John Allen, Mrs. Wendell Freeman, Mrs. Floyd Hart, Mrs. Merle Traw, Mrs. Clyde Baulos and Mrs. C. O. Mueller.

Pallbearers were C. O. Mueller, Clyde Baulos, Jack Moore, Harold Bridgman, John Allen and Merle Korty.

Interment was in Hillcrest cemetery, near Oxxville.

Ledford Rites In City Friday

Funeral services for Byron Ledford were held at 11 a.m. Friday at Gillham - Buchanan Funeral Home with Reverend David Ericson officiating. Mrs. Donald Wood, organist, played several selections including an interlude, "Beyond The Sunset."

Caring for the flowers were Edith Woolvorton, Dorothy Headen, Ruth Hembrugh and Karen Krehel.

Serving as pallbearers were Robert Hawks, Carl Bourn, Julian Sheppard, Paul Gilbert, Staley Keller and Kenneth Hembrugh.

Hospital Notes

Mrs. L. B. Smith of Modesto, Ill., is a medical patient at Passavant hospital.

TWO CAR MISHAP

Two vehicles were damaged at the intersection of Webster and West State streets about two o'clock Friday afternoon. City police reported that a northbound car, driven by Gary L. Cory of Carlinville, collided with a second north bound vehicle operated by Alan W. Applebee of 1 Westwood Place. No tickets were issued.
